ARREST MADE IN ENOCH FOR ATTEMPTED AGGRAVATED MURDER

by Kelsey KEENER
Iron County Today

ENOCH — Enoch City Police officers and Iron County Sheriff's deputies were dispatched to 4596 North Enoch Road in Enoch Sunday at 1:53 a.m. after dispatch received a call of a man screaming for help.

According to a press release from the Iron County Attorney's Office, a female called dispatch to report the man screaming for help. The alleged victim also called dispatch to report being stabbed.

When officers arrived on scene and made contact with the alleged victim, they noticed he was covered in blood and had several wounds consistent with being stabbed and assaulted. The release also states that large amounts of blood were found inside the house and the carport area outside the house.

As the alleged victim was being treated by medical personnel, he identified his assailant to officers as John Oshley. The alleged victim was transported to the hospital and remained in critical condition as of our press deadline on Monday afternoon.

Officers obtained a search warrant for Oshley's home and executed it. Clothes and a weapon were found in a residential garbage can near the alleged suspect's home that contained large amounts of blood. A vehicle outside Oshley's residence was also searched and officers found more blood in the vehicle.

Oshley would not answer questions or make a statement when officers attempted to interview him, according to the release. Further evidence was found to indicate that the alleged suspect entered a dwelling unlawfully and assaulted the alleged victim with a knife, who reportedly sustained multiple life-threatening stab wounds.

John Weston Oshley was arrested by Enoch City Police Department and booked into the Iron County Jail on two first-degree felonies: Attempted Aggravated Murder and Aggravated Burglary of a Dwelling.

It's been said that the children are our future. However, if they aren't given a future of their own, how can they be our future? That's why the education of the children in the Iron County School District is so crucial to our community.

Within the nine elementary schools in the ICSD, there are 700 students with special needs. Thanks to a new partnership between the ICSD, Mark Bradshaw, owner and GM of Bradshaw Chevrolet and Douglas Keck, Director of Development for Cars for Kids, several Pumper Cars will be delivered to each school to help provide some creative, fun and therapeutic assistance for these students.

Rural health scholars teach suicide prevention

CEDAR CITY — Suicide is the 10th leading cause of death in the United States, with Utah ranked 5th in the country for suicide death rate. With such alarming numbers, Southern Utah University's Rural Health Scholars (RHS) decided it was time to get involved.

Ryan Lofthouse, a senior pre-med student with RHS, organized and facilitated a Question, Persuade and Refer (QPR) Training for all first year RHS students. QPR is an emergency mental health intervention designed to help those struggling with suicidal ideation.

"I got an internship at Southwest Behavioral Health Center in Suicide prevention," said Lofthouse in a release. "They trained me in QPR, and I thought the opportunity to help prevent suicide among the youth in this area would be a really meaningful experience. Now I have been able to help teach classes to faculty at several local schools, college students, and adults in the community."

Suicide is the leading preventable cause of death, which is why RHS students are taking action. QPR teaches people how to recognize the warning signs, and though it is not a form of counseling or treatment, it has already made changes in places where it is being taught. It has often been thought that talking about suicide puts the idea in someone's head, but that is not the case. QPR training encourages friends and family of those struggling with suicidal ideation to question the person struggling and try to rekindle hope without rushing to judgment.

"I absolutely love this training program," said Samuel Stewart, a sophomore biology major who is QPR-trained. "I think this needs to be taught nationwide to every single person. I went through QPR training in high school and it helped me get help for a friend that almost took his own life. I owe so much to this kind of training."

"As a suicide survivor, it is nice to see that people actually care and go through training to help others out," said another student who has gone through the training with RHS who wishes to remain anonymous.

Often times those with suicidal thoughts think they cannot be helped, but a friend or loved one can use QPR to persuade them to get help. There are additional resources in Cedar City..

FIRE CLAIMS ENOCH HOME

THE CEDAR CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT RESPONDED TO A CALL about a structure fire that began around 5 a.m. Jan. 23. The fire occurred at a single-family residence located on Mustang Road in Enoch and firefighters were on the scene for approximately six hours extinguishing the fire and doing salvage and overhaul operations. The fire resulted in a total loss of the home, but residents were able to evacuate and no injuries were reported. At the time of the fire, officials believed the point of origin for the fire was in the area where the fire place chimney goes through the attic. The cause of the fire was later determined to be the stove pipe making contact with the cellulose insulation in the attic. kelsey@ironcountytoday.com

Cedar City short-term rental regulations pass

by Kelsey KEENER
Iron County Today

CEDAR CITY — An ordinance amending the regulation of short-term rentals was passed during last week's city council meeting.

After going through a citizens' meeting in October of last year and Planning Commission earlier this month, a version of the amendment was proposed to city council during the Jan. 16 meeting and passed during last week's meeting.

As it was proposed to the council during last week's meeting, the amendment stated several regulations for short-term rentals: there was language restricting renting consecutively and requiring the rental to remain compatible with residential uses; there must be one parking space per bedroom; the owner assumes responsibility for his or her guests; the rental cannot be used for any purposes not incidental to normal residential use; the owner must certify that the rental is not in violation of any Home Owner's Associations or Covenants, Conditions and Restrictions.

The business license application section of the ordinance requires the owner of the rental to initial by all the requirements in order to show that the individual understands the laws he or she must abide by. The application requires the address of the rental, proof of liability insurance, proof of adequate parking, the lodging tax number, a diagram of the bedrooms and parking, designation of a local property owner who can respond to complaints within 24 hours.

The license procedure also requires the owner of the rental to give notice to neighbors within a 300-foot radius by standard mail or hand delivery. An occupancy limit was set to two per bedroom, plus two per home with a maximum of 10. Three or more citations within a one-year period will result in a suspended or revoked business license. The ordinance also recommends safety features such as fire extinguishers, adequate ingress and egress and smoke and carbon monoxide detectors.

After deliberation, Councilwoman Terri Hartley made a motion to approve the ordinance with the exceptions of parking requirements being determined by the zone the rental is located in, requiring smoke and carbon monoxide detectors rather than suggesting them and amending the occupancy limit to two guests per bedroom, plus four per house.

Hartley's motion passed 4-1.

Opinion

Trump's tantrum on 'the wall' didn't work after all

The opinions stated in this article are solely those of the author and not of Iron County Today.

The government shutdown may have ended but not the finger pointing. I was never a fan of Nancy Pelosi, but in the past few weeks Donald Trump made Pelosi look like the articulate adult in the room. (She should send The Donald a Christmas gift.)

Whether you support or oppose the Wall – remember, the one that Mexico would pay for, not the U.S. taxpayer – the issue surrounding the impasse is quite simple. Any man or woman who has ever raised a child should understand.

If your child blurted out, “I’m not going back to school unless you take me to Disneyland this summer!” I doubt any of you would say, “I understand your point, now let’s compromise.”

No, you wouldn’t let a seven-year old dictate rules and hold the household hostage.

