Hundreds of students swarmed the portion of Main Street between Lin's and the city offices where dozens of SUU clubs erected booths in an attempt to lure students. Paint the Town Red is sponsored by Southern Utah University Association.

New city attorney is appointed during city council meeting

BY COREY BAUMGARTNER

CEDAR CITY - A new city attorney was appointed during the Aug. 24 Cedar City Council meeting. Tyler Romeril will take the place of Paul Bittmenn, who now serves as city manager.

Romeril has been working for the Iron County Attorney's office for six years prosecuting felony crimes and was unanimously approved by the city council.

After being introduced by Mayor Maile Wilson, Romeril introduced his wife, Casey and their children, Kohen, Lyza, and Jay. They have lived in Cedar City for eight years.

"We're thankful for the opportunity to have my career progress from serving the public in the criminal arena to serving the public here," he said.

Romeril knows it will take time to adjust to the new position, but he is excited for new challenges and opportunities to serve the community. Romeril begins his official duties on Sept. 6.

"I've heard great things, Tyler. Welcome aboard," added Council Member Paul Cozzens.

Also during the meeting, Utah University Southern Athletics Department Director Jason Butikofer took a few moments to give a positive perspective on the upcoming year and the athletic department's engagement with the community and its citizens.

"The relationship between the university and city is strong," he said. "Our athletic department is very focused on strengthening that bond and creating community ties.

opportunities "The that we've seen to engage our student athletes in the community will provide value as they look to move on and becomes community leaders," he added.

Butikofer then introduced two key people who will help teach those leadership lessons. Debbie Corum, Senior Associate Athletic Director and lead to community relation efforts, and Todd Simon, head coach for the men's basket-

"Ultimately, there are valuable lessons to be learned as a Division I student athlete. We are very focused on their leadership development and balancing academic excellence and time management," Butikofer said.

TYLER ROMERIL WAS APPOINTED as the new Cedar City Attorney at last week's city council meeting.

September is National Suicide Prevention Month

BY CRAIG BENNETT

IRON COUNTY -

September is National Suicide Prevention Month with World Suicide Prevention day on Sept. 10.

According to www. afsp.org, suicide is the 10th leading cause of death in America today. Each year 42,773 people in America commit suicide. For every suicide that results in death, another 25 people attempt it. Suicide costs the U.S $44 billion annually.

According to www. afsp.org, the annual age-adjusted suicide rate is 12.93 per 100,000 individuals. Men die by suicide 3.5 times more often than women. On average, there are 117 suicides per day. White males accounted for 7 of 10 suicides in 2014. Firearms account for almost 50 percent of all suicides. The rate of suicide is highest in middle age, with white men in particular.

The month of September helps promote resources and awareness around the issues of suicide prevention, how you can help others and how to talk about suicide without increasing the risk of harm.

Warning signs include threats or comments about killing oneself, also known as suicidal ideation, which can begin with seemingly harmless thoughts like, "I wish I wasn't here," but can become more overt and Additional dangerous. warning signs include increased alcohol and use, aggressive behavior, social withdrawal from friends, family and the community, dramatic mood swings, talking, writing or thinking about death and impulsive or reckless behavior.

Putting affairs in order and giving away possessions should signal warning, including saying goodbye to family and friends. Moods tend to shift from despair to calm. # TO THE EDITOR

Thanks for the sports magazines

m writing today to say thank you. In the past, I felt your paper was unfair when it came to high school sports. It seemed like you were favoring Cedar and forgetting that there was another high school in the city, Canyon View, that did good things as well.

But, this past year you did something different that was very impressive to me. You made booklets (winter sports, spring sports, fall sports). It was so very nice. I loved them. In the booklets you had each high school in there fairly. You had pictures of each of the high schools and the different sports. It was just so very nice and I could tell that you were trying.

It made me feel a lot better about your paper. Thank you for trying, thank you for the booklets. They were very nice, and I just wanted you to know how much community loved reading them. I hope they continue.

Local emergency preparedness store opens in time for National Preparedness Month

BY JEFF LOWE

Managing Editor

CEDAR CITY – September is National Preparedness Month and a brand new store in Cedar City is ready to help community members with their outdoor and emergency preparedness needs.

Prep Outdoor and Emergency, located at 900 S. Main St., is open for business with items and supplies catered to camping enthusiasts and those who want to be ready for life's emergencies. Owners Lance and Brenda Pehrson opened the store with the idea of getting their own family prepared and a true desire to help the community.

"We kept having to go up north for this stuff," Brenda said. "We just decided to open up a store to help provide our community with things to get prepared for themselves. Whether it's graband-go kits to put in their cars, or they're hiking and camping in the outdoors, they have something to take with them in an emergency."

"That's my passion, to help our community have something here in town," she added.

The store provides 72-hour kits, grab-and-go bags and buckets, emergency generators, and much, much more.

"If an emergency happened, you don't really have time to grab all your food storage," Brenda said. "What's nice is the option to get these 72-hour kits or a onemonth box and have it readily available to grab and go, and you have a month of food. It's super convenient."

Brenda shared the story of a family who visited the store after driving through a recent fire in California. With so many others stuck for hours on the road in dangerous conditions, the family wanted something to put in their car for future emergencies.

"They were looking for something to have in their vehicle," Brenda said. "They had just come from California, just got out of the fire zone before they had shut down the freeways. As you can imagine, those people were just stuck there in their cars for who knows how long."

"For (them) it was a wakeup call," she added.

In addition to its emergency preparedness supplies, the store offers camping and hiking equipment, including tents, backpacks, and other outdoor gear and supplies.

"I have hunters come in here buying the food to take on their hunting trips, and backpackers are definitely into this because it's lightweight and they don't have to take a bunch of stuff to cook," Brenda said. "It's open to a whole field of people."

