SCHIEFFER to SUU GRADS:

'You've all reached the milestone'

EMMY-AWARD WINNING JOURNALIST BOB SCHIEFFER gave the commencement address at Southern Utah University last Friday.

HOLLY COOMBS

by Holly COOMBS
holly@ironcountytoday.com

CEDAR CITY — With approximately 1,925 graduates — 408 master's degrees, 1,130 bachelor's degrees, 37 associate's degrees and 16 certificates — the 118th commencement at Southern Utah University was celebrated with a keynote address by Emmy-award winning CBS political journalist Bob Schieffer last Friday in the Centrum Arena.

The 2017 class features students from 36 states and 16 countries. That includes 1,057 females and 868 males, along with 60 married couples, who celebrated together. The graduates ranged in age from 17 to 63 years old.

Schieffer addressed the graduating class saying while he was excited to be honored with a degree, the day was about those who have earned the degree at the university.

"You got your diploma, you deserve it and nobody can take it away from you"

— Bob Schieffer

"You got your diploma, you deserve it and nobody can take it away from you. So this is for you," he said. "Enjoy it all day long."

He said graduation is important to all teachers, parents, graduates and the speakers.

Schieffer recalled his graduation and that he did not graduate magna cum laude.

"It was more of a case of 'Thank you Lordy,'" he said. "I was absolutely terrified and there was a good reason for it. I had specialized in Spanish. I didn't major in Spanish, I specialized. I took it, dropped it, took it, dropped it."

He said he took nine semesters of Spanish in order to get the four required for graduation. He said grades weren't posted until after graduation and he was afraid he'd be pulled out of line to get his diploma and told he didn't pass Spanish.

"Now you've all reached the milestone," Schieffer said.

The University also presented four honorary doctorate degrees during the University Commencement. Schieffer received an honorary doctorate in public service for his political news coverage. Honorary doctorates in public service were also awarded to former SUU interim president Rich Kendall, KSL-TV news anchor and reporter Carole Mikita and past voice of the Utah Summer Games Bill Marcroft.

The commencement featured remarks from Southern Utah University

HOLLY COOMBS

FOR NEARLY 2,000 GRADUATES, the ceremonies marked the end of one road and the start of many others.

President Scott L Wyatt, along with the Class of 2017 student speaker Sarah Ludlow, a Human Nutrition Major from St. George. Katelyn Yoakum, an accounting major from Las Vegas, was the 2017 Valedictorian.

Wyatt began by sharing his excitement of the university's enrollment growth through the years. He said in the last two years SUU's enrollment has grown approximately 25.4 percent, which is 12 times more than other schools throughout the state of Utah. SUU is also has the highest graduation rate of any public university in the eight intermountain west states, which is 50 percent higher than average, Wyatt said.

"This is a happening place and a lot of excitement," he said. "Not only are you coming here in increasing numbers, but you are succeeding at higher rates."

Ludlow spoke, encouraging her fellow graduates to remember that the reward of graduation is walking with confidence into a job interview.

"Our reward is the wisdom we gathered and the individuals permanently pressed upon our souls," she said. "Our reward is the liberty and opportunity we can look forward to tomorrow."

Ludlow, who will pursue a screen-writing and stand-up comedy career in Chicago, quoted her favorite comedian, Tina Fey.

"Whatever the problem is be a part of the solution," she said.

Ludlow encouraged the graduates to recognize points of error but then move on.

Schieffer spoke to the class of days that have come tough in the political world as the government suffers to do right. He encouraged them to be honorable people that meet together to improve citizens.

"... where the best and brightest want to be," he said. "That's who you are and you remember nothing else. You remember nothing else that I've said, but remember this: you are fortunate because you are an American and America is a place where dreams can still come true and you must always work to keep it so and treasure it always."

Public meet, discuss storm water issues at Enoch open house

by Holly COOMBS
holly@ironcountytoday.com

ENOCH — Members of the public attended an Enoch City open house last Thursday night to hear from Cody Howick from Sunrise Engineering and voice their opinions regarding storm and drain water issues within the city.

Howick said spoke of preparing a master plan to work on Enoch City sewer and storm water systems.

“We go out and we pull every man-hole, measure down and put in a mapping system,” he said. “Through engineering data, we get flows through that system to see what the existing system is and where it is deficient.”

On the maps, he said are recommendations for solutions based on the deficiencies found. Howick said that night was to get feedback from the public what their thoughts and concerns are and what solutions can come from it.

Once the solutions are considered, the cost will be brought up and presented to the city council determine what can be done.

Some citizen concerns included flooding that occurs within the city whenever it rains.

“Enoch Road and Memorial Road are a problem,” resident Sharon Yanaz said. “Water is diverted to come down Sunset, across Memorial and floods when it rains.”

Yanaz said the borrowed ditches are not enough to stop the flooding.

“The city is trying to improve it so I’m here to see how it’s going to work,” she said.

Population growth has caused additional issue with the storm water drainage, resident Tom Hansen said. He said he has voiced his concerns to the city before.

“I do get upset about the lack of planning for storm water run-off prior to the development,” he said. “After the problem developed, there has been some effort to deal with this water but what was done, has not eliminated our problem.”

He said he hopes pointing problems out to Howick will help in solving the problem areas.

As recent events remind us--words matter

When teaching high school English, I told students that even in an electronic digital age, proper grammar, wording, and punctuation remained relevant. As an example, I would show them a sentence in which one misplaced comma changed the entire meaning.

Legal experts still question and analyze the meaning of the 2nd Amendment. (Does the "well-regulated militia" grant rights to citizens or a government-sponsored National Guard-type unit?) Similarly, the U.S. Congress has funded many programs tied to two words in the U.S. Constitution (the "general welfare").

Words matter. This was proved this past month when a Utah district court judge offered comments prior to sentencing a middle-aged man convicted on 10 counts of forcible sexual abuse and one count of object rape.

Fourth District Court Judge Thomas Low is being criticized for his handling of the case against Keith Robert Vallejo, a former LDS bishop. His critics don't have a problem with the length of the sentence. They also must admit that Judge Low agreed with the jury verdict and praised one of the victims for coming forward with the complaint.

The furor over Judge Low stems from two things: Initially allowing a convicted sex abuser to be released on bail prior to sentencing and, more importantly, his comments in court after reading supportive letters about the man. Judge

Low quickly backtracked on the bail release, but continues to be hounded on the comments.

I have no problem with Judge Low's thought process. However, we should all have concern about his words.

He called the convicted sex abuser "an extraordinary, good man." Then,

Cyclops

 by Bryan GRAY
 Columnist

...with the victim sitting in the courtroom, a judge should not describe her attacker as an "extraordinary good man"

compounding his mistake, he tearfully noted, "But great men sometimes do bad things."

In the first place, Judge Low is correct: good men – although not necessarily "great men" – do bad things. Few of us get out of this life without being ashamed of something we wouldn't do a second time. A talented man like Charles Lindbergh joined other talented German scientists in supporting Adolph Hitler. (Similarly, smart people like the current president of the University of Utah make outrageous public relations blunders, as seen in the Huntsman Cancer Center leadership controversy). History is full of good-hearted clerics and community leaders who occasionally walked the "dark street" and died with blemished reputations.

But with the victim sitting in the courtroom, a judge should not describe her attacker as an "extraordinary good man." Sorry, but extraordinary good men do not fondle and rape teenagers.

Rather Judge Low should have explained, "Men can do good things in their lives, but they must also be held accountable for the bad. You contributed to the community and your church, unfortunately you also brought evil into the neighborhood with tragic consequences for your young victims."

The petition drives and calls for Judge Low to be removed from the bench are misguided, and I assume he would phrase his comments differently if given another chance.

There is a lesson here: To paraphrase the court record, even "extraordinary good judges can make bad comments hurtful to victims." Let's leave it at that.

Ground breaks for SUU business building

by Holly COOMBS
holly@ironcountytoday.com

CEDAR CITY — The groundbreaking ceremony for a new business building at Southern Utah University took place last Thursday. The anticipated construction of the 42,000-square-foot building will be built in the current Sharwan Smith Center Student Center parking lot at a cost of $16 million, which was made possible with the help of the whole community, SUU President Scott L. Wyatt said.

“Excluding the two research universities, this is the first academic building where the majority of the funding has come from members of the community within the state of Utah,” Wyatt said. “It took the whole community to make this happen.”