Yet this is exactly what our President was doing. If he didn’t get his way on building his beautiful wall and coercing $5 billion from the taxpayers, he’d close down the government and make us a nation of unwilling (and so far, uncooperative) hostages.

Faced with his temper tantrum – the “my way or the highway” approach – it is understandable why the Democrats refused to acquiesce. If they “gave in” on this issue, would he again shut down the government the next time he didn’t get his way?

And the whole affair was made even more unsavory by the glib and heartless comments of Trump and his advisors regarding the furloughed workers, from “get a part-time job” (Trump) to “go out and get a loan” (Trump’s Secretary of Commerce) to “I don’t know anyone who lives paycheck to paycheck.”

Trump’s idea of “compromise” allowing the “Dreamers to stay in the country for only a few years more” is cruel and ludicrous. As Utah’s newest House member, Ben McAdams, said, “All this does is kick the can down the road.” Under the President’s plan, he gets his wall without any permanent solution to our immigration mess. That’s not a solution; it’s a shell game.

The public is understandably angry, but polling shows most Americans saw through the partisan bickering. When it comes to whom they hold most accountable for the shutdown, Trump was blamed more than the Democrats by nearly a two-to-one margin. That shouldn’t be surprising. In his televised meeting with Democratic leaders, the President boasted that he would feel honored to close down the government.

By a similar 2-to-1 margin Americans reject the idea of government closure being tied to Trump’s wall, and a solid majority reject the fear-mongering claims that immigration – legal or illegal – is directly linked to criminal activity. In fact, after Trump’s presidential address highlighting the need for a wall, 49 percent said it was “mostly misleading” compared to 32 percent who thought Trump was accurate.

With the Democrats in charge of the House and with Trump’s popularity diving to some 35 percent, a betting man would not put his chips on the President.

To look presidential, he would open up the government, agree with the Democrats to spend an increased amount of money on effective border security, accept the fact that the “Dreamers” are more fully American than they are tied their place of birth, and start acting like a reasonable adult, not a tantrum-throwing kid who didn’t get his sucker from the bank teller.

Expand Medicaid

Dear Editor:

On November 6, Utah voters passed Proposition 3 and finally put to rest a years-long debate. Voters choose to fully expand the Medicaid program as directed under the law, without relying on waiver approval from the Trump administration. Now, Medicaid expansion must be implemented, with enrollment beginning on April 1, as the voters decided. Vulnerable Utahns cannot wait another day to get the care they need. For some individuals, this is the help they’ve been waiting for in order to get healthy and get back to work. For others, this is the key to finally access lifesaving medical treatment before it’s too late.

Yet recent news indicates that an effort to repeal the expansion under Proposition 3 is being considered by members of the Utah legislature. They claim the ballot initiative to expand Medicaid, now Utah state law, must be repealed and replaced with their plan, which would indefinitely delay access to care.

Any delay or significant change to Proposition 3 is a repeal of the will of the people. Calling legislative actions “fixes,” “tweaks,” or “amendments” may soften the language around repeal, but it won’t soften the harmful impact.

The Utah state legislature had six years to put together a Medicaid expansion, but it took the public to step up and get it done. Now, the same elected officials who trusted your vote to put them into office evidently don’t trust your vote to expand Medicaid. Contact your legislators and the governor today and stand up for your vote, and for the health and well-being of your neighbors.

Changes to Cedar City taxicab ordinance approved

by Kelsey KEENER
Iron County Today

CEDAR CITY — Changes proposed to the city ordinance regulating the requirements to receive a taxicab driver permit were approved by the Cedar City Council during last week's meeting.

Owner of Soul Taxi LLC John Word approached the council during the Jan. 16 meeting to discuss changes to the ordinance regulating taxi driver requirements to make it easier to obtain a permit from the city. He explained that he wanted to see these changes in order to be able to give people second chances.

The changes Word originally suggested included updating the ordinance to restrict permits being issued to individuals with felony theft crimes and felony drug crimes, rather than any theft or drug crime. He also asked that surveillance cameras be required by the city and for an easier route to acquiring a temporary permit.

After discussion between Word, city staff and council members during last week's meeting, city council approved some changes to the ordinance: permits will only be restricted from those with Class

A misdemeanors or higher drug or theft offenses; the time period restricting eligibility was lowered from five years to one year; and to receive a temporary permit, a background check will not be required upfront.

City Attorney Tyler Romeril explained that sometimes getting a state-issued background check can convictions on their records.

"I think at some point we need to give somebody a second chance and I recently hired a person not that long ago that had a felon and I was really worried about it because of the nature of the thing and he's turned out to be one of my best employees and he's so grateful that I gave him a second chance ... I'm sure there's some risks but I think we need to err on the side of compassion."

Councilwoman Terri Hartley expressed concern over public safety due to the nature of taxicab business. Councilman Scott Phillips stated he felt five years was too long to restrict eligibility.

"People can make a lot of changes in their lives in the course of five years," Phillips said. "As Councilwoman Hartley indicated it is a public safety issue for our streets and the people on our streets, but at the same token I'm inclined to agree with Councilman Cozzens that we do need to help people."

Council members and city staff did not see a reason to make a government regulation requiring surveillance cameras in taxicabs.

The vote was unanimous to approve the aforementioned changes to ordinance Chapter 34.

take a few weeks.

"That request itself staff didn't have an issue with," Romeril said. "That does take some time and we will do an initial background check just through our ability to access the court system."

During discussion, Councilman Paul Cozzens said he has individuals come through his business who have

Student investment project earns donation for SUU

CEDAR CITY — During the 2018 fall semester, Tyler Pettit of D.A. Davidson Wealth and Management Companies presented Southern Utah University's School of Business with a check donation of $2,757. The check reflected earnings generated from the D.A. Davidson student investment program by the SUU Investment Scholars Group.

The Investment Scholars Group provides students with a career vision, analytical tools, and personal investment experience. As one of the responsibilities of the Investment Scholars Group, students are accountable for managing an investment fund to gain real-life, hands-on experience with portfolio management and stock research. Students are provided the opportunity to invest real money into the stock market with the help of the D.A. Davidson Student Investment Program.

For the program, D.A. Davidson presents $50,000 each year to the SUU Investment Scholars student team. Over the course of the year, the nine students work with alumni and industry professionals serving in the Investment Scholars Group Advisory Board to invest and manage the money in the stock market. The group meets regularly to evaluate the portfolio, deciding whether to buy or sell in order to earn the greatest return. At the end of the year, half of any earnings gained over 5 percent are donated to the team's school, and any losses are absorbed by D.A. Davidson.

"Beyond the returns, however, we believe the greatest benefit of this program is the hands-on education for the students involved," said Jacquie Burchard, Vice President and Public Relations Manager of D.A. Davidson. "This includes a wide range of topics and skill sets, including portfolio management, equity research, communications and teamwork, and more."

The Southern Utah University Investment Scholars have been working with D.A. Davidson since 2011. The team performed especially well during this past program year, achieving a 16 percent return on their investment. Due to their excellent gains, the team earned more than $2,700 for the school.