For National Preparedness Outdoor and Month, Prep

Emergency has planned several events, including a live radio show on Sept. 9 from 1 to 4 p.m., hosted by Bryan Hyde, with prizes and giveaways. Anyone who spends $15 or more in the store will be entered into the contest. Following the radio show, Dan Kidder, managing editor of "Sportsman's News" and chief instructor at On Target Defensive Training, will conduct a free seminar from 6 to 7 p.m. called "Building your Bug Out Bag."

The following day, on Sept. 10 starting at 9 a.m., the store will host an outdoor/emergency swap meet where community members can sell or swap their outdoor and emergency goods. During the event, Solar-Cookers will host a free sun oven demonstration.

"I don't want to be doom and gloom, but when people open up their eyes to what's going on in the world ... it's nice to have safety of mind that you have food storage on hand and you're prepared for whatever," Brenda said.

"It wasn't until I became a mom that it really hit me," she added. "OK, now it's not just me, I have the responsibility of two kids now and they're looking to me. If something ever happened I don't want to look back and ... be full of the regret of knowing that preparing for whatever is a smart decision. It doesn't matter what it is, having things on hand is just smart, period."

For more information about National Preparedness Month or Prep Outdoor and Emergency, visit the store at 900 S. Main St. in Cedar City.

Intermountain Cedar City Hospital 5k run, Cedar City Half Marathon set

CEDAR CITY LEISURE SERVICES & EVENTS DEPARTMENT and Intermountain Cedar City Hospital will host Half Marathon and 5k races Sept. 10.

Cedar City

BY CEDAR CITY EVENTS

Special to Iron County Today

CEDAR CITY - For what is becoming one of the top "Run the Canyon" events, Cedar Canyon will be completely closed the morning of Sept. 10, when the Cedar City Leisure Services & Events Department and Intermountain Cedar City Hospital team up to host the Half Marathon and 5k races.

According to race chair Bryan Dangerfield, Cedar City is pleased to announce Cedar City Hospital as the title sponsor of the 5k run.

"Intermountain Healthcare's mission is: Helping people live the healthiest lives possible. We are grateful to be a community partner and support of great events that get us moving and active and involved," said Eric Packer, administrator Cedar City Hospital. "A big thanks to our good that sponsors these kinds of events that bring an exceptional quality of life to our area."

With more than 900 total participants in the 5k and Half Marathon races, this year's race is closed to new participants.

It was sold out on Aug. 12. This year participants will receive a long-sleeve running shirt and a spectacular medal and blue lanyard for the finishers.

"We are appreciative of Cedar City Hospital's support of running events in our community and its impact on the health of our citizens, young and old," said Dangerfield. "In addition to the new name for the hospital as a sponsor of the 5k, runners should be aware of the new finish line and bib pickup areas."

The first six years, the Half Marathon finished at Main Street Park, but this year the finish line is at the Bicentennial Soccer complex (approximately 400 West 685 North). Participants and spectators will need to park in the Bicentennial Softball field/Exit 59 Skatepark parking lot (665 West 1045 North) and walk south to the finish line and bus loading area. Since Coal Creek Road is closed for construction, vehicular traffic on Main Street should take 1045 North and traffic from the West can use Kitty Hawk

On the morning of Sept. 10, buses will begin loading at 5:45 a.m. and will leave promptly to take the runners to the starting line at Woods Ranch up Cedar Canyon for the Half Marathon and near the mouth of Cedar Canyon for the 5K. The canyon will be closed to all non-race traffic, so all runners must take the bus to the starting line.

Warming fires and music will be at the Woods Ranch facility at 8,269 feet altitude (finish line is 5,814 feet). Clothing bins will be placed at the starting lines and returned to the finish line once the race is completely finished around 11 a.m. Runners will have water and > Powerade stations at approximately mile intervals.

Near the mouth Cedar Canyon, by Aid Station 5, runners will leave Highway 14 and run across the pedestrian bridge to the Coal Creek Trail and will stay on the trail. The Coal Creek Trail system follows the river under Center and Main Streets and near the 13-mile mark, runners will transition to a surface street at the Bicentennial Soccer Complex (685 North that curves northward).

Participants are encouraged to pick up their bib numbers and running shirts on Sept. 9 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Cedar City Aquatics Center, 2090 W. Royal Hunte Drive in Cedar City. Bib numbers can be picked up by participants or by friends with proof of ID and note of permission. Bibs are available race day for 30 minutes before the buses

For information on how to sign up to become a volunteer for the Cedar City Half Marathon and Intermountain Cedar City Hospital 5k, please visit www. cedarcityutevents.org. Follow "Cedar City Half Marathon" on Facebook and Twitter #RunTheCanyon for updates, results, comments and photos.

Youth Volunteer Corps takes charge to clean Memorial Grove

BY JEFF LOWE

Managing Editor

CEDAR CITY – More than 30 members and friends of the Iron County Youth Volunteer Corps gathered at Cedar City's Memorial Grove, a park where local residents can honor deceased loved ones by purchasing and planting trees along Coal Creek Road, on Aug. 24 for one final summer service project.

YVC has volunteered to care for Memorial Grove all summer. and with a recent increase in rainfall, YVC members, led by program coordinator Cindy Rose, came together to pull weeds and make a difference in their community.

"This is something that means a lot to anybody that's a part of it," Rose said of Memorial Grove. "This summer I thought it would be kind of cool to take it on as our project. (We've been here) off and on all summer, but we haven't had a crowd like this."

In addition to caring for Memorial Grove, YVC has been busy recruiting new members to participate in food scavenger hunts to benefit local food pantries, a monthly Happy Factory service project, yard maintenance for disabled community members and much, much more.

Rose and YVC members even reached out to several church groups in the area to help with the volunteer Memorial Grove service project, including a youth group from Christ the King Catholic Church and several LDS youth

YVC is up to about 300,000 volunteers (internationally)," Rose said. "We need more YVC kids. It's open to everybody, it's free ... you pick and choose what you want to Rose said she had four high school seniors serving last year and four of them received full tuition scholarships that they accredit to their YVC service.