Besides the community help, funding also came from legislators. Rep. John Westwood (R-Cedar City) was a major role to get the funding.

“Without the generous funding from the Utah State Legislature during the 2016 session we would not be here today,” School of Business Interim Associate Dean Mary Pearson, who was the master of ceremonies at the groundbreaking that morning at 11 a.m.

A $7.5 million donation was also given from the Dixie and Ann Leavitt Foundation.

The groundbreaking ceremony continued with a musical number by The Dead Economists, a band created by

UNIVERSITY AND CITY OFFICIALS turn over the first shovels of dirt.

School of Business Dean Carl Templin, who plays the double bass, Economics and Finance Department Chair Kim Craft, who plays lead electric guitar, Economics Professor Joe Bake, who plays guitar, harmonica and lead vocals, Aviation Director Sean Heiner, who plays the drums and Pearson, who plays keyboard. The group performed “School of Business Blues,” which was composed by Baker.

The ceremony continued with remarks from Templin, Dixie and Anne Leavitt and Wyatt.

Templin, who will be retiring this year, spoke of the growing of the school of business going from being simple penmanship courses when Southern Utah University was Branch Normal School to a Business School in the late 1960s.

“Now the business unit at SUU, whether being a department, a division or a school, as it is now, has always had the updated curriculum always striving to provide the hands on education for its students,” he said. “Our values are striving for excellence and integrity. The new business building will have the latest technology, flexible classrooms that can be configured for the teaching style of the professor and the learning style of the students.”

He said the building will include an Investment Service Learning Lab where students can apply their acquired business knowledge to work problems. It will include an Entrepreneurship Center with many break out rooms and collaborative offices will promote student engagement and interaction with faculty.

“I am so excited to see this take place to launch the School of Business into its next wonderful period of growth and innovation and I hope you are equally excited, thank you,” Templin said.

Wyatt said the old Business Building will be turned into use for a science building and while students have often complained about minimal close parking, he said the university has much parking for students.

“As the university develops all the buildings will come inward and the parking will be pushed to the outside around the university,” Wyatt said.

A parking lot on 200 South, where Juniper Hall dorms sat four years ago before they were taken down, will be set in place as well, he said.

Firefighters promoted, recognized by council

by Holly COOMBS
holly@ironcountytoday.com

CEDAR CITY — New positions for three firefighters were announced at last Wednesday's Cedar City Council meeting.

Nick Howell and Mike Henfield have been with the Cedar City Fire Department for 17 years and were appointed to the position of Battalion Chief. Chad Barnes was also appointed to the Battalion Chief position and has been with the fire department for six years.

"These are the guys that run the fire ground operations and make all the decisions after the first arriving engine gets (to the scene)," Cedar City Fire Chief Mike Phillips said. "They keep the process going and keep the command moving forward."

Phillips said there are seven battalion chiefs total within the fire department.

"Some are retiring and some are moving on so we need to reorganize," he said.

He said the process to become a battalion chief began 15 months ago with an interview of skills, shadowing of each interested firefighter by a battalion chief to teach skills of the trade, another interview and then a skills test.

"These are the three that are moving forward as battalion chiefs of the Cedar City Fire Department," Phillips said.

The wives of the three put the new badges on their husbands. The new battalion chiefs shook the council and mayor's hands and introduced themselves and their families at the meeting.

"You know the bravest people are the wives because they're always the ones that hear (the radio) go off and they send their husbands away and we appreciate them," council member Fred Rowley said.

Among other items at council meeting a business waiver for the Iron County Search and Rescue to do its carnival fundraiser on May 18-20 was approved by the council to be waived.

Beryl man dies in rollover accident

A Beryl man died last Wednesday when he suffered significant trauma at the scene on State Route 56 where his truck tipped and rolled.

At approximately 2:48 p.m., Morris W. Carter, 73, was driving his 2002 Peterbilt tractor truck and towing a trailer loaded with dirt westbound on State Route 56 when for an unknown reason, at mile marker 20, he allowed the trucks to drift off the right side of the road, according to a Utah Highway Patrol press release.

"(Carter) then corrected the truck back onto the roadway and went off the left side of the roadway," according to the release. "The driver over corrected back towards the roadway, but the weight of the load and truck shifted, causing it to tip over and roll onto its side."

Carter was not wearing a seat belt and suffered significant trauma and died at the scene.

The cab of the truck sustained significant damage in the rollover.

Maverick donates $66,800 to Toys for Tots Foundation

by Holly COOMBS
holly@ironcountytoday.com

Maverik Adventure's First Stop located at 220 N. Airport Road, presented a check of $66,800 to the Toys For Tots Foundation, which was collected from voluntary donations from customers during November and December of last year.

"We are happy we are able to work with the Toys for Tots Foundation and how the community donates it goes directly back into our community so we appreciate the community's help in hitting these goals and being able to do this.," Maverik District Manager Jennifer Morgan said.

"We couldn't do it without them," Jeff Lennert with the Toys for Tots Beaver/Iron Counties Coordinator said. "I mean this basically makes it so we can do the program every year. We need the money."

From the end of November to Dec. 25, Maverik accepted donations.

"So in the 30-day time frame that we take those donations and Maverik matches them," Morgan said. "During that time when (customers) donate their change, that's the time that goes into the Toys for Tots."

"We get only what was raised in this area within our area," Lennert said. "There are 12 other coordinators that will get a portion of this money because that's money raised in their areas."

He said it's split with others that go from Delta all the way to Grand Junction.

"So there are a whole lot of other programs involved in this," Lennert said. "So we will get about $12,000 out of it, which is still pretty good because that is about the amount we use every year."

"Toys for Tots is one of those charities that all the money raised in this area stays in this area," Lennert said. "We don't use that for operational. Today we are representing the foundation because now we got to take this and divide it up between all the other coordinators."

COSMIC CONTEMPLATIONS

HERE'S THAT NORTH STAR you've been searching for at night.

The North Star, also known as Polaris or the Pole Star, is one of the most recognizable stars in the night sky. Although it is a white supergiant star with a radius of about 22 million miles (about fifty times the size of the Sun), it barely cracks the list of the top 50 brightest stars. Why? Even though its surface temperature is more than 10,000 °F (making it about 2500 times as luminous as the Sun), like most stars, the North Star is a long way from Earth, with a distance of 430 light years. Since one light year is about six trillion miles, just imagine how far the North Star is in our night sky!

You may ask, why is this one of the most familiar and talked about stars in the night sky? The North Star is significant because the rotational axis of Earth is pointed almost directly at it. During the progression of night, the North Star does not rise or set, but remains virtually in the same spot above the northern horizon year-round while the other stars circle around it.

The significance of the North Star has to do with its position, rather than brightness or size. This makes it an important navigational tool. Historically, humans did not have the technical devices that we have today to find our way around. They used the Sun and stars for navigation and this worked quite well. They realized that the North Star could always be found in the northern sky, therefore, you could figure out where south, west and east were as well. Even today, it is used as a navigation tool for the military or people outside looking to find their way. The North Star can actually be more accurate than a compass because compasses point you towards the magnetic north, rather than the geographic north. When you use a compass, you always have to correct the reading. No correction is needed with the North Star.

The North Star is one of the easiest stars to find. To begin, locate the Big Dipper, which is part of the constellation Ursa Major (the Great Bear). It will always be found in the northern sky. The Big Dipper is comprised of seven stars and looks like a large spoon with a handle attached to it. Once you locate the Big Dipper, you can find the North Star by simply looking at the two bright stars that form the outer edge of the Big Dipper spoon. These are called the 'pointer stars'. Draw an imaginary line (see graphic) straight through these two stars and toward the Little Dipper, which is in the constellation Ursa Minor (the Little Bear). The Little Dipper is visible (depending on night sky conditions) and easily found if your imaginary line is accurate. You will notice the brightest star on the Little Dipper's handle. This is the North Star.

Business Tip of the Month:
NEED FOR SUCCESSION PLANNING

Because of a large group of aging "Baby Boomers", an estimated 52-70 % of existing business owners will leave their business over the next 10 years. Up to 65% of family succession plans fail and up to 80% of these fail within the first two years. What's more concerning is that 80% of existing businesses are not ready for a succession event. That puts into jeopardy the continuity of a significant number of small businesses, the strength of the U.S Economy. Proper planning is required for a successful succession event to take place. Business owners need to better understand the basics of buying & selling, the principles of business valuation, and how to increase the sellers cash, including planning for the tax ramifications of the deal. Preparing for a succession event involves the process of positioning the business for maximum value at the optimal time.