"As a student, I'm given the resources and opportunities to go out and research a company to make a stock pitch," said senior finance major Cole Einerson. "We collaborate together and practice stock pitches to a board of alumni now working in the investment world. They give us feedback and suggestions on what we did well and what we could improve. While managing the fund is what draws attention to our group, it is much more than just what students see in the spotlight. It is a resource for students to prepare to hit the ground running when they graduate."

D.A. Davidson provides this opportunity to 20 Western and Midwestern Colleges and Universities. For the 2017-2018 program year, D.A. Davidson gave out their second largest donation since the company began donating profits 24 years ago. $70,758 from the program was donated to participating schools this year alone.

Learn something new with SUU Community Education

by Kelsey KEENER
Iron County Today

Upcoming classes offered by Southern Utah University's Community Education will give residents of southern Utah the opportunity to try something new.

The Cedar City Community Band begins Feb. 6 and is concert band for those from southern Utah with prior band performance experience. The goal of the seminar is to give opportunities for participants to develop instrumental performance skills through rehearsing and performing music. High school-aged and older participants are welcome.

Director of Bands and Brass Studies Adam Lambert will be teaching the community band. Lambert is also the conductor of the American Fork Symphony and the assistant conductor of the Orchestra of Southern Utah. He holds a music education degree from Brigham Young University and a doctorate in trumpet performance from the University of North Texas.

The first section of Firewise Landscaping will begin Feb. 21 and teach participants about the science of wildfires and how to prepare their homes and landscaping for wildfire season. Associate professor of biology Jacqueline Grant will instruct learners about how vegetation, construction and a safety plan can help produce a safer home during a wildfire event. Discussion on the meaning of a fire-adapted community and coexisting with naturally occurring wildfires will also be part of the course. Interested participants are also invited to bring photos of plants or areas that may cause concern for assessment.

Visit suu.edu/wise for more information on these classes and others offered this spring, or call 435-865-8259. The SUU Office of Community and Academic Enrichment is located at 136 west University Boulevard, suite 003 in Cedar City.

Zone changes approved by Cedar council

by Kelsey KEENER
Iron County Today

CEDAR CITY — Zone changes, a general land use plan amendment and a vicinity plan were approved during last week's Cedar City Council meeting. A zone change for property located at 237 North 40 West from Dwelling, Multiple Unity (R-3-M) and Highway Services to Mixed Use was approved. The property owner requested the zone change because previously there were two zones that ran across the property and the zone change allows for a larger day care center to be operated than was previously allowed. A zone change and general land use plan amendment were passed for property located near 231 West 3000 North. The zone was changed from Annex Transition to Residential Estate and the land use plan was amended from Medium Density Residential and Business and Light Manufacturing to Rural Estate Residential.

The changes received a position recommendation from Planning Commission. The vicinity plan for Cedar Edge Phase II was approved during last week's meeting as well after receiving a position recommendation from Planning Commission. Vista Development is developing the project, which is located in the area of 1300 west Shurtz Canyon Drive. The project will total 52 units of two to four-bedroom townhomes.

2019 ICHBA board members are installed

by Kelsey KEENER
Iron County Today

CEDAR CITY — The 2019 Iron County Home Builders Association President and board members, as well as recognition awards, were announced during the annual banquet luncheon last Thursday. Following a review of events and projects completed last year, 2018 award winners were announced. Heath Oveson was recognized in memoriam for "Lifetime Service to Building in Iron County" and Shon Wilson was recognized in memoriam for "Lifetime Service to Building and Development in Cedar City." Associate Member of the Year was awarded to Janice Steffensen, of J&E Property Management. Alex Meisner of Alex Meisner Construction received Builder Member of the Year. The award for "Extraordinary Contribution to Builders Property Rights" was given to Jonathan Wood of Pacific Legal Foundation and Mat Munson of People for the Ethical Treatment of Property Owners. Wood also served as the keynote speaker for the luncheon. He was the lead attorney on a federal court case involving PETPO and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service that followed strict regulations put in place regarding management of prairie dogs. The case was won in favor of PETPO and the state of Utah and Iron County were able to take over management of the Utah Prairie Dog. Wood reported the success in local management programs has resulted in positive relationships between local and federal entities, and property owners and builders. After Wood's keynote presentation, the 2019 ICHBA Board of Directors and President were installed. Adam Hahn of Hahn Electrical Services was announced as the 2019 ICHBA President. This year's board members are Tom Braun, Roger Thomas, Mark Melling, Robert Cox, Ben Batty, Andy Funderburk, Bruce Kuykendall, Logan Obering, Ryan Carter, Jasen Chandler, Kathy Long, Kyle Torgerson and Andrew Losee.

PUMPER CAR

Michigan determined that there was a connection between the heart and the brain from the action of pulling with the hands and pushing with the feet," shared Keck. He continued, "The impact of what is going to take place in these elementary schools will be significant. It happens in every school where these children have an opportunity to do something that makes them feel good inside." Kevin Garrett, Director of Special Programs for the ICSD is looking forward to the potential of the Pumper Car to help the children, their teachers and their families. "We should see immediate results by creating behaviors for these children that they can look forward to doing during the day," he said. "It has a two or even three-fold potential as something exciting for the children to do but can also be used for physical therapy." ICSD Superintendent, Shannon Dulaney agreed. "We're always interested in anything that helps our kids progress," she said. "It will certainly also help the instructors during the day to have some positive leverage as well as some physical therapy." While the Pumper Cars will remain at the schools, the good news is that they are FDA approved. This means that for those families wishing to purchase one, but may not have sufficient financing, their doctor can write a prescription and Medicaid will help cover the cost of the car. With all the benefits for the student, their families and their teachers, the real rewards are found not only in providing mobility and physical therapy but in helping to improve their confidence through new experiences. This can create greater feelings of acceptance and accomplishment in the classroom and at home. To learn more about the Pumper Car, visit: www.pumpercar.com

Camp Kesem accepting summer camp signups

CEDAR CITY — Camp Kesem at Southern Utah University, a nationwide community driven by passionate college student leaders that supports children through and beyond their parent's cancer, is now accepting online applications for its free summer camp session. To learn more or to register a child, visit www.kesem.org.

The purpose of "Children Impacted by a Parent's Cancer Month" in January is to bring attention to the needs of the over 5 million children in our country who have been impacted by a parent's cancer.

In the summer of 2018, nearly 9,000 children attended free summer camps during over 100 week-long sessions of Camp Kesem held at fun and exciting sites from coast-to-coast. Camp Kesem is organized locally in Southern Utah by dedicated students from Southern Utah University. In summer 2019, Camp Kesem at Southern Utah University will host 120 from July 15 - 20 at Camp Wapiti in Tooele, Utah.

Camp Kesem is the largest national organization dedicated to this unique population. This camping experience and Kesem's year-round support has a lasting impact on children by providing them a peer-support network that understands their unique needs, builds confidence and strengthens their communication skills.