"It's really rewarding for me to see some of these kids come in at 11 years old and they don't even want to say their name, they're so shy. And now they're out asking for donations and sponsorships. There's so much self confidence. It's fun to watch them grow."

Aside from the group's continual service in the community,

MEMBERS OF THE IRON COUNTY YOUTH VOLUNTEER CORPS work to remove weeds from Memorial Grove in Cedar City last week.

YVC has an international youth advisory board, and one of the Iron County YVC members was recently selected to serve on its advisory board, one of only 24 board members in the world. Sammie Buschman, a student at Canyon View High School, said she is excited to pass along information and lessons she has learned from her service in Iron County to the rest of the world volunteers.

"I'm pretty excited ... (I like) how motivated they are," Buschman said of her fellow Iron County YVC members. "Even pulling weeds, a lot of people still showed up."

On Sept. 17, YVC is putting on a community barbecue to raise money to attend the YVC Summit in Philadelphia. The event will go from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the C-A-L Ranch Farmers' Market.

'We always need kids to come," Rose said. "If the community has volunteer projects for us, we're always looking for projects."

YVC meets the first Thursday of every month at the Community Action Partnership Building, 88 E. Fiddlers Canyon #H, at 3:30 p.m.

But is there such a thing as small talk in an age of technology? My wife has firmly declared Sunday a phone-free day, refusing to even communicate with her son and daughter via phone (If there is a real emergency, they can call me). For an entire day she is excluded from the venom spewed during the presidential election; for 24 hours she is not tantalized with reports of Kanye West selling $400 military-inspired jackets or the recipe for Melania Trump's sugar cookies.

When she tells people about her phone-free Sundays, they look at her in awe as if she has just jogged across the Mohave Desert ("Really? Good for you, but I'm not sure I could go all day without...").

I live my life in nontech terms. Just because you can say something, doesn't mean you should ... I don't really want to see a photo of what a friend or colleague ate for dinner ... If you want to have a conversation, visit or call me. Don't text.

You'll easily recognize me. I'm the guy leisurely sitting on the front porch, sipping on a beverage and reading a book. Yes Donald, you're right. Boring!

With competition taking place on public roads, through national forests and urban centers, we appreciate the support of the National Park Service, U.S. Forest Service and the Utah Department of Transportation, as well as public safety officials and staff from numerous counties and municipalities.

Thank you. Those two words convey our sentiment to the residents and businesses who embraced the event as it rolled past your driveways, farms, and

CEDAR CITY – From the lands of Canaan to the pyramids of Egypt, the Cedar City Children's Musical Theatre's latest performance of the hit musical "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" was a colorful and inspirational success.

With four nights of performances and one matinee Aug. 25-29, a creative cast of 150 kids, marvelous music, spectacular special effects and set design, the play was inspiring for all who attended.

And while it's been said that "any dream will do," for director Jewly Krause, not just any musical will do.

"I love the story of a young man who is punished by those around him for having special gifts and doing what he knows is right," said Krause. "But he stays true to himself and his beliefs and is able to achieve great things."

"This show is a powerful reminder to all of us to pursue our dreams and goals and never let any darkness get you down," she added.

Krause also knows that behind the curtain of every great production are the people with important roles to play, on and off the stage.

many, many hours of service provided by these dedicated and talented men and women," she said gratefully. "Without them we would not be able to accomplish all that we do each year. They are a light, a beacon and the backbone of CCCMT." Following the success of CCCMT's 2013 production of "Beauty and the Beast," the 'Kill the Beast' donation program was created to raise money to help members of the CCCMT family who are battling cancer.

This year's recipient is Janna Davidson, one of CCCMT's parent volunteers, who has been diagnosed with Stage 4 Appendiceal Adenocarcinoma. After 22 rounds of chemo, she is still a light to those around her and an example of strength and courage to her four children and husband, James. To help Janna and her family kill the beast, go to www.gofundme. com/8q6y44vg.

And as the CCCMT completes another successful summer, there's still plenty of wild fun coming up with the mini-musical performances of "The Jungle Book" and the spooky Halloween musical comedy in October. For audition information visit www.cccmt.org.

PAROWAN-Parowan High School was transformed into Pride Rock as proud parents, family members and teachers watched 37 talented 8- to 15-year-old actors perform the Disney classic, "The Lion King," presented by TYME Children's Theater.

With creative costumes made from milk cartons and papier-mâché, and beautiful set designs, the talented young actors, who even learned Swahili, sang and danced their way through the Parowan pride lands.

Director Jenifer Terry, who recently directed "Shrek," took on the lion's share of this production during the summer, but said it was worth it.

"I have loved dedicating my summer to this production," she expressed. "It is an awesome feeling when an idea comes to fruition."

And thanks to the dedication of the volunteers, dedicated kids and producer Shelley Porter, the production was hilarious, heart-felt and a Hukuna Matata hit.

"It's always been one of my passions and we've got spectacular talents here in this little town," said Terry. "It's so much fun both for kids who have a lot of experience and those that have never been on stage before."

Southern Utah University and the Iron County School District worked together during the 2015-16 school year to create artwork that celebrates the National Park Service Centennial. With the centennial on Aug. 25, the art is now proudly on display on 35 banners down Main Street for the public to Each banner displays the names of the student artist, teacher and school in which the art was created. The banners will hang during the 25th National Parks Service centennial celebration and feature the Find Your Park logo, designed to encourage everyone to explore the National Parks and spend time outdoors.

Last school year, fourth grade teachers from Iron School District participated SUU's in artsFUSION National Parks Project. The teachers came together three times to learn about how the National Parks connect to fourth grade curriculum in art, science, and history.

After the trainings, the teachers shared what they learned with their own students, including creating art projects about the plants, animals and geology of Zion, Bryce, and Cedar Breaks.

attending the After workshops, one teacher said, "This artsFUSION class will enhance our learning about Utah environments and animals. It will provide an opportunity for the integration of science, social studies and art, which makes learning more fun and memorable."