HIGHLAND MAYA of GUATEMALA

Comes to SUMA

by Ashley H. POLLOCK

SUU College of Performing and Visual Arts

Southern Utah Museum of Art hosts an extensive exhibit titled Highland Maya of Guatemala featuring the photographs of Michael Plyler May 4 through July 1, 2017, with an Artist Talk on Thursday, May 4, 2017 at 6:30 p.m. These black and white photographs are taken with traditional film and developed in an old-style wet darkroom. SUMA is open October through May from noon to 6 p.m. and June through September 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Admission to SUMA is free and open to the public. Free parking is available at the corner of 300 West and University Blvd.

This exhibit incorporates 56 images of people and cultural icons in the Guatemalan region and is arranged by the language that is spoken in each area. Each image transports you to a village that brings to light the daily life of these people. The images were taken in the early 1980's through the 2000's.

Michael Plyler said of the exhibit, "These portraits span some sixteen trips over the course of twenty-three years. As such, they serve as a record for tradition and traditions changing."

Plyler's extensive knowledge and research into the lives and heritage of the Mayan people reflects greatly in the capturing of these stunning pieces. He shares that information throughout the exhibit, which also resides in the permanent collection of the National Museum of the American Indian at the Smithsonian in Washington, D.C.

He received a commission from the Guatemalan Tourist Institute in 1983 and was a recipient of a Visual Artist Fellowship from the Utah Arts Council in 1993. In 2010 Plyler and writer Logan Hebner published "Southern Paiute: A Portrait" through Utah State University Press. As the current director of the Zion Canyon Field Institute, Plyler also serves as the Institute's photography instructor. His work is represented by the LaFave Gallery in Springdale, Utah.

Of his time spent in Guatemala, Plyler said, "All these visits to Guatemala bear witness not only to my recording of the Mayans' everyday lives, but my evolution as a photographer as well. My initial vision, almost exclusively in color, shifted almost exclusively to black and white by 1984. I progressed from 35mm through medium format to large format (4x5). Along the way I taught myself the intricacies of Ansel Adams' Zone System."

Mastering the piano? Not this way

by Mary Anne ANDERSEN
Cedar City Arts Council

Let's say, for the sake of argument, that we have 100 percent literacy in our community. That may not be true; I know it's not true for the state, the nation, and certainly the world as a whole. But our comfortable, well-educated, involved-parenting population probably consistently produces generations of students who can all read.

Now think how this happens. From the time a child is five or so, she has a battery of adults committed to teaching her how to read. Even before kindergarten, now that I think of it, pre-school teachers probably work on teaching her her letters and numbers.

In early grade school, she is the participant in daily activities and games designed to give her understanding of the meanings of those shapes we call letters. She does this every day and is encouraged to continue little exercises with her family after she gets home.

She advances through the grades, studying different topics in math, science, and social matters but still having reading every day. There is the operative word: EVERY. For six years, she and her friends read in all their other subjects and still practice reading per se. It can be safely said that once a child begins her first introduction to letters, she reads something new every single day for the rest of her life. When I make that observation to a ten-year-old boy who denies that he reads during the summer, I point out that he watches TV, plays games, goes to the store, drives down the street, and so inadvertently seeing words at every turn. Thus we become the skilled readers that we all are.

Now suppose you sent that little girl to school on Monday morning and she had a thirty-minute, one-on-one tutoring session with her reading teacher. Then she was sent home with material that she was to practice every day, probably re-reading the same pages in her book on a daily basis. But what if she comes across a word she doesn't know, or has failed to grasp the idea of syllabification. And what if she is living with a parent who does not easily speak or read English. She either practices incorrectly for a week or loses interest or lacks encouragement to continue. Next Monday she returns to school, needing reinforcement, correction, and new information to repeat the process of essentially teaching herself to read.

After another thirty minutes, she is sent home to try again. When she does want to practice her reading, her mother is driving a sibling to soccer practice, her dad is at work, and her friends are outside. Do you think much literacy progress is being made that day?

Of course not. And yet, did you recognize the very process involved in a child's music lessons: limited time with a teacher, no correction in case of faulty practicing, fun stuff going on in the other room. I have some solutions to offer, some of which I know work. Stayed tuned next week.

CEDAR CITY — A breakfast from Switzerland, a nice cabin or an RV hookup are available at a new Bed and Breakfast known as BnB+Swiss, located at 436 S. Cross Hollows Road.

Uwe “Bruce” and Ilona Ewen moved to Cedar City about three years ago from their home country of Switzerland and opened up a new bed and breakfast.

The couple has eight cabins with a similar set up like a hotel room and offers a fresh homemade Swiss breakfast for their guests.

Ilona bakes four different types of breads. She said they also have homemade sausage, cheese, Swiss cheese which is sent from Switzerland, Danish foods and a special oatmeal are some of the food items offered for breakfast.

Uwe Ewen said the King cabins come with jetted tubs. They do not have TVs, as they like to bring the cabin feel and experience to let customers enjoy the quiet and time together during their stay.

“Why have TV? You’re out here in a cabin,” Uwe Ewen said. “Talk to each other.”

The location sits about five minutes from Walmart and 10 minutes from the Utah Shakespeare Festival, just South of the Cross Hollows Event Center.

Customers that stay in the cabins get breakfast with their stay while RVs do not. Ilona Ewen said they can pay $7 to receive breakfast if they wish.

She said while in Switzerland, she worked as a nurse and after a few of her family members and her best friend died and she got sick with cancer, she and Uwe decided they needed to make a new life. Ilona said they won a green card in the lottery and moved to Utah and found property in Cedar City.

“I love the scenery here,” Ilona Ewen said. “It’s amazing.”

She said she also loves working and meeting different people. Aside from the bed and breakfast she works at Chef Alfredos and Uwe Ewen works at Home Depot.

“I like the friendly, nice and open people,” Ilona Ewen said.

“Why have TV? You’re out here in a cabin. Talk to each other.”

— Uwe Ewen, owner

The Ewens look forward to the Utah Shakespeare Festival to start in hopes of bringing in more customers.

The couple will host an open house on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Food including real German bratwursts, Biff’s Bunkhouse BBQ roast pork sliders and more will be available.

Activities and entertainment will include a petting zoo, Cedar City Biker’s Against Child Abuse will ride in, Rising K Ranch will provide horseback riding, Drake’s Garage will have powersport repairs and a disc jockey will be playing.

Raffles with prizes including a free breakfast for four people at the bed and breakfast, a gift card from Chef Alfredo’s, gift certificate for Biff’s Bunkhouse BBQ and other prizes will be available.

Dog Cues...

I can talk to my dog for hours, tell him my greatest aspirations, and suspect that he won't get a word of it. But changing the tone of my voice, pointing to a door, or using a hand signal with a command that generally 'gets' his attention.

According to canine experts -- it's all about cues. Sure a dog can be taught to respond to a single word that means a certain thing, but without a syntax system of thought (processing), they'll likely never respond to the sentence we hope to convey. That said, they are surprisingly good at 'reading' our outer expression.

For example, you might ask, "Do you want to go outside?" As you walk towards the door, your dog will likely recognize the word 'door' but it's actually the body language or cues they follow. In short, it's generally believed that our movements, our posture, and even a subtle glance will tell our canines everything about what we think, feel or expect of them.

For instance, in the world of dogs eye contact is not a good thing. A stare may evoke a sense of challenge and is a rude move at that. But for us humans, (that is), the owners they truly respect, canines are known to both stare and study our expressions. In both examples, you might say that dogs learn to read us, they hang out with their human families, and then figure out our various cues.

Some experts believe that dogs have co-evolved with their human counterparts and are a bi-product of domestication and natural selection. As we choose the calmer, more attentive animal, those canines also happen to be the ones that are best suited to learn 'our ways.'

You could say, they are experts at body language, gesture, voice inflection and facial expression. If you change the tone of your voice, or point to the car door, you've conveyed a clear message. Some dog owners have had the experience of simply 'glancing' at the leash only to find their dog already heading for the door full of anticipation for a walk.