Children attending Camp Kesem will participate in a host of fun activities including zip lining, swimming, and even a whole day deemed "messy Olympics" where the kids and counselors do activities from shaving cream hair make overs to a paint fight. Nightly "Cabin Chats" allow campers to open up to their peers and counselors.

Camp Kesem is organized by dedicated students at Southern Utah University who work year long to plan and fundraise for an impactful week of camp. Student volunteers and counselors experience leadership development and undergo extensive training prior to camp. Camp Kesem is provided free of charge to all participating families and is therefore supported by private donations and community support. It was founded at SUU in 2011.

St. George LDS Temple closing for renovations

by Klarissa WILLIAMS
Iron County Today

It was announced last week that the St. George Temple of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be closing later this year for renovations. Church President Russell M. Nelson first announced plans to restore and update the "pioneer generation temples" in the state of Utah in October of 2018. These plans will later include the temples in Logan, Manti, and Salt Lake City, though plans for those temples have yet to be announced.

The renovation of the St. George Temple is to begin the first week of November 2019 and the temple will be closed until the expected completion in 2022. During the closure, the nearby temples in Cedar City, completed in 2017, and Las Vegas, built in 1989, are expected to remain open.

The St. George temple was the first temple to be built in Utah and is the oldest temple still in operation by the church. Construction of the St. George temple was completed in 1877 and it was first dedicated by Daniel H. Wells. It underwent an overhaul and remodeling in 1975 and was re-dedicated.

In addition to the remodeling of the St. George temple, President Nelson announced plans for the construction of 12 new temples around the world, including Washington County, Utah. This new temple will be the second temple in the county and the 20th in the state, with 17 built and three planned.

RED ROCK FILM EARNS OSCAR NOMINATION

One of the more sought out films at last year's Red Rock Film Festival was a little animated short from Taiko Studios called "One Small Step," enough so that it won the Audience Award for Animated Short. Those who voted a good score at the Festival should be happy that the film earned its directors Bobby Pontillas and Andrew Chesworth an Oscar nomination after the Utah premiere at Red Rock.

"One Small Step" is about a young Chinese American girl who dreams of becoming an astronaut. Supported by her humble father, Luna endeavors to make her dreams come true.

Both Chesworth and Pontillas were animators on Disney films such as "Wreck-It Ralph," "Frozen," "Big Hero 6," "Zootopia," and "Moana." Pontillas' next project is as a character designer for the animated feature "Spies in Disguise" starring Will Smith and Chesworth's next project is as an animator for the animated film "Klaus" about a postman who discovers where Santa Claus is hiding out.

The Red Rock Film Festival's judges also scored the 8-minute animated film high enough to win Best Animation Short as well as giving the film a special Achievement Award for Character Animation. Other Special Achievements from the Animation category included Boriša Simović and Kosta Rakićević's "Echo" for Scenic Design Animation and Simon Lehembre's animated music video Marche par Marche (Step by Step) for Animation Technique.

The Animation Short judges were all Festival alum and included actor/cg artist Michael Naphan, animator/director Yulia Ruditskaya and animator/director Tim Reckart whose film "Head Over Heels" was nominated for an Oscar and played at Red Rock in 2013. Of the animated short "One Small Step," Tim

Original choreographed dance concert

CEDAR CITY — SUU's Department of Theatre Arts & Dance will present Public Displays: An Original Choreographed Dance Concert on February 1, 2, 8, and 9, at 7:30 p.m. and February 2 and 9 at 2 p.m., in the Randall L. Jones Theatre. Tickets are $10 for adults, $8 for alumni with card, and $5 for youth. SUU faculty, staff, and students can get in free with a valid ID card. Tickets can be purchased at the America First Event Center Box Office, at the door the night of the performance, or online at www.suu.edu/pva.

Faculty, student, and guest artist choreographers create pieces that are performed by SUU students for the spring dance concert. These pieces are an interpretation of the choreographer's experiences and observations. Hard work, heart, soul, and dedication go into these performances.

Averi Christiansen, a junior majoring in dance performance and marketing, shares, "I had the wonderful opportunity to choreograph a piece for Public Displays. It has been so rewarding to see the dancers progress during each rehearsal and enjoy the movement they have been given. The best part about being a choreographer is seeing all of the working parts come together. When the dancers' hard work pays off, when the lighting design accentuates the movement, and the costume adds to the mood of the piece, I can't help but be happy that my choreographic vision has come true. Southern Utah University's Dance Department is making its name in the dance world, thanks to the talented faculty members. Dancers are training longer, harder, and are being prepared to enter this field of work. The community is strongly encouraged to attend- not just to be entertained and see what is next in dance- but that culture relies on the the arts!"

The concert also features Burch Mann's original choreography from the repertoire of the American Folk Ballet restaged by Lise Mills. A Night at Big Bill Broonzy's and Rampart Street Parade are dances that are fun and full of energy. Burch Mann loved the ragtime tap and ballroom style that inspired these dances. Each year we present a Burch Mann masterpiece to assure her extraordinary talent is not lost. These dances are sponsored in part by Rocky Mountain Power.

Kayla Nelson, a junior majoring in dance education, expresses, "It is rewarding to work with such amazing and down-to-earth students and faculty. I love when I have that 'light bulb' moment where I am finally able to grasp a concept or a move that the choreographer has been asking of me. This production has taught me that I have capabilities beyond what I thought

"I can't help but be happy that my choreographic vision has come true"

I did. It has pushed me physically and mentally to new capacities and I have experienced immense growth because of it."

Beat the bleak midwinter with the Maxwell Quartet

by Mary Anne ANDERSEN
Cedar City Arts Council

The day was uncharacteristically gloomy for Cedar City, not only cold but cloudy and gray, with uncomfortable wind. As I walked to church with my husband, clutching my coat closed with one hand—why hadn't I worn a scarf?!—and my book bag in the other, hitting annoyingly against my legs, I said, "Tis bleak midwinter". Which made my husband burst into song:

*In the bleak midwinter, frosty wind made moan,
Earth stood hard as iron, water like a stone;
Snow had fallen, snow on snow, snow on snow,
In the bleak midwinter, long ago.*

I knew the song. It was the choral setting of a beautiful poem by Christina Rossetti, the gifted daughter born into a highly talented family of Victorian poets. Although it has been decades since I have sung it, the words and the melancholy melody have never left my memory.

And then it occurred to me that that is what the "season" is for, meaning the rounds of entertainment and culture that have always characterized the winter season in polite society. When the weather prohibits outdoor adventure, people have always gone to the theater or concert hall to distract themselves from the bleakness of the weather.

And after the holidays, things would be grim indeed without our own cultural events to look forward to. Think Cedar Valley Community Theatre's production of "James and the Giant Peach," upcoming Orchestra of Southern Utah concerts, the Playmakers' "Newsies," and a couple of classy presentations by Cedar City Music Arts.

On February 4, CCMA will host the internationally-known Maxwell Quartet, a chamber music group based in Scotland. This quartet of string players is made of four close friends who grew up playing folk and classical music together in youth orchestras and music schools across Scotland. In 2010, the then-postgraduate students formed the Maxwell Quartet and have since received acclaim across Scotland, the UK, and Europe.