Another participating teacher said, "I immediately did the chalk and oil pastel art work in my class. I was amazed at how well my class did with this project."

The program was organized by Delaney Patterson, an Arts Administration MFA student. The following SUU professors presented the information in the artsFUSION teacher workshops: Paula Mitchell, Jackie Grant, Johnny MacLean, Matt Ogburn, and Alisa

Friends of SUU Sherratt Library to present gala event

BY MARIA SMITH

nce a year The Friends of SUU's Sherratt Library and the library staff join together to present a gala event to celebrate and honor contributors to our great lifestyle here in Iron County.

Some honorees of the past include Union Pacific and Utah Parks, Cedar City businesses that had been in existence for 50 years, the William R. Palmer Family, Shakespeare's Portfolio Fourth and other Shakespearean treasures from the library's special collections, and community to see.

Anyone wishing to have work considered for display should make application via the website http://www.li.suu.edu/ page/gala. The gala event that will kick off the exhibit will be on Oct. 15 in the library. SUU's food service will prepare and serve hors d'oeuvres and desserts and all members of the community are invited to attend. The honorees, or exhibitors, will be in attendance as well as members of the library staff who will love to educate the Iron County population on services the library has Iron County's volunteer organizations.

This year's gala will honor the creators of visual arts in Iron County, those artists whose work makes our surroundings so beautiful. The show will display the visual art of many different types of artists - painters in all media, sculptors, graphic artists, printers, and quilters, to name a few.

The works will be on display in the Sherratt Library on the SUU campus from mid October to Nov. 30, 2016, with the intent of showcasing outstanding art for the whole

For instance, the entire output of the old "Iron County Record" newspaper has been digitalized and is available to anyone for historical research. The library has graphics and printing services and, of course, books to loan.

The gala will be a wonderful chance to meet and express appreciation to the many creative artists among us. Please come and bring a family member, neighbor, or friend. You will both be enlightened and perhaps inspired to try your own hands at creating something beautiful.

Kevin Kehoe Brings 'Western Therapy' to SUMA

BY LOLA TAYLOR

Special to Iron County Today

CEDAR CITY – Kevin Kehoe's "Western Therapy" is on exhibit at the Southern Utah Museum of Art until Oct. 1. "Western Therapy" was born from Kehoe's desire to follow his heart and pursue his dream of becoming a painter. He finds inspiration in the tranquil beauty of the Western landscapes that surround his home.

Kevin Kehoe calls himself a New American Painter, with an emphasis on "new." He is a native New Englander, but now resides in Heber Valley, Utah. Kehoe began his studies of light and composition at the Art Institute of Boston (1980-1983), where he was inspired by the work of masters such as Edward Hopper, Vincent Van Gogh and Jim Jones. In December 2013, he left his successful career as an advertising creative director to pursue his life-long dream of becoming a painter.

Kehoe feels the West is "that spiritual, reverent place that feeds the soul and inspires the heart like no other." The wide open spaces, blue skies, and high-altitude air of the West creates a majestic place that allows the viewer to open his or her heart and mind to endless possibilities of free thought and a feeling that dreams can become reality.

Kehoe paints from his studio in The Old Firehouse Building in Heber Valley, Utah, where the Wasatch and Uinta mountain ranges serve as his spectacular backdrop. Kehoe said, "Light, to me, is the most beautiful element in the universe because of its power to artfully transform anything it touches, anything it wraps itself around. Light and composition are paramount as I contemplate what to paint and why. Successful composition is probably more important than the brushwork itself."

Kehoe is motivated by "a quest to capture what is true and real, what is sincere and reverent, to capture reality through rose-colored glasses." He strives to capture a moment in time or experience how he recalls it in both his mind and heart.

Robert Redford once said, "Some people have therapy. I have Utah." Kehoe's aim for his art is "to be a visual exhale, to capture what is uncomplicated, in a complicated world." Kehoe uses the magic of the West that stirs his soul to create beautiful relationships between light and landscape, person and place. He hopes "Western Therapy" will ignite the viewer's sense of wonder, while providing him or her refuge from life's worries.

If you are interested in purchasing Kevin Kehoe's work, please contact the Modern West Fine Art gallery at www.modernwestfineart.com.

Utah Shakespeare Festival announces new play program, Words3

BY UTAH SHAKESPEARE FESTIVAL

Special to Iron County Today

CEDAR CITY – The Utah Shakespeare Festival has announced a new name, an increased commitment, and an enhanced mission, for its new plays program. Formerly known as the New American Playwrights Project, the festival's primary vehicle for exploring new works will now be a new program, Words3.

The new name comes from a line in "Hamlet;" "Words, words, words," and focuses the new program firmly on the text and the work of playwrights.

"The program aims to not only replace, but improve upon the foundation of NAPP by providing a platform to move plays from the developmental/reading stage to fully funded productions," said David Ivers, Festival Artistic Director. "As part of our efforts to expand and diversify our audience, we must also expand and diversify the voices who make our work. Ushering in new plays, new playwrights and new context for engagement is paramount to the success of our new studio theatre. Expect to see commissioned playwrights, workshops, and reading series throughout the coming

According to the festival, the mission of Words3 is to nurture and develop "openly-submitted and commissioned-based new plays by providing a professionally supported platform for readings, workshops, and fully realized productions as part of an ongoing commitment to create a diverse body of work."

Charles Metten, director of NAPP, had this to say: "I am thrilled that the festival is continuing to grow its commitment to new works. We have worked many years to nurture playwrights, and I am excited to continue to mentor, advocate for, and develop these new works."

The new name also reflects a commitment to staging new works as part of the festival's mainstage repertory season. For instance, "How to Fight Loneliness," by Neil LaBute, is receiving a staged reading in 2016 and will have a fully-realized production as part of the festival's regular 2017 season.

"The Utah Shakespeare Festival has committed its resources and vision to support new work," Ivers said. "The ideas of these works should inspire audiences to engage about the importance of fostering the 'Shakespeares of tomorrow."