While this behavior may be common place for dog owners, it makes scientists both wonder and pause: Can our dogs read body language and anticipate what will happen in their world? Much like humans, (we do it automatically), we understand that when a person we are talking with starts glancing at their watch, it's time to get to the point. Can canines likewise interpret our thoughts?

That said, in the world of dogs, we can surmise that communication is a compelling blend of smell, visual cues and sound. Yes, you can talk to your dog for hours, but it's those most human cues that he will truly study and comprehend.

Mothers relax! You are doing just fine

Most women experience self-doubt at one time or another over their perceived lack of poise, education, parenting skills or housecleaning skills- not to mention negative feelings about their size and shape. With Mother's Day coming up, there are more than a few women who will shy away from the holiday thinking they are failing terribly at their roles. They will even go so far as to avoid any gathering where the virtues of motherhood will be discussed lest the sense of guilt cause tears or a desire to slink away to escape the feelings of shame.

Author Lisa Zamosky has written and posted a related article on WebMD (<http://www.webmd.com/parenting/features/being-good-mom#1>) titled, "Relax, You're Being a Good Mom." There are a few key points worth highlighting for consideration- not just for Mother's Day but throughout the year. The following points are adapted from her article.

Screen the parenting spectator comments. As in most sports events, when it comes to the parenting game there are cheerleaders and there are hecklers more than happy to share their thoughts and insights about your skills. Whether it is an intentional direct comment, something posted on Facebook® or an off-hand comment made by a thoughtless person, some feel free- even obligated- to chastise others. It is best to keep in mind that parenting is not a competition and we should avoid taking ourselves and others a bit too seriously.

Not even so-called parenting "experts" know everything. There is a plethora of sociologists, psychologists, teachers and pediatricians that we look to for advice and counsel about parenting. So what if instead of serving whole grain and natural foods, you actually feed your children macaroni and cheese? What if you actually raise your voice to your children or, heaven forbid, spank your child?

Sometimes, being "armed" with too much expert information can "lead you into the trap of believing that there is one right way to do things and that if you're

Kathy's CORNER

by Kathleen RIGGS
Utah State University Extension

not doing it that one way your kids will suffer- [this is] a perfect recipe for mother's guilt." In real life, stress and frustration happen. Thank goodness children are resilient and when they are confident in your love for them, they can bounce back from those less than stellar parenting moments.

Going with your gut, intuition, or inspiration. According to the WebMD article, once you've talked to your physician, read a few books and studied some other reliable sources of parenting information, it's time to step away from the schooling and start trusting your internal mothering guide. "We joke that kids don't come with directions, but they do in a sense. The directions are your values, and they are the basis on which all of your decisions are made."

Silencing the critic. It's still difficult not to compare your mothering techniques against those of another. Comments made can get under your skin and be difficult to simply ignore. So, if you feel strongly enough to return a comment made to you about your parenting style, a standard response is "Thanks for the input!" This is a polite response that avoids further discussion with so-called "know-it-alls".

Remember parenting basics. Applying your family's values and beliefs to your parenting style is good parenting. Negative self-talk can be damaging to both you and your children. If your children are happy, able to talk openly with you, share loving words and actions with you, consider yourself successful no matter what others may say.

Zamosky uses her own experiences as well as quotes shared by other mothers and authors to further illustrate and drive home her main points. Don't let the opinions of others tarnish the accolades mothers and women, in general, deserve.

Tourism brings big tax revenues to Utahns

Tourism has emerged as one of the key drivers in Utah's diverse economy, with travelers spending $8.17 billion in 2015, and contributing $1.15 billion in total state and local taxes, according to the Utah Office of Tourism.

Income taxes from tourism related jobs contributed more than $100 million to Utah schools in 2015, according to the Kem C. Gardner Policy Institute. Motor fuel tax revenue (gas taxes), from travelers contributed more than $100 million to Utah's transportation and infrastructure. An additional $200 million in state sales tax revenue went to Utah's General Fund where it was used to pay for essential services in Utah including health and human services, corrections, courts and the justice system, public safety and economic development. 2015 tax contributions from tourists amount to the equivalent of each Utah household paying an additional $1,235 into the state.

"Utah is establishing our reputation as a recreation destination for tourists from all over the world," said Vicki Varela, managing director of Tourism, Film and Global Branding. "A decade ago, people credited our red-rock wonders to Arizona and the Greatest Snow on Earth to Colorado. Today, telling people you're from Utah stirs stories of amazing vacation memories."

UTAH'S DELICATE ARCH is symbolic of the popularity of the state to tourists, who've visited in record numbers the past few years.

IRON COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT News Nuggets

compiled by LeAnn WOOLSTENHULME
Iron County School District

East Elementary

East second graders spent a morning learning about safety this week at Cedar City Fire Station #1. The Cedar City Police Department taught them about bicycle safety, the Department of Natural Resources taught about wildland fire safety, and the Gold Cross Ambulance crew let them tour the inside of an ambulance. The students were treated to a tour of the fire station, and all of the amazing equipment. A dispatcher spoke about the proper use of 9-1-1, and the students were taught what to do if they encountered a gun. The highlight of the field trip was going into the Life Safety House where they learned all about fire safety at home, how to escape a fire, and the importance of having a fire escape plan. Thanks to those organizations for all of their help and support.

Enoch Elementary

Enoch Elementary students have been busily preparing for end of year programs. Watch for information coming home from teachers about these events. Next week is Teacher Appreciation Week at our school. The PTA has worked hard all year to provide teachers with tokens of appreciation and the Enoch Elementary faculty would like to acknowledge their efforts. Our PTA goes above and beyond to help our school function and enjoy amazing opportunities.

We recently had a Penny War competition and families were so supportive. It was a huge success. The Battle of The Books competition is coming up soon. Students should be reading the books on the lists and preparing for the battle against South Elementary. This is a fun, intense competition and the students at our school, work hard all year long to prepare. End of year testing is in full swing at Enoch Elementary and attendance is crucial.

Fiddlers Elementary

Fiddlers Elementary recently selected its Model Mustangs. These students exemplify all that is good at Fiddlers Elementary. The recipients are first grade: Aliza Kirby, Darin Greer, Eric Mason, Brooklyn Welch, Janelle Robinson, Lincoln Fisher, Sereina Staley, Liam Heyborne; second grade: Mckenna Whitehair, Cooper Peterson, Kallie Clegg, Maleck Rigby, Teagan Laird, Billye Miller; third grade: Sadie Sam, Jared Ashworth, Madison Pond, Cooper Urie, Aliyah Ludgate, Zachary Fisher, Allisa Newman, Emmet Flint; fourth grade, Thomas Katko, Erin Jensen, Morgan Rigby, Taylor Janes, Rachael Johnston, Tayvin Peterson, Nathaniel Scheffer, and Makaeli Adams; fifth grade: Ian Cole, Riley Jeppson, Wes Holmes, Raylee Robinson, Zoe Jones, Camryn Stark, Cade Polson, and Jessi Carter.

South Elementary

Thank you Cedar City Rotary Club! The Cedar City Rotary Club gave South Elementary's music classes a big boost with the donation of 275 recorders to be used by the 3rd, 4th, and 5th graders. The students will now learn how to read music and play an instrument. Thank you Rotary Club for helping provide this opportunity for our students.

The 2nd, 3rd, and 4th graders had a great time at the Bard's Birthday Bash sponsored by the Utah Shakespearean Festival. Students participated in period activities and learned about William Shakespeare's works. The second grade classes also learned about fire safety at a trip to the fire station and fire safety house. Thank you Cedar City Fire Department for teaching us how to be safe in the event of a fire.

Canyon View High

On April 24, the Agricultural Sales Team from Canyon View High School competed in Logan at the Utah FFA Convention and brought home the first place award. With the win, the team qualifies to represent Utah at the National FFA Competition next fall. The team was comprised of Kaylee Hopkins, Destiny Jenson, Isaac Sandoval and Sadie Webster and was coached by Janette Stubbs. "We were worried that we wouldn't be able to go and compete after putting in a lot of time, so to be able to go and win it was great," said Jenson. Following an intense three weeks of preparing, the team was able to come out on top. "All of us worked together and made the most of it. Nobody thought we had a chance, but I believed we could do it," said Hopkins.