In 2017, the group was the 1st prizewinner and audience prizewinner at the 9th Trondheim International Chamber Music Competition in Norway, a competition that attracts top musicians from all over the world. Following this impressive success, the quartet concertized extensively through Europe, where it became known as one of the top performing groups from the UK. At this level of international renown, groups such as this become sought after for concerts, master classes, residencies, and other classy opportunities in important venues world-wide.

And, they are coming to Cedar City, Utah, of all places! The group is touring the United States and we are on that tour. Three concerts in New York plus others in Florida, Washington, and California will land them in our beautiful Heritage Theater on February 4 at 7:30 p.m. Lucky season ticket holders will see them for $17, but tickets will be available to everyone else at the door for just $30, $15 for students. Talk about a fabulous way to beat the winter doldrums.....

Canyon View musicians invited to state conference

CEDAR CITY — The Canyon View High School Philharmonic Orchestra has been invited to perform at this year's Utah Music Educators Conference on February 1.

The conference takes place the first weekend of February each year at the Dixie Convention Center in St. George. Music educators from all over the state and from all levels of education (kindergarten - college) attend the conference each year. A few ensembles (bands, choirs, and orchestras) from around the state are invited to perform each year as part of the conference. It is quite an honor to be selected.

The Canyon View Philharmonic Orchestra, under the direction of David Jordan, has been working very hard the last few months to prepare for this performance. Jordan expressed his gratitude to all of his students for their hard work and dedication. He also gave special thanks and recognition to his student leaders: Jamie Ashworth—concert master, Eowyn Colbert and Lauren Calamity—violin, Mckayla Green—viola, Merrica Stubbs—cello, Alissa Thomas—bass, Riley Hutcheson—flute, Justine Padilla—oboe, Breanne Hancock—clarinet, Keri Sawyer—trumpet, Sarah Sowards—french horn, Jacob Nielson—trombone, Bubba Akins—tuba, Jeremy Funai—percussion. Mr. Jordan, along with the violin sections, would also like to thank Amara Thomas for all the time she has spent helping us.

The title of their program is "Music of Light and Hope." They will start with a bright and cheerful Fanfare by Robert Sheldon. Their second selection will be "Sunrise" from the "Spanish Trail Suite." This is a piece of music that was commissioned by the Orchestra of Southern Utah in 2005 and was composed by local Utah composers, Steven Sharp Nelson and Marshall McDonald. The music depicts the rising of the sun while journeying on the Spanish Trail. It has historical significance to our area. It will feature Braidin Jake on the Native American Flute. Their third selection is a fun little jaunt called "Shepherd's Hey" by Percy Grainger. Then they will perform a beautiful arrangement of the hymn "It Is Well with My Soul" arranged by David Holsinger. They will conclude with the 4th movement of Felix Mendelssohn's "Reformation Symphony."

Both films later received Oscar® nominations for Best Documentary Feature.

CEDAR BREAKS ONCE HAD A TRAIL, but has one no more. Here's a look back at that now defunct trail.

...when Cedar Breaks had a trail downward

by Lynn ARAVE
For Iron County Today

Cedar Breaks and Bryce Canyon were in a hot competition in the early 20th Century. When it was over, Bryce won and gained National Park status, while Cedar Breaks remains a National Monument to this day. The two parks are somewhat similar, however, Bryce Canyon has many trails downward, that penetrate its interior, while Cedar Breaks has none.

It didn't used to be that way, though. According to the Beaver County News newspaper of July 15, 1927, there used to be a trail downward in Cedar Breaks. The reported stated:

"At present comparatively few viewers of the Breaks follow a guide down the uncertain trails of the scalloped slopes into the midst of the columns, corridors, painted buttresses, colonnades, natural bridges, stairways, organs, alabaster shrines, altars, sculptured figures of fauns, satyrs, eagles, lions. Christian martyrs, Gothic cathedrals, and Grecian temples. Only a trip to the bottom can impress one with the full immensity, variety, and grandeur of the Cedar Breaks. But to me the most inspiring views are seen from Point Perfection and Point Supreme of the rim from which the out-flung bastions, buttresses, towers parapets and craggy spires are not lost in the symphony of color the delightful pink and white of the terraces mingled with tints of orange, yellow, lavender, purple, ivory, ruby and vermilion in all their intermediate shadings. One is reminded of ancient Greece and Rome by the glorified temples and acropolises moldering in rosy marbled ruins, the report concluded."

So likely this only trail, perhaps even precarious in its prime, is gone -- probably eroded away.

There is a long, long path into Cedar Breaks from below, on the Cedar City side. This path begins at the Crystal Springs Trailhead, about 7 miles east of Cedar City, along Highway 14. It is 14-18 miles roundtrip and strenuous.

What cats love

The Pet CORNER

by Dawn AERTS

Since cats are smart, sentient creatures they have a long list of likes and dislikes. In most cases the things your cat loves are what you enjoy too: fresh, tasty food, cozy naps, quiet spaces with a variety of things to do.

My cat loves rubber-band games, wicker baskets and sitting anywhere near the kitchen sink as the sound of running water captivates her. In fact, Lulu watches television from time to time, toys with computer keyboards and prowls through cabinets, closets and into open drawers.

That said, just like humans, the things cats find interesting, fun or exciting can change as they age – that may be loving a feather toy once day, but finding it boring the next. As a kitty parent, it's part of your job to keep her happy, healthy and engaged. Here are the seven-kitty 'likes' to consider:

Taking Naps... it's no secret that felines enjoy a good sleep and an average cat dozes anywhere from 12 to 16 hours a day. Since they are nocturnal creatures, that may mean sleep time in the morning, and a house-prowler at night. A snooze spot in a basket may be perfect.

Grooming Bliss... there are a few reasons cats dedicate hours to their appearance: it keeps them clean, their skin and coat healthy, and makes them feel relaxed. Hey, there's nothing more enjoyable than massage time so they use grooming to reduce stress and calm down. Cats also bond with other cats this way, and with their human family to develop and strengthen bonds. When it's warm outside, cat's lick themselves to stay cool.

Water Babies... If you have a cat, you may notice an interest in drinking water from a running faucet, observing the shower, or even pawing at water-basin. Believe it or not, some breeds of cat like to play in water. If your cat likes to splash around, you probably have a water baby.

Scratching for Love... one of a cat's very basic instincts is to sharpen their claws on a variety of surfaces and they get some joy from the behavior too. Scratching can help them relax much like a human's instinct to stretch and yawn.

Playtime... is serious business for cats. While it doesn't take much to keep a cat entertained—she'll play with anything from lint and bugs to fancy toys, it's a vital part of their health. In fact, playtime is a way to enjoy the imaginary wild as they attempt to stalk, hunt, and capture their prey. It also keeps them exercised, engaged, and satisfied too.

Bird Watching... it's not uncommon to see any cat curled up on a windowsill observing nature or just bird watching. It may be the movement that captures their attention or imaging them as potential prey, but some cats will spend hours in this past time.