Artistic Director Brian Vaughn added, "Just as Shakespeare was writing for contemporary audiences, our vision is to unfold stories that relate to our current collective humanity. Words3 will help usher in new voices with a platform of development and performance that will fulfill our mission of presenting classical and contemporary theatre."

The new name, as well as a new logo, was unveiled to those attending the NAPP reading of Debora Threedy's script "One Big Union."

Submission dates and guidelines will be similar to NAPP. Scripts for consideration for 2018 can be submitted via email starting Jan. 5. The deadline for unrepresented playwrights is Feb. 15, and the deadline for playwrights with representation is April 5. Submissions can be sent to words3@bard.org. Submission criteria and details can be found at www.bard.org/napp, and that page will eventually transition to www.bard.org/words3.

FRONTIER HOMESTEAD STATE PARK MUSEUM CURATOR RYAN PAUL gives a presentation and tour of the history of tourism in Cedar City.

BY COREY BAUMGARTNER

CEDAR CITY – Supporting 100 years of the National Park Service, Southern Utah University students and faculty celebrated with their own Day in the Parks last week.

Thousands of students traded learning indoors for exploring the great outdoors as they trekked and toured nearby Cedar Breaks, Bryce Canyon, Zion National Park, the Grand Canyon and even the historic streets and structures of Cedar City.

Already the "Most Outdoorsy School in the Nation," SUU is also becoming the "University of the Parks." With the school year just beginning it was "a great opportunity for students to build camaraderie amongst themselves and the faculty, but also become more familiar with the beauty and history of their surroundings," shared Tommy Gugino, campus marketing specialist for SUU.

During the morning events, a special presentation and tour of the history of tourism in Cedar was given at the Frontier Homestead State Park Museum by curator Ryan Paul. He took a group of students and faculty on a walking tour that included the historic train station depot, now a restaurant and antique boutique.

Tourism has long been popular in

The famous El Escalante Hotel, where Sizzler now stands, housed many visitors, including U.S. presidents and movie stars. The Cedar Post Pawn Shop was the local headquarters for the UPC and contained everything that kept the parks running from food, to clean linens and, of course, plenty of souvenirs.

"Think about the importance of each of these structures that drove the economy," said Paul. "Tourism is a powerful economic driver not just to bring people here, but to keep them here and bring in businesses that see the opportunities in such a thriving community." He added that, "This union was critical to the economy of Cedar City but now it's mostly forgotten."

While the train tracks have been removed, and some historic structures are gone forever, Paul says it is critical to preserve Cedar's history by continuing to tell the stories of the past while creating new ones for future generations to enjoy.

ou are beautiful. Yes, I am talking to you. I may not know you, or ever meet you, but let your heart feel the truth of these words. I don't know who I'm writing this for, but someone out there needs to be reminded that they are beautiful. Whether you're hearing these words for the first time, or just need a reminder, you are beautiful!

It's just that spotlight, world seems focused more but it's the on the outside and has spotlight given a new dimension that isn't and skewed definition of real beauty worthy of and where it comes from. you

Feeling beautiful is a good feeling, but at what price? And when we feel ugly inside, we're more likely to stop taking care of ourselves outside, which will also affect our insides. If you want to know if someone feels beautiful, look at how they treat themselves and the environments they surround themselves with. Does it improve and prove their beauty, or taint and tarnish it?

Your mind and your heart are affected by your environment, your friends, and what you allow your mind and body to see, listen to and eat. To be beautiful is more than makeup; it's what you make of yourself. Beauty is in your every-day choices. If you need to get in shape, go do it. Eat healthier, go do it. Overcome an addiction, go do it. You don't have to do it alone, but start now by doing anything you can, even just believing that you are beautiful, right now, where you are and who you are.

Maybe you've been broken on the inside so you hide beneath the world's approved facades? Whether the world sees it or not – whether you see it or not – you are beautiful.

Brookdale, Friends of Festival Country K-9s raise money to support local pet shelters

BY JEFF LOWE

Managing Editor

CEDAR CITY – Brookdale in Cedar City hosted an animal fashion show Aug. 27 to raise money for local animal shelters, showcase local adoptable pets and to entertain Brookdale residents and their friends.

Dogs dressed in Elizabethan attire, Guinea pigs disguised as Pokémon, and even a chicken with a bowtie strutted their stuff before three judges – two Brookdale residents, Enid Fotheringham and Joanie Harrison, and Enoch Mayor Geoffrey Chesnut.

Chesnut, who was invited to judge the event by Friends of Festival Country K-9s, a non-profit organization dedicated to building a dog park and helping local animal shelters, said he was pleased to see so much support for the event.

"I think these are important events," he said. "These are community members, many of them have been around for a long time and have helped make Cedar and Enoch what they are today. Being able to come and have a nice morning activity with them and have some entertainment, I think, is important. These are amongst the people we should never forget about."

Enoch City has been supportive of Friends of Festival Country K-9s' efforts to build a dog park, and there are plans in the works to build a park next to a new animal shelter facility in Enoch, Chesnut said. The Enoch City Council unanimously approved the dog park, which will serve all of Iron County, last June.

Elizabeth Woodward, a member of Friends of Festival Country K-9, said the organization works tirelessly to support local shelters.

"We do everything from helping with transport to Best Friends (Sanctuary) so that the dogs (or cats) can get spayed or neutered – we provide blankets, food, bowls, beds – we do anything and everything we can to help the (pets) find permanent homes."

Diane Gil, president of Friends of Festival Country K-9, said the organization has applied for a grant that would help with the planned dog park construction, but in the meantime plans are in the works to continue to raise needed funds.

"We've been out pretty much every weekend at various events fundraising to try to bring awareness, get people involved and let them know this is happening in the community, because so many people have asked for it," she said.