The Ag Sales state title is the first in that competition for Canyon View High School. "Janette Stubbs has been waiting twelve years for a team from Canyon View to win so it was great to get it for her," said Webster. Congratulations to this team for representing Canyon View High School and Iron County School District so well.

CVHS PTSA is excited to announce April's Falcon's Finest award recipients. These youth have set themselves apart by being excellent citizen students. They help CVHS be a better community. These students are known for "springing" into action to do the right thing for themselves and others. ### Three Peaks Elementary Congratulations to the students in Debbie Harding's 1st grade class, Wendi Fuson's 2nd grade class, Susan Parker's 2nd grade class, and Liz Jones' 2nd grade class for their excellent performances of Shakespeare's plays at the Bard's Birthday Bash and for the school performances. A special thank you to these teachers for the time taken for rehearsals and costumes. We would like to remind parents to take their children to the 13th Annual Kite Flight for Reading and Sight activities held on Saturday, April 29, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. at the Cedar Middle School fields. All who turn in their completed reading chart will receive a choice of a kite, books, and movie passes and will be eligible for other drawings. The amount of reading charts turned in from Three Peaks Elementary students determines how much of the proceeds from this event go to our school. Help out the school by attending this fun and action-packed event.

First, second, and third grade students were excited to visit the Cedar City Aquatic Center on April 28. They had a tremendous time swimming, playing, and sliding down the slide. Thank you to the city for providing this great facility for our community to use.

On May 2, the first grade classes traveled to Snow Canyon State Park. They had the opportunity to explore the varied landscapes - white cliffs, red sandstone outcrops and black lava deposits - while on a hike with a park ranger. The students also learned about the Mojave Desert vegetation and wildlife. What a wonderful world we live in to be able to explore nature so close to home.

by Nikki KOONTZ
SUU Marketing Communications

CEDAR CITY — Representing each individual college, this year's valedictorians are among the best and brightest at Southern Utah University. This year there are six exceptional students, along with the University Valedictorian Katelyn Yoakum. These students are the highest academically ranked students in their college and were recommended by professors for their dedication and commitment to academic integrity and success.

COLLEGE OF HUMANITIES AND SOCIAL SCIENCE

Tanisha Barker

Able to combine a love for teaching and history, Tanisha Barker hopes to instill a passion for social studies in her future students. From Centerville, Utah, she studied social science composite, a combination between a social science and a secondary education major.

SUU provided a comfortable learning environment for Barker, something she wants to continue for her future students. "I always felt included here," said Barker. "I got to know so many different people and had amazing professors who cared about me and wanted to see me succeed."

Barker is finishing her student teaching in history at Cedar Middle School and is seeking a job at a middle school where she can also coach debate.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION AND HUMAN DEVELOPMENT

Abigail Konerman and Logan Harker

This year, two individuals tied for the position, making Abigail Konerman and Logan Harker co-valedictorians for the College of Education and Human Development. Both recipients represent the college well, showcasing the vast array of possibilities within its borders.

Konerman grew up in the woods of Bloomington, Indiana, spending her summers in camps and always wanting to be outside. Her parents encouraged her to be outdoors as much as possible, which is one of the reasons why she came to SUU.

"When I tried to picture what I wanted to do for the rest of my life," said Konerman, "I could only picture myself outdoors." She came to southern Utah three years ago to major in outdoor recreation and parks and tourism.

She worked for SUU Outdoors and led many adventures. Her favorite moments include anytime when she was able to share her love for nature with her fellow students.

Logan Harker is an exercise science major from Syracuse, Utah who loves sports and staying active. Growing up, Harker played soccer, basketball, T-Ball, danced, and tumbled. She came to SUU with a soccer scholarship and played all four years.

During her time she got involved with the Rural Health Scholars program, served on several student committees, and volunteered as a community coach and referee. She will pursue a masters in occupational therapy at Idaho State University this fall.

COLLEGE OF SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

Jonathan Warren

From Gunnison Valley, Utah, Warren started at SUU after serving an LDS mission in New York City. As a human nutrition major and business management minor, Warren balanced a demanding academic schedule with work all while starting a family.

"My grandpa taught me the value of a good education and strong work ethic," said Warren. "I live my life by his advice - 'If it's worth doing at all, it's worth doing it well'"

Warren credits his academic success to his teachers and tutors who went out of their way to help him learn the material and maintain a 4.0. Focusing his studies on pre-pharmacy, he has already been accepted to the University of Utah's pharmacy program.

COLLEGE OF PERFORMING AND VISUAL ARTS

Mallory Petersen

As a child, Petersen always wanted to create and make something with her hands. Thinking creatively came easy to her. After graduating high school, she came to SUU with a scholarship and was impressed with the Art and Design program.

"As an artist, I am intrigued by detail," said Petersen. "I especially like to explore the little details I find in nature and the world around me, whether it be in raindrops, the human body, or even chrome."

After graduation, Petersen will continue to work as an employee at the Southern Utah Museum of Art and will continue to create art. Petersen never wants her art to become stressful. She said that wherever she ends up, she would like to work in a museum.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

Devron Johnson

Graduating with a bachelor's degree in accounting, Devron Johnson always knew he had a knack for numbers. Traveling to SUU from Delta, Utah, he made a connection with the campus through his caring professors.

"Professor Jeff Orton is the reason I will have a job after I graduate with my masters degree," said Johnson. "I went to his office one day to talk about a future career, where he proceeded to give me contact information for potential employers. I also admired Professor Price for his involvement outside of the classroom, and Professor Lewis for teaching me what it truly means to study."

Johnson now plans to continue his education at SUU through the Master of Accountancy program. From there he will work to pass the Certified Public Accountant exam before he starts work at EideBailly next January.

SUU is proud of the work these representatives of the Class of 2017 have accomplished. Bright futures and outstanding achievements await these six individuals and the entire SUU 2017 graduating class.

GATEWAY'S GREAT DAY

THE NATIONAL JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY AT GATEWAY ACADEMY had the privilege of going to the Mastermind Room Escape Challenge and then ate lunch at El Quetzal. They had an amazing time and loved every minute of it. The 2nd graders had a wonderful time at the Fire Station. They learned about what to do to prevent fires, how to escape in case of a fire and how to be safe. Everyone had a good learning experience. Thank you, Cedar City Fire Department.

April showers bring May flowers

The Rut LESS TRAVELED

by Corey BAUMGARTNER

The seasons of life are vast and varied. Some days are full of blue skies and cool breezes, while others are cloudy, dark and cold. Of course, we know that each season is necessary to keep the circle of life refreshed and renewed. I believe it is the same with the seasons of our lives. They are meant to help prepare the soil of our souls for the seeds of new dreams and renewed vows and goals that spring brings. Yes, all of us will experience winters of worry and loss, but these seemingly, seasons of treason, will pass and we will prevail over the veil of sorrow and find bright joys in our tomorrows. It sounds good, but when you're caught in the cold, those sunny days seem so far away.

I know it's not easy to believe the sun will ever shine again when the wintery chills of your challenges seem endless, but I promise you that the sun is still there and it will shine again. The snows will melt, the rains will stop, the clouds will flee and you will see the sun again. I know you can't see it now, and the rain has turned into a flood, but your season of change is coming. Keep your shovel, bulbs and seeds ready.

Yet, how can we hope for May flowers when we feel like we're being drowned by April showers? This is not an easy thing to do, but I'm sure you've heard it said that when the storms of life come, let us not stay inside complaining, but go outside and learn to dance in the rain. Easier said than done, but even if you don't have an umbrella or a partner, give it a try. It may sound silly, but I've learned in my life that I can either learn to dance, or just sit there and drown.

Now, just because you've learned to dance in the rain, or plant flowers on a cloudy day, doesn't mean you'll never face stormy seasons of doubt or distress again. But it does mean you'll be ready to not only endure them, but learn how to enjoy them more. And because of the things you've learned during your April showers, you will be more empowered to help others learn how to dance during their own storms and still plant their May flowers.

Remember, there's always a reason for the season. Some seasons are more difficult than others, but don't commit emotional treason and stop believing in yourself or living your life. No matter what difficult season you're going through right now, it really will pass. Don't be afraid of the storms of life. When they come, make sure you have and find friends and family with warm hearts and hearths. And if it happens to be raining, turn on the music and get out there and learn to dance!