Human Love... while cats are often portrayed as solitary, indifferent animals, they, like all domestic pets need attention, companionship and the loving care they receive from their human-parents. That love can be seen in purring, bunting, sleeping on or near you, licking, meowing or even swaying around your leg. It's a cat thing.

Nice landing

Last week I attempted to alleviate your apprehensions and apathy about jumping from the ledges of life and into your future. Life is full of ledges to jump from and if you don't learn to leap, your dreams and your happiness will always seem to be out of reach. Sometimes you have to just jump. But if you're going to leap, you've also got know how to land.

Leaping and landing are just the beginnings of your new life. While at first, both seem like life crushing crucibles, they are both crucial to your success and happiness. Leaping gets you off the ledges—out of your comfort zone—and gives you a new direction. A better direction besides the familiar one of always turning back. Landing, even imperfectly, can give you the momentum and confidence to continue forward to your next ledge, or to be more positive, your next launch pad.

Those who make such a leap of faith must also have faith in the landing. You wouldn't fly aboard an airplane that wasn't equipped with landing gear, right? It's the same way with your life. You may even be wondering, why not just build a bridge?

There are great lessons to be learned from both

You wouldn't fly aboard an airplane that wasn't equipped with landing gear, right?

The Rut LESS TRAVELED

by Corey BAUMGARTNER

jumping and from building bridges. However, from my own experiences in jumping—whether it's over ruts or canyons—I feel more confidence and motivation after having had to believe in myself enough to jump, rather than simply walking across to the other side of a bridge. It's during those challenges where I've learned my greatest lessons. True, we all need bridges to help us sometimes—especially if we're too tired to jump—but when there are no bridges and no time to build them, we need to have the courage to jump and the faith to land.

What kind of landing gear will you need to make your jump a success? It's the same gear you need to make your legendary leaps. You must believe that what's in your heart is worth leaving your feet for. And that after you have landed, your faithful feet will take your heart where it needs to go next.

Yes, fear is still near. In fact, the same fear that warned you it was too far to jump, now tries to tell you that you shouldn't have jumped in the first place. Fear will always tell you that you might fall, until you jump. When you do jump, fear will tell you that you're going to fail after landing. Ignore it and move forward. Fear is what kept you on your ledges, watching life pass you by, waiting for someone else to build a bridge, or wishing you could do something, but were too afraid to try. Those days are past. Try until you fly! Let your confidence be a catalyst to catapult you across your chasms of doubts and fears and land successfully. If not now, when?

Schools

Gateway Preparatory Academy leads state in student growth

It may be the start of a new semester for students, but grades are in for Utah's schools and, for the third year in a row, Gateway Preparatory Academy's growth scores in math, English and science are leading the way, well above the state average and higher than schools with similar student demographics statewide.

The Utah State Board of Education evaluates school performance annually on both student achievement and student growth. With a mission based on personalizing each student's progress through the state curriculum, Gateway focuses its efforts on individual growth and self-directed learning.

"We recognize students come to school at a variety of different levels, having different learned skills and innate abilities," said Gateway Director Andrew Burt in a release. "Some students get a lot of support at home, some don't. Some students have special needs, some are gifted. Some love art, some excel in math, and some are reading before they even begin school. What matters most for us is that every student is continually challenged and supported."

Because the Montessori model focuses on the individual, teaching is rarely whole class directed. Students are taught in small groups and even individually based upon their unique needs.

"The sky really is the limit for our students," said Burt. "Every student progresses through the curriculum at his or her own pace, deepening understanding for those who need additional attention and resources, and moving beyond basic state standards for those whose intrigue and comprehension allows them to continue pressing forward through increasingly challenging curriculum."

The students enjoyed the play, along with the question and answer portion, immensely. Thank you very much for the learning experience.

Religion

A stone's throw

— JOHN 8:1-12 —

What if God had a porch with a place just for you? Would you go visit Him and talk awhile? What would you talk about? I've sat on His porch many times. We've had some difficult, but beautiful conversations and I've asked Him a lot of questions. No, I don't have all the answers. I only need to know one, that He is there. He is! I also hope to share some of the other precious answers I've received with you. So, have a seat. I pray that when you leave, you will have more peace, hope and courage for your life.

We need more peace, hope and courage because life is not easy. Not now and not 2,000 years ago when the scribes and Pharisees brought the woman taken in adultery to Jesus for judgment. Instead of acknowledging their rocky ruse, He stooped down and wrote upon the ground. What did He write? Did someone try to give Him a stone to throw? Was He more concerned about justice for the condemners or mercy for the condemned? I suggest He was concerned about all involved, but the only one who found mercy and forgiveness that day was the woman. We don't need to know all the circumstances about this situation. Because this isn't a parable about how to judge, it's an example about how to love.

We've all made mistakes and will most likely make more. I think the hardest part of falling and failing

This isn't a parable about how to judge, it's an example about how to love

GOD'S Porch

by Corey BAUMGARTNER

isn't always the getting back up part. No matter what religion you belong to, whether you believe in God or not, the most difficult part of overcoming your failures is learning to believe in yourself again. Too often you throw stones at yourself or knock yourself down again with personal punches of regret. Even when others don't believe that you really have changed, or really can change your life and sin no more. Even if they throw slanderous stones or display derogatory signs in front of your home or business, your judgement and joy are found only in Jesus, not their jagged justice.

Just as He showed mercy to the woman, He will show love and mercy unto you. Remember that life is about direction, not perfection. As such, He will guide you in a better direction and help you keep your new commitments to live a better life each day. Because the true miracle of forgiveness is not in completing a sentence, or perfect performance during penance. The true miracle comes from your love for and faith in the tender mercies of He who said, "Neither do I condemn thee: go and sin no more." Jesus lives, loves and will lead you, if you let Him, throughout your life. He knows the desires and direction of your heart. Whether your sins are great or small, through the Atonement of Jesus Christ, you will always find hope, forgiveness and healing. May we all go and sin no more.

Local magician makes international history

by Kelsey KEENER
Iron County Today

CEDAR CITY — SUU student and magician Makade Talbot spent last summer in Shanghai, China teaching and performing magic for China's first summer magic program.

Talbot has been practicing magic from a young age and was offered the chance to help start Camp Greenwoods in China by Rajon Lynch, head magician for the program. Lynch has since served as a friend and mentor for Talbot and said the idea of summer camps is a relatively new concept in China.

"Summer camps are common in the U.S., but in China there were basically none before the last few years," Lynch said. "Just the concept of a sleepaway camp is really foreign in China. Having a magic program at a camp is surprisingly common in the U.S. but since camp is so new in China, we got to be the first people to do it ever."

Talbot said spending the summer in China directly following his high school graduation was difficult for him at first.

"It was really hard," Talbot said. "Especially coming right out of high school; it was my first time living away from home and I was in a different country with nobody that I really knew. I met (Lynch) for the first time in China. After a few weeks I started getting to teach more lessons, to spend more time teaching the kids because (Lynch) kind of took the main role at beginning, but as he saw that I was progressing and practicing and learning, he handed the responsibility over to me and I kind of was able to take over the program when he left."