DURING THE MONTH OF SEPTEMBER St. Jude's Episcopal Church in Cedar City will open the 11-circuit pavement labyrinth, which provides a path for meditation and prayer, to the public.

St. Jude's Episcopal Church in Cedar City opens 11-circuit pavement labyrinth to public

BY ST. JUDE'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Special to Iron County Today

CEDAR CITY – St. Jude's Episcopal Church in Cedar City is once again opening the 11-circuit pavement labyrinth, which provides a path for meditation and prayer, to the public.

During the month of September, the path will be open Mondays and Fridays from noon to 4 p.m., and on Wednesdays from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. St Jude's is located on the corner of 200 West and Harding Avenue (70 North).

The labyrinth at St Jude's was laid in 2001, shortly after the building was purchased for the Episcopal congregation from the congregation of Christ the King Catholic Church. The 11-circuit path is modeled after the one laid in the cathedral in Chartres, France in the middle of the 13th Century. The original Chartres path is laid in pale stone with dark dividing tiles while the St Jude's reproduction is laid in colored tiles (reminiscent of sky, water, fire, and earth) with white dividing tiles.

The Chartres labyrinth was one of 22 labyrinths laid at the direction of a series of popes in conjunction with the building of 88 cathedrals across Western Europe in the 11th through the 13th Centuries.

Walking prayer and meditation have been helpful to humans for millennia. One can read in the written records of Jewish, Christian, Islamic, and eastern religions of the revelations to and teachings by their great leaders as they walked through the country-side, or as they rested after traveling on foot for many hours.

One does not, however, need to walk long distances to benefit from the discipline of focusing one's attention on the sacred while focusing one's bodily energy on walking, or fingering one's prayer beads, or tracing a small labyrinth's path with one's forefinger.

Labyrinths have a long history (more than 2,000 years), on nearly every continent, as paths for meditation and prayer. In coastal areas of northern Europe, seven-circuit paths are often found near the shore and are thought to have been associated with petitions for safety while fishing (or raiding from) the stormy seas, for abundant catches, and for safe return of the men of the communities.

Similar paths are found far from the coasts on many continents, often in proximity to springs or sites of extinct springs. Water, safe for drinking and cooking, would be well worth prayer and thanksgiving.

Even in the Americas, there are documented seven circuit labyrinths dating to centuries before Europeans first arrived. The best known examples in the southwestern USA are associated with locations known to have been agricultural communities and are found near the prehistoric crop fields.

Parowan Interfaith to host 9-11 Patriots' Program

BY GAIL HARRIS

Special to Iron County Today

PAROWAN – The Parowan Interfaith 9-11 Patriots' Program began as an honest, heartfelt community prayer vigil on Sept. 16, 2001, seeking to give voice and understanding to the tragic terrorist attacks upon the United States of America.

United in faith, the Parowan community filled the Parowan High School Auditorium with the vigil. Each year following, the Interfaith Council has generated a program to give remembrance to those who lost their lives and to those who serve their country and their community.

The 9-11 Patriots' Program has been held at the high school, the community theatre, the town square, the Grace Christian Church, and presently at the United Methodist Church on Main Street.

The Interfaith Committee meets each year to reassess the location of the event and the content of the program, driven by a purpose to rise above our differences to make our community and our nation stronger.

This year, the event's theme is, "Respect America," a way of remembering 9-11 and honoring present civil service groups. Jed Townsend, a veteran from the 222nd as well as a police officer, will be the program's keynote speaker and his present job in police service. The event will feature music from elementary and high school students, as well as adults. Ken Carpenter, Parowan Police Chief, will honor public service groups and give special appreciation to Utah Highway Patrol Officer David Schiers.

Each faith, Grace Christian, United Methodist, and the LDS Church, will participate in the planning and the presentation of the program. The public is invited to United Methodist Church on Sept. 11 at 6 p.m. for the event.

Jeff, you will be missed

considered writing about food this week - it's a topic that I've strayed from more than usual lately - however, I will take this time to say goodbye to the man who acted as the catalyst for change in my life.

In the early months of 2015, I walked into County Today nervous, looking for an internship. The editor wasn't available, so I left my information with the office manager. The following day, the editor of the newspaper called me, a real-life journalist, I thought - how cool. My voice shook as I tried to sound like I knew what I was talking about.

He said, "We don't hire interns. I'm sorry." I was devastated. My future seemed so far away. Then, he told me he looked at my portfolio and was impressed. My voice found stability as my chest tingled with pride. "I need someone to cover, to shoot good photos and write a story at an art gala, tonight," he said. "Would you be interested in working for us as a freelance reporter?" We talked for a short time before I hung up the phone, looked at my wife, and said, "What the hell did I just agree to? I don't know if I can do this."

work with regularly now. Actually, if Jeff Lowe hadn't offered me a job, I would never have met many of my good friends and acquaintances: Steve Yates at Artisans Gallery, Stephanie Furnival with the Children's Justice Center of Iron County, and Charles Triplett to name a few.

Most important of all, I met Jeff. With a decision that seemed small to him, he changed the direction of my life. He trusted me, believed in me, and offered me opportunity. Since then, I have gained respect from the people in our community and opportunities that have been thrilling.

Jeff also taught me how a true leader treats the people working under him or her. Even when I made a grievous mistake or pushed a deadline, which is every week, he offered understanding, sympathy, and resolution. So, he changed me, too, not just my life.

Thank you Jeff, I will miss you as my editor and colleague. You treated me as an equal and taught me to respect my work. You allowed me to find a connection to a community that I have long lived in but never loved, until now. Cedar City, Iron County - Southern Utah – won't be the same without you.

The gala was a success. I met people I

LABYRINTH

These small labyrinths are believed (by academics) to have been considered protective of the crops which were apparently left unattended when the planters were migrating with their herds, or hunting for game, during the growing season.

If you are curious about how walking meditation might help you to find inner peace, or even just the solution to a vexing question, please come to St Jude's Episcopal Church at 70 N. 200 West in Cedar City on Monday or Friday between noon and 4 p.m. or on Wednesday between 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. during September.