Ground breaks in Cedar for Hispanic Christian church

by Holly COOMBS
holly@ironcountytoday.com

CEDAR CITY — A ground breaking for a new Christian church, specifically for the Hispanic community, took place last Wednesday at the church site at 1700 W. 250 North in Cedar City.

El-Shaddai God Almighty Church Pastor Hector Donis from St. George has found land to expand his ministry, which he currently has in St. George, to Cedar City with the coming of a new church to have an anticipated finish by the end of 2017.

"My vision is to help everybody to know Christ, worship the Lord and build the church, not only Hispanic community, but everybody," Donis said.

Donis' language is Spanish, which makes it easier for him to preach to a Hispanic congregation, but he said he hopes to get a translator and minister to people of other languages.

"I want to get equipment for a TV and have a social force to help around the world," Donis said. "We can use technology to reach others around the world."

With a Hispanic community of about 5,000 to 10,000 in Cedar City, he said he hopes for many to come join his congregation.

Rich Bontadelli, friend of Donis, has assisted in getting the church process going. He said the congregation in St. George meets three times per week and it will do so when the church is complete in Cedar City. There will be commuting to Cedar City for some of the congregation to participate.

"They are so excited and so happy and willing to help," Donis said. "I think it is a good thing to have a house of the Lord."

Bontadelli said Matt Hunt from Matt Hunt Custom Homes will be contracting and building the church.

"We had to wait for the city," Bontadelli said about the process of starting the church construction. "It had some changes with commercial permits. The electrical was a bigger hurdle with commercial code changes. That took some extra time."

Bontadelli, with help of the parishioners, has made the new church possible.

Donis said a prayer over the ground and dipped a shovel into the soil with a crowd of about 15 people in attendance at the church site.

Gregory S. Frehner

To write a traditional obituary for such a non-traditional person does not feel right. So let me proceed with the marvelous, extra-ordinary life of my brother and friend, Greg Frehner. On October 25, 1968, the cutest baby you ever did see was born in Las Vegas Nevada to excited parents, Clayton Frehner and Anna (Ann) Evon Sherratt Frehner. Little did they know the same words that would describe his mop of black hair, "crazy" "cute" and "has a mind of it's own," would describe the entire life of their first son.

I remember the day Greg received his first pair of eyeglasses. He was just three years old and my mother marveled as she saw her baby see the world in a whole new way. From that point on, Greg truly did see the world in his own way. He loved the earth God gave him. From the oceans to the rivers to the swamps and through the air, Greg adored every piece of it. The world has never known a more avid lover of God's creations.

When Greg was four, our family moved to Cedar City, Utah. Waiting for a home to be built we lived with our grandmother, Ila Gurr Sherratt Corry. Lucky us! Grandma Corry loved us so much and Greg developed a special bond with Grandma. It was in her home he began making friendships that would last a lifetime. So let's talk about them:

Greg had a larger than life personality. He was engaging, inclusive, and made friends wherever he went. Once made, friendships were forever. His childhood and teenage friends remained dear to his heart.

Greg was funny! Oh was he funny! A book could be written about his crazy antics and hilarious impressions

Greg was a thinker. He pondered on the plight of the less fortunate until his heart ached in pain. To see someone ostracized was almost more than Greg could handle. He sought to soothe the broken hearted.

Greg was a genius. Seriously. He made his mark on Northern Utah while receiving his education at Utah State University and University of Utah. He earned a double major in economics and finance. I'm not sure who learned more, Greg, or the professors who taught him. His education was mixed with a high dose of socialization.

Following college, Greg met the love of his life, Anne Tilton. He said she was the most beautiful woman he'd ever known. They were married November 21, 1992 and were later sealed for time and all eternity in the LDS San Diego temple. Sadly, after many years, this marriage ended in divorce, but their friendship lasted forever.

Anne came with an adorable bonus. A sweet blonde-haired three year old, Olivia. Greg loved her with all his heart. Olivia was later joined by two other beautiful little ladies, Hannah and Lauren. His family was his life. Greg did everything he could to provide them with a fun, adventurous and extravagant life.

In order to provide for his family, Greg used his intellect and creativity to establish Construction Claims and Management Consulting (CCMC.) His work was complicated. His presentations to prospective clients were Oscar worthy and won him impressive contracts.

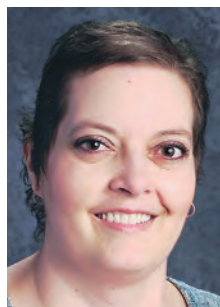

Greg's love for animals was unmatched. In college he purchased and loved the biggest iguana you've ever seen. He could be seen walking her on a leash. For many years, his pet monkey sat on his shoulder and went with him everywhere. He had exotic fish tanks containing gorgeous salt water creatures. One shark outgrew a tank and now resides at Mandalay Bay in Las Vegas. He always had a dog. At the time of his passing he shared life with "Lizzie," his bulldog.

Greg lived a large life. I cannot think of a dream he didn't follow or a place he didn't visit. He was kind beyond measure, generous to a fault and loved beyond words.

Most importantly, Greg had a love for his Father in Heaven and for his Savior, Jesus Christ. His prayers were fervent and heartfelt. He had a testimony of the Plan of Salvation and is likely embracing his father and telling the best jokes in Heaven. Greg is survived by his mother, Ann Frehner, his former wife, Anne Frehner, his children, Olivia Bettridge, Hannah Frehner, and Lauren Frehner. He is also survived by sisters, Natalie (John) Waters, Michele (Steve) Bryant, and brother, Cary Frehner. His nieces and nephews are also heartbroken at his loss as are so many friends.

Funeral services for Greg took place Saturday, April 29, 2017 at 10 a.m. in the LDS Cedar View Chapel (1925 W 320 S, Cedar City, Utah). Viewing was held Friday evening, April 28, at Southern Utah Mortuary (190 N 300 West, Cedar City, Utah). Viewing was held Saturday morning, April 29 at the LDS Cedar View building. Interment was in the Cedar City Cemetery under the direction of Southern Utah Mortuary. Online condolences can be made at www.sumortuary.com.

Thoughts from a relative in the Gray Bar Motel

Around THE CORNER

by Bernice REMBER
Columnist

I heard a voice a week or so ago. A voice that I had not heard for a long time but I knew who it was the minute I heard him laugh. I was going down the hall to a birthday party for his wife's Mother who had just turned 93 years old! Fun memories popped into my head and I was smiling by the time I made it to the lobby.

He looked a little older than I remembered him, but his laugh had not changed nor had his sense of humor. I mean Met Johnson is a man you could hardly forget! We had a good visit while we were eating ice cream and cake and he still made me laugh as we took a short trip down memory lane. So many things are stored in that little spot in our brain that lets us go back to the life we knew when we were younger and more full vim and vigor.

Anyway, welcome home Met and Lana and oh yes, one of their son's is also living in Cedar now.

This is going to be a different column today....there are so many things to write about that some days I have a hard time deciding which way I want to go.

I have a relative that is now spending some time at the facility in Gunnison, Utah, (known as The Gray Bar Motel) for a mistake he made a few years back. He really is a nice man and has a nice family that he rarely gets to see. Anyway, we try to keep in touch; I send him some of the columns I have written and, since he lived in Cedar for several years, he usually knows who or what I'm talking about. He in turn lets some of his friends there read them and one of them now writes a similar column for his fellow inmates of insight into life behind bars.

The title to one of his articles is SOME PRISONERS PLAY THE GAME OF LIFE WITHOUT A FULL DECK- which reads as follows:

"An officer who teaches a class here was talking about low-functioning individuals. He said to his class of prisoners, You guys have to put up with a bunch of morons every day, all who have had to live life without a full deck and that is hard to do. Whether that comes from a low IQ, mental illness, social ineptitudes, lack of education or physical and mental abuse, I believe many of these inmates are victims in their own right. "By that I simply mean we weren't all made equal and life is not always fair."

The article goes on to defend his statement and ends by saying "we hold everyone to the same standard even if they ultimately lack the capability to reach it. It's sad, but the line has been drawn."

The inmate that is writing these articles, appears to be in his early 30's, he is clean shaven and apparently quite well educated.

Well, I told you this was going to be a strange column but you read it anyway so Thank you. The next one I write will be a bit more fun..and remember "Life is short so. Smile, while you still have teeth." I read that little sign every time I pass the door of one of the inmates, oops I mean residents, here at Brookdale. See you around the corner!