Talbot said that helping start the magic program in China was beneficial to him in several ways and helped him gain a better understanding of people.

"I was there with kids who barely spoke the same language as me," he said. "So I had to learn how to adapt to that and I was there with people from all over the world. I really learned how to take a step back and realize that the way I live and my culture and my life in American is just one type of life and there's so many other types of people. It really taught me how to interact with all types of people and befriend and communicate with all types of people and backgrounds."

He added that his passion for magic stems from his love for people.

"I love meeting people, I love interacting with people and magic is a tool I use," he said. "It's an icebreaker, it's a way for people to get comfortable and it's an entertainment. It's a passion and a tool; it's something that I use to meet people and to form relationships because that's what I'm really passionate about."

LADY REDS ROLLING

Team extends win streak to 16 games

by Tom ZULEWSKI
Iron County Today

In the grand search for anything that could possibly slow the Cedar girls basketball team down, opponents have come up empty with the calendar rapidly closing in on February.

The Dixie Flyers were the latest to see just how good the Lady Reds have become as their march toward an unbeaten season continued Jan. 24.

Junior Mayci Torgerson scored a game-high 24 points, and Cedar used a 17-4 run that closed the first half as a big part of a convincing 73-44 rout over Dixie to stretch its overall win streak to 16 straight games and its Region 9 mark to 7-0.

“When we get all five players playing like they did today, sharing the ball and passing, I think we’re a pretty good team,” Cedar head coach Corry Nielson said. “Having Japrix (Weaver) come back and getting better every game, that makes our team so much better.”

After Weaver – who finished with 15 points -- hit the second of her three 3-pointers late in the first quarter, Torgerson hit a jumper that beat the buzzer to put Cedar up 19-12. They would extend the margin to 38-20 at the half before Torgerson went to work.

“We’re getting more chemistry as each game comes along, and I think we’re getting better and better,” Torgerson said.

“The pressure is increasing for the other teams because we’re getting better.”

In the third quarter, Torgerson kicked the Lady Reds’ offense into high gear, scoring 10 points in the period – including six straight – that helped turn the game into a rout.

Nielson would go on to call the effort “our best game of the year” that included 60 percent shooting from the floor.

“We have four players who are all point guards. They can all get it and go,” Nielson said. “We have a blueprint of what we need to do to win. As long as we follow that blueprint, we’ll be successful. If we alter that blueprint, we’re beatable.”

Logann Laws added 13 points for the Lady Reds, who shot 14-of-18 from the free-throw line and matched their season-high in points – a 73-40 win at

SUU, Dixie State to meet in football in 2020

CEDAR CITY — The Thunderbird football program has announced a three-game series with Dixie State, which will begin on September 5, 2020, which will be the first game on the Division I FCS level for the Trailblazers. The first game of the series will be played in Cedar City.

“We’re excited to renew the rivalry with Dixie State, and I’m sure it will be something that excites both communities for a very long time,” SUU head coach Demario Warren said.

Game two of the series will be played in Cedar City on September 3, 2022, while the third game of the announced series will be played at Dixie State on September 7, 2024.

Southern Utah and Dixie State last squared off in 2010 as the Thunderbirds were able to shutout Dixie State 52-0. The two teams also met in 2009 in a contest the Thunderbirds won 36-7.

The 2009 contest set an attendance record for Eccles Coliseum at the time, as 10,028 fans filled the stadium in Cedar City. The Coliseum’s current attendance record was set in the Second Round of the FCS Playoffs, as 11,811 fans packed the stands to watch Southern Utah and Weber State square off.

That same matchup was the first time the two schools had played football against each other since 1962.

“These games will be exciting matchups for the entire Southern Utah community, and will provide a fun rivalry for the student-athletes at both institutions,” SUU Athletic Director Debbie Corum said. “I can already feel the thrill of anticipation as we kickoff that first game in 2020. Our competitors make us stronger so we welcome the challenge of having new Division I competition that is so geographically close to us. This will push us to new heights, beginning with that first game. I appreciate Coach Warren seeing this vision as well, and to Jason Boothe, Dixie AD, for his cooperation in making this happen.”

Parowan boys win two, pad region lead

by Tom ZULEWSKI
Iron County Today

The Parowan Rams have the first of their season goals clearly in sight. Two more wins from last week have pushed the team closer to a Region 18 championship.

Porter Wood scored 26 points to lead three players in double figures as Parowan opened the week by holding off North Sevier at home, 58-52 on Jan. 23. Wood added eight rebounds for the Rams, who led by just three points at the half, 22-19.

Max Topham added 13 points and Krue Stubbs finished with 12 to help the offensive effort for Parowan.

Two nights later, the Rams improved to 8-1 in Region 18 with a 57-53 road win at Gunnison on Jan. 25. Wood finished with 27 points, including three 3-pointers, to set the pace for Parowan, while Nick Goodman added 13 and Topham contributed with 10.

The Rams will be idle tonight before taking on second-place Kanab at home Feb. 1. They could potentially clinch the Region 18 crown and No. 1 seed for the 2A state playoffs with a win over the Cowboys and a loss by Beaver in either of its next two games – against Enterprise at home tonight or at Millard on Feb. 1.

PAROWAN'S MAX TOPHAM drives for the hoop in a victory last week.

Falcons unable to hold off Flyers at home

JR ROBINSON

CANYON VIEW'S TREVOR FARROW attempts to block a shot in the Falcons' 54-52 loss to Dixie.

by Tom ZULEWSKI
Iron County Today

CEDAR CITY — The Canyon View Falcons knew they were in for a big test against the Dixie Flyers, who sat only a game out of first place in Region 9 before the Jan. 23 matchup.

In the end, the Flyers had just enough in the tank to escape with a victory.

Jordan Matthews drove inside for a conventional three-point play with 33 seconds remaining, and Isaac Finlinson added two free throws to help Dixie edge past Canyon View, 54-52 at the Falcons' Nest. CV dropped its second straight game and fell to 3-3 in Region 9 play.

"The first half was frustrating. We were defending like we didn't know anything about them, and we knew everything about them," Canyon View head coach Robbie Potter said. "We knew exactly what they were going to do, and at times we were just letting them do it."

The Falcons had a glimmer of hope when reserve Cody Spencer got inside for a three-point play that gave them a 50-49 lead with 40 seconds left, but Matthews drove the ball down and matched the effort.

After a missed Canyon View shot and Finlinson's free throws, Mason Lyman hit a jumper with seven-tenths of a second left to cut the lead to two. Following a timeout, the Flyers were whistled for an offensive foul before the inbounds pass, giving the Falcons one more chance.

Lyman had a shot for the win near the 3-point line, but his bid fell well short of the rim as time expired.

"We can't have a start like we did against good Region 9 teams," Potter said. "Credit Dixie. They know what they're good at and just go to it until you stop it."

Hayden Cottle led the Flyers with 17 points and Matthews added 10. Dixie never led by more than seven points in the game.