There will be someone waiting to greet you and "get you started," especially if you are a newcomer to the practice of meditating or praying with movement. There are very few rules and many will be familiar if you are over the age of 6 or 7.

Redmen roll on road, earn their first win

BY TOM ZULEWSKI

Sports Writer

The Cedar High football team found its second wind and rebounded from a season-opening loss last week with a 34-13 win at Virgin Valley in Mesquite on Aug. 26. Mason Fakahua and Drake Lewis each delivered long touchdown runs as the Redmen evened its record at 1-1.

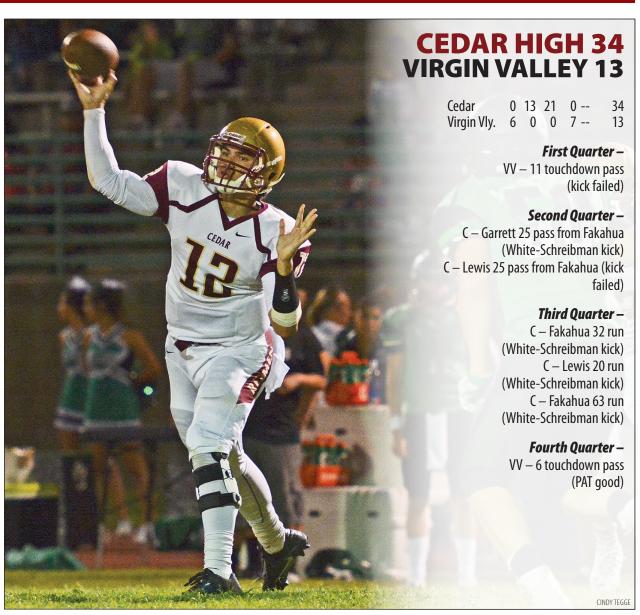

Trailing 6-0 to the Bulldogs after the opening quarter, Fakahua helped the Redmen respond quickly in the second when he found Braden Garrett for a 25-yard touchdown pass that led to 34 straight Cedar points and gave them firm control of the game.

Before the half, Fakahua struck with his arm again, finding Lewis on another 25-yard score that put Cedar up for good at 13-6 heading to the break.

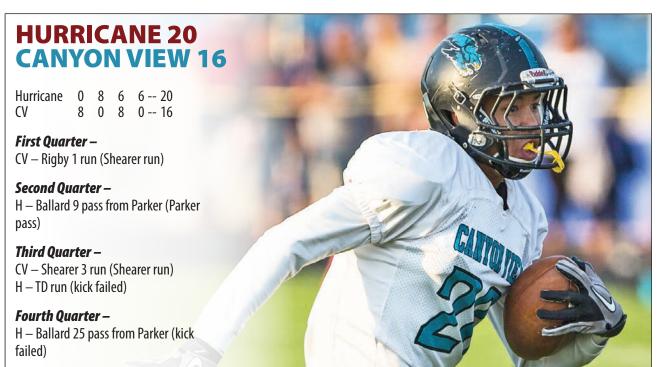

The Redmen would put the win away with three long TD runs in the third quarter. Fakahua started the onslaught with a 32-yard run and added a 63-yard TD later in the period, while Lewis scored from 20 yards out to turn the game into a rout heading to the fourth quarter.

Virgin Valley scored on a pair of touchdown passes, but dropped its season opener.

Cedar will open its home schedule this week with a game against crosstown rival Canyon View on Sept. 2, with kickoff set for 7 p.m. The Falcons beat the Redmen in last season's meeting, 42-41, for the first time since 2005.

Tigers slip by Falcons, spoil home opener for Canyon View

BY TOM ZULEWSKI

CEDAR CITY – Riley Ballard caught a 25-yard touchdown pass from Josh Parker late in the fourth quarter to rally the Hurricane Tigers to a 20-16 victory over Canyon View on Aug. 26 to spoil the Falcons' home opener. CV fell to 0-2 on the season.

Falcons quarterback Stockton Rigby got the Falcons off to the first-quarter lead, scoring on a 1-yard run. Isaiah Shearer, who scored both touchdowns in last week's loss at Beaver, added the two-point conversion for the 8-0 lead.

The visiting Tigers tied the score in the second when Ballard caught a 9-yard touchdown pass from Parker, and the teams headed to the locker room all even at 8-8.

CV would double its lead in the third when Shearer scored on a 3-yard run, but Hurricane countered with a scoring run. The missed point-after cut the Falcons' lead to 16-14 heading to the fourth, where Parker came through and found Ballard for the game-winning TD with less than three minutes left.

Canyon View will play its next game at Cedar on Sept. 2 looking for its second straight win in the series with its cross-town rival. Kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

The Cedar Lady Reds returned from a season-opening two-game road trip and earned its first win of the season, shutting out the Canyon View Falcons 4-0 on Aug. 23. Lindsey Robinson scored twice and Cedar put up two goals in each half to pick up the victory.

Rachel Hunt and Ashley Jenkins also found the net to back the goaltending of Emily Pearson, who earned her first clean sheet of the season in the Lady Reds' only game of the week.

Canyon View's struggles on offense continued against two more Region 9 foes as they dropped a 3-0 decision at home to Pine View on Aug. 25, then fell in a 2-0 shutout at Dixie two days later to fall to 1-6 on the season.

The Panthers scored all of their goals in the opening half, including two from Shaniece Laurenco, to back the clean sheet from Alena Lorenzen. Erin Callahan added the other marker for Pine View.

In the Dixie game, Elizabeth Durrant and McKenna McAllister found the net, and the Flyers scored once in each half to earn the win at home. Mashawn Eskridge earned the shutout in goal for Dixie.

Cedar will host Parowan in its home opener Sept. 1 at 4 p.m., and Canyon View had an Aug. 30 matchup at Snow Canyon that was too late for press deadline.