PLAYOFF PUSH

Falcon soccer looks to continue success in playoffs

by Tom ZULEWSKI
Iron County Today

As the wins have piled up in the 2017 season, Canyon View boys soccer coach Spencer Davis hasn't had many reasons to worry for one big reason.

The Falcons are having fun, and the record has clearly reflected the attitude.

With 13 straight victories and a second Region 12 championship in tow, Canyon View is among the favorites to make a deep run in the 3A state playoffs that start Thursday with a home game against the Union Cougars, the No. 4 seed from Region 10. Kickoff is at 4 p.m.

"This is just a fun time of year," Davis said. "At the beginning of the year, you're stressing trying to get things figured out, positions, and getting everyone ready. At this point, it's more tweaking little things, letting them play and enjoying where we're at in the season that's going on."

Since a 2-1 loss at Cedar on March 9, Canyon View has produced five one-goal wins – including an overtime victory in the Region 12 opener at North Sanpete – and seven shutouts in the streak topped by a 1-0 victory at home over Region 9 champion Snow Canyon on March 21.

Even after a 3-0 win over Carbon on April 18 clinched the title and No. 1 playoff seed, the celebration was nothing out of the ordinary, mainly because the Falcons know chances to do extraordinary things are on tap in the next two weeks.

"We're still missing a lot of opportunities at goal that have to be goals as we move into the playoffs," said Davis, who is in his sixth season. "You can't miss five or six goals in the playoffs and expect to win. Every open chance has to be capitalized on."

CV will be facing a Union squad that finished with a 1-6-1 record in Region 10, but the lone win came over the Grantsville Cowboys on April 25 that helped secure the playoff spot. The Cougars scored just four goals in their region games, but allowed only 10 to the opposition.

Union will be challenged to slow down a Falcons offense that outscored Region 12 opponents 36-5 and saw 16 different players score at least one goal. With only five seniors on the roster, the winning streak has caught the attention of the entire school.

"With the students, teachers, even our principal, there's a fervor throughout the school talking about how well the boys are doing and how exciting it is," Davis said.

Adding to the motivation, the Falcons jumped up to the No. 1 spot in the latest 3A Deseret News rankings. Senior Daniel Velasco said the way the team has played throughout the season is helping build the confidence to new heights.

"There's trust in each other as teammates," Velasco said. "We know the one goal we have in mind. (The ranking) brings big pressure to us, and it will help us do better at state. We have to prove to them that they're not wrong."

Should the Falcons beat the Cougars, they would play the Dixie-Logan winner at home Saturday in a 1 p.m. kickoff. CV lost to Dixie in the season opener, 3-0, on March 7.

Cedar's McQuivey signs letter to swim for Mavericks

TOM ZULEWSKI

CEDAR HIGH SWIMMER BREI MCQUIVEY INKS A LETTER OF INTENT to swim for Colorado Mesa.

Cedar High swimmer Brei McQuivey knew she had the talent to swim at the collegiate level, but there was one small problem.

During an early-season practice, McQuivey hit her head on the wall and ended up with a concussion that cost her a shot at building her times among the best in the 3A ranks through the region and state meets.

It didn't derail McQuivey in the end as she signed her letter of intent April 27 to swim for the Colorado Mesa Mavericks, an NCAA Division II program out of Grand Junction.

"I wanted to go a little further away from home and have new experiences," McQuivey said before her signing in front of friends and family. "I loved the campus. Right when I got there, it felt like home. I was super-impressed with the facilities, the coaches and the team. It felt like a family."

Despite not being able to swim for most of her senior season, McQuivey had the opportunity to showcase her skills at a practice in front of CMU head coach Geoff Hanson. It left enough of an impression for the senior to get her chance.

"I was fortunate to have been seen already by the coach before the accident," McQuivey said.

McQuivey will be joining a Mavericks team that finished second at the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference championship meet this season and advanced to the NCAA Division II championships in Birmingham, Ala.

She is the fourth local athlete in this school year to sign to play at the collegiate level, joining Mason Fakahua (BYU, football), Quaid Murray (SUU, football) and Ethan Fletcher (Westminster College, soccer).

Canyon View inches closer to Region 12 title

by Tom ZULEWSKI
Iron County Today

The Canyon View baseball team put together three more wins on the diamond last week and moved closer to another Region 12 crown.

In the opener of a doubleheader April 25, the Falcons scored twice in the top of the seventh inning and held on for a 4-3 victory over the Carbon Dinos. Logan Ekker drove in two runs in the tight pitchers' duel and Trace Hardin earned the win on the mound. Cadyn Clark worked a scoreless bottom of the seventh to earn the save.

CV didn't waste any time in Game 2, scoring five runs in the first two innings and pounding out 19 hits on the way to a 14-4 rout. The Falcons put the game away with five runs in the top of the seventh.

Clark, Hardin and Colton Gochis had three hits apiece to lead the Falcons' offense.

Canyon View came home and finished the series sweep April 28 with an 11-5 victory over Carbon that improved their Region 12 mark to 8-1 on the season. The visiting Dinos closed within 4-3 after scoring a run in the top of the fifth, but the Falcons responded with two in the bottom of the inning and adding five more in the sixth.

Gochis hit a home run among CV's 11 hits in the win.

The Falcons close the regular season with a three-game set against Juab that will decide the Region 12 title. The winner of the series will win the crown, and it began with a doubleheader at Juab on Tuesday, a game that was too late for press deadline.

Across town, the Cedar Redmen saw their dreams of another postseason berth come to an end as they were swept by the Pine View Panthers last week. The two-time defending 3A state champions opened with a 9-1 victory in St. George on April 25, then shut out the Redmen 17-0 in five innings April 28.

Beaver did all of its damage early against Parowan, scoring five times in each of the first two innings, then adding three more runs in the third. Kanab scored four runs in the second and fourth, sandwiched around five runs in the third.

Lady Reds turn up power, close in on title

by Tom ZULEWSKI
Iron County Today

The Cedar Lady Reds head to the final week of the Region 9 season in firm control of its fate in pursuit of a championship. Bringing out the power bats has helped with the surge.

Thanks to five homers among 18 hits, Cedar opened last week with a 16-1 victory over the Dixie Flyers in just three innings on April 25 in its home finale for its seventh win in a row. After Dixie scored a run in the top of the first, Cedar responded emphatically with 10 in the bottom of the inning.

Dream Weaver and freshman Denim Henkel each hit two-run blasts to help the cause.

Allie Meisner and Pua Johnson went deep with two-run homers of their own with two out in the second inning that pushed the advantage even further, and freshman Brittanie Simcox finished off the win with one out in the bottom of the third with the fifth two-run shot of the game for the Lady Reds.

Dream Weaver, Japrix Weaver and Johnson each had three hits to lead Cedar in the win.

The Lady Reds kept up the pace with three more homers as they beat Hurricane in four innings by a 17-1 count to move to 8-0 in Region 9 play, a full game in front of Desert Hills heading to the final week.

Henkel and Sage Oldroyd hit two-run homers in the victory and Johnson added a grand slam.

Cedar played at Pine View on Tuesday in a game that was too late for press deadline. The Lady Reds will travel to face Desert Hills on Friday in a game that will likely decide the Region 9 champion who will stay home for the first round of the 3A playoffs.

Across town, the Canyon View softball team returned to action after a 15-day break and picked up a key victory by beating Carbon at home 6-4 on April 28. The Falcons improved to 4-3 in Region 12 play and 11-7 overall.

CV trailed 2-1 after the visiting Dinos got on the board in the top of the second, but they regained control with a four-run third inning and added valuable insurance with another run in the fifth.

Jordan Nielson picked up the victory in the circle for CV.

The Falcons had a pair of games this week, including a non-region matchup with Enterprise that was played Tuesday, a game too late for press deadline. They will close the Region 12 schedule with a rescheduled road game at Juab on Thursday.

Parowan finished its 2A South schedule by splitting a pair of matchups, winning 10-0 in five innings at Kanab on April 25, but falling to Beaver, 11-6 on April 28 to close in a tie with the Cowboys at 5-5 for third place.

Autumn Rogerson had a double and was staked to a 4-0 lead after two innings against the Cowboys before the Rams put the win away early with two runs in the fourth and four more in the fifth.