Parker Holmes led all scorers for Canyon View with 19 points and Trevor Farrow added 15 – all on five 3-pointers.

Two nights later, the Falcons started the second half of region play with a 68-59 loss at Snow Canyon to fall to 3-4. The Warriors – who led 35-13 at the half – got 22 points from Joey Robertson and 19 from Cole Warner to earn its first Region 9 win of the season (1-6).

Dallin Brindley scored 17 points with five 3-pointers and Lyman added 15 for Canyon View in the loss.

CV will host Hurricane as it looks to break its losing streak tonight in a 7 p.m. tipoff.

Redmen boys drop pair of games

by Tom ZULEWSKI
Iron County Today

After getting its breakthrough victory in Region 9 play, the Cedar Redmen fell on hard times in two losses last week.

Hurricane had five players score in double figures, led by 18 from Daxton Dayley, as they turned on the offense in the second half and pulled away to an 87-78 win over Cedar at home Jan. 23. The Redmen trailed only 28-27 at the half, but saw the host Tigers score 59 points after intermission. Dayley hit four of Hurricane's 10 3-pointers in the win.

Freshman Zab Santana led Cedar with 25 points and sophomore Dallin Grant added 16 as four players scored in double figures.

Two nights later, the Dixie Flyers used a 20-8 second-quarter surge and put away

Cedar in a 66-47 home victory Jan. 25 at the Hangar in St. George. Isaac Finlinson led the Flyers with 15 points and three of the team's 11 3-pointers in the win.

Cedar got 14 points from Trey Tebbs and 12 from Santana, but fell to 1-6 in Region 9 with the loss.

The Redmen will return to the floor with another road game at region leader Pine View tonight in a 7 p.m. tipoff.

Hillock wins Coach of the Year

It was a season to remember for Beaver boys basketball head coach Joe Hillock. Not only did the former leader of the Southern Utah women's basketball team guide the Beavers to the 2A state title in 2018, Hillock was recognized as the Utah Coach of the Year for the 2017-18 season. The Beavers won the Region 18 title in the final week of the season, stunned heavy favorite Layton Christian in the state semifinals, and claimed the championship trophy with a 44-30 victory over Duchesne. Beaver won the crown for the first time since 2002.

» One year later, Beaver is still in the hunt to defend its region title, but the odds are a bit long. Heading into this week's play, the Beavers are 5-3 and trail Parowan by two and a half games with four remaining.

With the Rams idle until Friday when they host Kanab – who is 6-3 in region – Beaver needs to beat Enterprise at home tonight and Millard on the road to stay alive. The Cowboys will need to beat North Sevier at home tonight to set up the showdown at Parowan.

If the Rams win, Kanab is eliminated from region title contention. As long as the Beavers sweep the week – they've won four straight – they can climb back in the race with a win at home over Parowan on Feb. 6.

Since Beaver already won the first head-to-head meeting over the Rams, they would claim the tiebreaker for the top seed. If Parowan loses to Kanab, then all the Beavers would need is a home win over Gunnison on Feb. 8 to repeat as region champ.

If that doesn't happen, Beaver would need a win over the Bulldogs and help from an Enterprise win at Parowan to claim the title.

» Rankings don't mean much: Can't figure this out, but Parowan (16-3) has fallen to fourth in the Deseret News rankings for 2A as of Jan. 21. The three teams ahead of the Rams – Layton Christian, Rowland Hall and North Summit – have more losses (20) than the total number of games Parowan has played (19).

And Parowan's three losses have been by a combined total of just 15 points. Snow Canyon (4A) won by six Dec. 12, Carbon (3A) beat the Rams with a bucket in the closing seconds Dec. 28 at the Steve Hodson Classic, and Beaver was a seven-point winner Jan. 16.

» This was just nuts: The Rolex 24 at Daytona was run over the weekend at Daytona International Speedway. As the hours ticked away, conditions resembled more of a boat race around the road course at Daytona International Speedway.

Rain fell hard and often through most of the final hours Sunday before IMSA officials finally called the endurance race with less than a half-hour remaining.

Watching what went on left me a little torn – racers race, after all – but the action provided a big lesson that carries over in real life. It doesn't matter if there's rain or snow on the road or race track. In order to get around safely when the weather is harsh, you can't go fast all the time.

At least we know the Daytona 500 is around the corner now, so it all comes out in the wash. There definitely won't be a repeat of what happened this weekend.

RANDOM Thoughts

by Tom ZULEWSKI
Sports Writer

» Can't slow them down: Cedar's girls basketball team has plowed through the competition on the way to 16 straight victories. With only three wins coming by single digits, opponents have yet to find the right formula to slow the Lady Reds down.

When the team hosted Hurricane on Jan. 22, a fire alarm was heard in the gym with 6 minutes, 9 seconds left. At the time, Cedar led the Tigers by a 46-29 count.

After a delay of about 10 minutes and a chance to stand outside in the cold, the teams returned. Cedar scored only five points the rest of the way, but still won by 15 at 51-36.

Head coach Corry Nielson has preached the classic cliché of one game at a time to his girls. At this point of the season, they've clearly embraced the message.

You can't claim the championship trophy until you win the games that really matter.

HARLEE NICOLL SCORES FOR CANYON VIEW. The Falcons are 1-5 in region play so far this year.

Falcon girls fall twice

by Tom ZULEWSKI
Iron County Today

In Jaycee Barnhurst's first year as girls basketball coach at Canyon View, the Falcons earned both of their Region 9 wins on the road, including one against its Jan. 22 opponent, the Dixie Flyers.

This time around, Sina Tapasa wouldn't let them lose.

Tapasa scored 15 points and Dixie held on down the stretch for a 54-50 win over Canyon View on the home floor at the Hangar. The Flyers (3-2 Region 9) led by eight after the opening quarter, but the Falcons (1-5) got back within 25-23 at the half.

Dixie had eight different players backing up Tapasa on the score sheet as they were able to hold on for the win.

Jordan Nielson and Ashlyn Banks led Canyon View with 13 points apiece, and freshman Harlee Nicoll added a double-double of 11 points and 11 rebounds.

CV finished its week with a 48-40 loss at home to Snow Canyon. The Warriors kept pace in second place as they improved to 5-2 in Region 9 play, two games behind Cedar.

No other details were available.

The Falcons returned to region play with a road game at Desert Hills on Tuesday that was too late for press deadline.

LADY REDS

Enterprise on Dec. 5.

Cedar didn't let a fire alarm slow them down in their other game of the week, a 51-36 win over visiting Hurricane on Jan. 22. Torgerson led three players in double figures with 12 points, and the Lady Reds held the Tigers to 12 in the opening half.

Cedar would stretch the lead to as much as 23 points in the second half before a fire alarm sounded and forced evacuation of the gym with six minutes remaining. The Lady Reds scored only five points after play resumed, but the game was well in hand.

Samantha Johnston and Denim Henkel added 10 points apiece for Cedar, who hosted Desert Hills in a Tuesday game that was too late for press deadline.