Wolves shut out Rams at home

BY TOM ZULEWSKI

Sports Writer

In most football games, the team that forces more turnovers will win. The Enterprise Wolves provided a textbook example of that point in their home game against Parowan on Aug. 26.

Quarterback Jayson Holt ran for two touchdowns as the Wolves shook off a slow start and cruised to a 33-0 shutout over Parowan to improve to 2-0 on the season. The Rams fell to 1-1.

After the teams slogged through a scoreless first quarter on a rainy night, Enterprise struck in the second when John Oswald scored on a 26-yard touchdown run. Holt would later add the first of his scores from 1 yard out that stretched the margin to 12-0 at the break.

The Wolves would seize all the momentum for themselves and pulled away in the third quarter. Holt found the end zone on a 6-yard run, then hooked up with Oswald for a 15-yard touchdown pass and added the two-point conversion to push the margin to 26-0.

Caleb Koopmans finished the scoring in the third quarter with a 5-yard touchdown run.

Parowan will travel to play at Altamont this week in a kickoff set for 5 p.m. on Sept. 2, while Enterprise goes to North Summit in a 7 p.m. start.

First-time winner's hat trick caps great race weekend

BY TOM ZULEWSKI

Sports Writer

The Race to the Chase may be winding down, but the racing that happened at Michigan International Speedway and Road America in Wisconsin provided a huge jolt of excitement for race fans everywhere.

The biggest moment of the weekend came in the Pure Michigan 400 on Aug. 28. Sitting on the outside of the Chase picture and knowing it was a clear sense of desperation mode, Kyle Larson helped his boss, Chip Ganassi, break a 99-race winless streak by taking the checkered flag ahead of Chase Elliott and elevating himself firmly into the championship playoff.

Larson looked like he'd finish runner-up as Elliott led from lap 169, but a caution for debris from Michael Annett's car gave the driver of the No. 42 Target Chevrolet the break he needed. Larson got the jump ahead of Elliott on the race's final restart with 10 laps left and pulled away for his first career win.

While Larson's victory cut the remaining eligible spots for the non-winners down to three with two weekends left, there's a small sliver of hope remaining for Ryan Newman, who was bumped off the 16th position.

Two pieces of good news are in play. While Newman finished 17th at Michigan, he trails new bubble driver Jamie McMurray by only 15 points. It's not an insurmountable margin, but will need to be made up in noticeable chunks.

However, there's the matter of Chris Buescher's efforts for Newman's team to consider. Buescher is still in the Chase, but lost a decent chunk of his cushion on David Ragan after finishing 35th at Michigan. His margin is just seven points heading to Throwback Weekend at Darlington next week.

Of course, it all changes again if someone like Elliott, Austin Dillon or McMurray can find their way to Victory Lane. Or maybe someone else like Kasey Kahne or Ryan Blaney will have their breakthrough. With all the retro paint schemes to look forward to, it's all the more reason to tune in.

The other series had their own bits of craziness provided by two drivers who aren't Chase eligible, but knew how to bring the dramatics at the right times.

In the Michigan Camping World Truck Series race – the Careers for Veterans 200 – Brett Moffitt seized the moment when he slid by Timothy Peters and William Byron on the high side of the track to steal the first victory of his career right out from under both drivers.

The best part of the moment: Moffitt was driving a one-off deal as Peters' teammate with Red Horse Racing and only led the final lap. It was the first lap Moffitt has led in his entire career, which covers 45 starts between Cup (38), XFINITY (one) and trucks (six).

As for the Chase in the

trucks, six of eight drivers have claimed their spots, with Peters and Daniel Hemric in as the non-winners. Cameron Hayley is the first off the bubble at 47 points behind Peters – well more than a full race – so it's clearly go time at either Canadian Tire Motorsports Park or Chicagoland Speedway if he wants to get in the field.

In the XFINITY race, the Road America 180, Michael McDowell led more than half the laps and held off Brendan Gaughan by a half-second in an overtime finish. Not only did it deny Gaughan a chance to become the fourth driver to qualify for the Chase, but McDowell – who raced on another one-off deal for Richard Childress Racing – earned his first career victory in 298 starts between Cup (202), XFINITY (94) and trucks (two).

With efforts like those and the championship pressure creeping into another gear, fans should be looking forward to what's next. I know I am.

FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY

Proposed Flood Hazard Determinations for the City of Cedar City, Iron County, Utah and Case No. 16-08-0339P. The Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) solicits technical information or comments on proposed flood hazard determinations for the Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM), and where applicable, the Flood Insurance Study (FIS) report for your community. These flood hazard determinations may include the addition or modification of Base Flood Elevations, base flood depths, Special Flood Hazard Area boundaries or zone designations, or the regulatory floodway. The FIRM and, if applicable, the FIS report have been revised to reflect these flood hazard determinations through issuance of a Letter of Map Revision (LOMR), in accordance with Title 44, Part 65 of the Code of Federal Regulations. These determinations are the basis for the floodplain management measures that your community is required to adopt or show evidence of having in effect to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program. For more information on the proposed flood hazard determinations and information on the statutory 90-day period provided for appeals, please visit FEMA's website at www.fema.gov/plan/prevent/fhm/bfe, or call the FEMA Map Information eXchange (FMIX) toll free at 1-877-FEMA MAP (1-877-336-2627).

Iron County Today Wednesday, August 31, 2016 25

he Tony Award-winning Utah Shakespeare Festival is not just a theatrical presentation – any more than the Taj Mahal is just a house. It's eight of the liveliest, most professionally-produced plays this side of Broadway.

Drama, comedy, Shakespeare, contemporary theatre and a few genres in between. And it's conveniently set in the midst of Cedar City's stunning new Beverley Center for the Arts. But wait, there's more: The interactive Greenshow, backstage tours, play seminars, panel discussions with world-class cast members and artists, plus enlightening play orientations. And a nearby renowned national park or two, or three.

No wonder it's called a festival. It's also quite accurately referred to as The Greater Escape.