Against the Beavers, Parowan took a 3-2 lead after scoring a run in the top of the third, but Beaver countered with four runs in the bottom of the inning and two more in the fourth to take control.

The Rams close the regular season with a home game against Delta on Tuesday before finishing at South Sevier on Thursday.

Southern Utah women's basketball team has announced the signing of El Paso, Texas, native Natalie Sanchez.

"We are excited about the signing of Natalie Sanchez," head coach Chris Boettcher said. "One of the areas we as a team have struggled with over the past couple of years is consistent three-point shooting and we hope Natalie will help us change that. It's great to have another El Paso kid and we are excited about the energy and the passion she plays the game with."

Sanchez comes to Southern Utah after playing four years at the varsity level for Burges High School in El Paso. During her time at Burges, Sanchez played in 123 games and averaged 14.4 points, 3.4 assists, 3.7 rebounds, and 3.5 blocks per game. She was named Newcomer of the Year after her freshman season and was named to the 1-5A First Team All-District in her sophomore and junior seasons.

Her junior season was where the accolades really started to roll in as she was named to the First Team All-City, TABC All-Region, TGCA All-State, TGCA All-Star teams. After her senior season Sanchez was named the 1-5A All-District MVP and the El Paso Greater Coaches Association MVP. She was also named to the TABC All-Region, TGCA All-State, TGCA All-Star teams for the second consecutive year and the TABC All-State team for the first time. Sanchez also earned the honor of being a McDonald's All-American nominee.

Sanchez has also been named to various All-Tournament teams throughout her career including the Alamogordo VFW Holiday team, the McDonald's Classic team, the San Antonio Invitational team, and the Loretto Tournament team.

Sanchez is the cousin of current Thunderbird Rebecca Cardenas.

Golfers earn conference honors

Three members of the SUU men's golf team were honored by the Big Sky

Conference today, including junior Fidel Concepcion being named All-Big Sky First Team following a stellar regular season of competition for the Thunderbirds.

During the course of the season Concepcion was named Big Sky Men's Golfer of the Week four different times. Concepcion is currently in a tie for 43rd in the entire country when it comes to average score, sitting right at a 71 per round through 28 rounds played.

"Fidel is very deserving of this recognition," SUU head

Fellow freshman Ali Hameed was also recognized by the Big Sky with Honorable Mention status. Hameed also had a very strong freshman season for SUU, with an average score of 75.43 in the 28 rounds he played. His best finish of the season was a tie for 18th at the OGIO Utah Invitational.

"This is a nice accomplish-

Playoff notes and other goodness

Hard to believe, but the 2017 calendar has already turned to May. That means warmer weather – although one doesn't always know for certain when it changes around these parts – graduations, and high-school playoff time.

As your public service, here's a quick primer on what's going on.

Soccer and 2A baseball start their march toward championship titles this week. Canyon View soccer takes its 13-game winning streak – tied with 2A school Millard for longest in the state – into the 3A playoff opener Thursday against the Union Cougars, the No. 4 seed from Region 10.

Last season, the Falcons made history by winning a playoff game for the first time. Head coach Spencer Davis admitted the 2-1 victory over crosstown rival Cedar took the energy out of them as they dropped a 3-1 game at home to Logan in the quarterfinals.

There are no such issues this time around, and the Falcons are well-adjusted to what it will take to make a deep playoff run. Even with the added pressure that's come from a No. 1 ranking by the Deseret News, Davis said it's given the team a benchmark that's clearly added to the motivation.

When it comes to doing what it takes to be successful, comedic actor Steve Martin said in a 2015 interview with Charlie Rose, "be so good, they can't ignore you." Canyon View's soccer team has clearly arrived and they know they have as good a shot as the rest of the favorites in the field to be at Rio Tinto Stadium on May 13.

On the baseball side, Enterprise finished a game behind Beaver and Kanab as the No. 3 seed from 2A South. The Wolves open defense of its state title against either Manti or Delta on Saturday at Gunnison.

As 3A baseball heads to its final week, Canyon View has won eight in a row and has a simple mission, needing only to beat Juab twice in this week's three-game series to claim the Region 12 title and host the first-round pod in the playoffs that begin next Saturday.

After struggling to find its offense and dropping the region opener in a seventh-inning heartbreaker at Richfield on April 5, the Falcons are averaging more than 11 runs per game in its winning streak.

On the softball side, Cedar has been swinging the bat with enough ferocity to make the Incredible Hulk look tame. The Lady Reds hit eight home runs – all with runners on base – in two big routs last week and are in firm control of their fate.

Cedar leads Desert Hills by one game with two remaining, including a showdown between the teams at the Thunder's home field Friday. If DH wins and pulls even with the Lady Reds to share the Region 9 crown, a coin flip will be needed to determine who stays home to host in the first round of the 3A playoffs next Saturday.

Across town, Canyon View heads to the final week tied with the North Sanpete Hawks for second place in Region 12 at 4-3 with a game remaining. Both teams play their final game against Juab, who has allowed just four runs in six region wins.

RANDOM Thoughts

by Tom ZULEWSKI
Sports Writer

Cedar softball has been swinging the bat with enough ferocity to make the Incredible Hulk look tame

If the potential tiebreaker puts the Falcons in as the No. 3 seed, they will open the 3A playoffs against either Desert Hills or Cedar – the second-place finisher from Region 9 – at the home of the Region 10 champion. If CV is No. 2, that opponent becomes Region 9's No. 3 – either Snow Canyon or Hurricane – and that game would be played at the Region 11 champ.

Parowan softball finished the regular season tied with Kanab for third in 2A South with a 5-5 record. With the tiebreaker still to be determined, the Rams will open the 2A playoffs at Spanish Fork on May 11 against Manti, South Summit or South Sevier.

Canyon View completes region run; win streak hits 13

by Tom ZULEWSKI

Iron County Today

The wins just keep on coming for the Canyon View boys soccer team.

The Falcons completed another pair of wins this week to finish a second straight perfect season in Region 12 play and head into the 3A state playoffs with serious momentum.

Scott Sanders scored twice and four teammates joined in the scoring parade as CV opened the week April 25 with a 6-0 shutout on the road at Richfield. The Falcons scored five times in the opening half before coasting to the win.

Kellen Bowdin, Mark Gibson, Tyler Wheeler and Tyson Davis also scored in the victory.

Canyon View came home for the regular-season finale April 28 and stretched its winning streak to 13 in a row with its fourth straight shutout, 2-0 over Juab. The Falcons finished with a 13-2-0 overall record and will open the playoffs Thursday at home against Union, the No. 4 seed from Region 10.

Should CV advance, they will face the Dixie-Logan winner in the quarterfinals Saturday.

Across town, the Cedar Redmen also reached the 3A playoffs for the second year in a row, coming through with a 2-0 victory on the road at Pine View on April 25. Abe Brower and Ethan Fletcher scored for Cedar in the win.

Despite falling to Desert Hills 2-1 on April 28, the Redmen still qualified as the No. 4 seed from Region 9 for the 3A state playoffs by virtue of the Panthers' 1-0 loss to Dixie. Cedar got a first-half goal from Jaden Carver before the Thunder rallied behind two second-half goals from Kelton Hunt to earn the victory.

Cedar finished with a 2-7-1 Region 9 record and will travel to play Ridgeline, the No. 1 seed from Region 11, in its playoff opener Thursday at 4 p.m.

Parowan closed the regular season with a tie and a loss and did not qualify for the 2A playoffs. The Rams played to a 3-3 tie at Beaver on April 20 and finished with a 3-2 loss at Diamond Ranch that gave them a 1-10-1 record in 2A South play. No further details were available.

Southern Utah University has entered into a 7-year partnership extension with adidas.

"adidas has provided a first class partnership over the last 14 years," SUU director of athletics Jason Butikofer said. "The ability to elevate our relationship in a way that significantly impacts our student-athletes is paramount to our current priorities. It is with great gratitude that I take this opportunity to thank adidas for their continued support; I look forward to continuing to build our partnership for years to come."

With the new all-school deal, the Portland, Ore., based company will be the official athletic footwear, apparel, equipment and accessory brand of the Thunderbirds through the 2023-24 season. In addition to all 17 intercollegiate athletic Thunderbird teams, adidas will also provide apparel and accessories for coaches and athletic staff.

"This partnership extension is a great opportunity for adidas to continue our collaborative
