ICTAD proposes new signage for city parks

by Kelsey KEENER

IRON COUNTY TODAY

Representatives from Iron County Teens Against Drugs approached the Cedar City Council to propose that new signage be added to city parks stating exclusively that there is no smoking or vaping allowed.

President of ICTAD Jessica Anderson presented to the council, explaining a study the group did to determine if Cedar City residents were aware that city parks are smoke-free. Members of ICTAD visited city parks to look for signage indicating that, but found nothing explicitly stating that there is no smoking (or use of vaporizers) in the parks.

Cedar High School Representative Jason Brown pointed out an adult smoking a cigarette with children nearly in a picture of a community event that was held at a park and said one of the goals of proposing new signage is to prevent such occurrences from happening.

Canyon View High School Representative Kimberly Wood added that Washington, Beaver and Kane Counties have signage in all of their city parks that state exclusively that tobacco in various forms use is prohibited.

Anderson explained that the group is proposing that signage be added to the city parks that state tobacco use, including e-cigarettes and vaporizers, is prohibited and would like to donate the funds to make and place new signage.

"We would also like to change the city ordinance so it's the same as the Utah ordinance, so it states that vapes are also included in the smoke-free policy because they're equally dangerous," she added.

Councilman Scott Phillips said it may good to consider adding specific language regarding "vaping" to city policies.

"I think the notion of including vaping is probably a good idea," he said. "Because it is just as addictive and potentially as dangerous as cigarettes themselves so whatever language we do (add) it should probably include that."

ECONOMIC REVIEW:

TOURISM, PROPERTY TAX BILL DISCUSSED

by Trinity PAJÓN

IRON COUNTY TODAY

On Wednesday May 15, an economic review regarding Cedar City was held at the Courtyard Marriott.

The speakers, Cedar City Brian Head Tourism Bureau Executive Director Maria Twitchell, and Commissioner Mike Bleak, highlighted tourism as being the #1 Utah Export Industry.

"We are in really good shape as far as our tourism (and) economic development," said Bleak.

Twitchell spoke of how Utah benefits from tourism. In 2017 for instance, tourists spent 9.15 billion dollars which supported 147,800 jobs and provided residents with 1,375 dollars in tax relief for households. Twitchell addressed how Cedar City will use tourism to reap the financial benefits.

She discussed how there will be upgrades to the Cedar City attractions such as Brian Head Resort and the Cedar Breaks Visitor Center as well as some new attractions in the works. Some of the upgrades include an expansion of the Navajo lodge and a rebuild of the Cedar Breaks visitor center. There will also be training for employees to direct tourists to these attractions.

In addition to the upgrades, there will be new trails completed by this summer at Shurtz Canyon trails, Hole Trail, and Brian Head OHV Trails as well as a new high desert trail from Tooele to Enterprise which is also in the works.

Twitchell then discussed that there will be a new video series highlighting Cedar City. This series will be created to attract tourists. There will be three segments of the video series which are: Let Wonder be Your Guide; Main Street Minutes; and Made of Iron. The video series will be aired on Facebook, Youtube and commercials on Hulu.

Bleak furthered the discussion by stating that Cedar City will also look to host motorcycle tourists.

"We are looking at expanding our marketing from tourism conferences to biker rallies," he said. "We've got a partnership we are working on there to move into that realm."

According to Bleak, the goal is to get the motorcycle tourists to congregate in Cedar City instead of St. George. In order to achieve this goal, there will be amenities, restaurants, a riding app, and outreach to biker groups such as Combat Veteran Riders, and Bikers Against Child Abuse.

In addition to tourism, Bleak addressed a new bill that was recently passed for the state of Utah called the Property Tax Definition Amendment to be in effect in 2020.

"The legislature passed a bill that wants to determine primary or secondary residency...It's actually a veiled income tax bill-- The assessors office will send a notification to every resident in Iron County. It's our job as property owners to check a box to say that it is our primary residence or secondary residence and send that back to the assessor's office... What's it's basically doing is determine if it's a primary or secondary and if we live here, then they are going to come back and look at your income tax."

As a secondary resident, if you have a vacation home you don't have to pay an income tax. However, If you are listed as primary resident you do have to pay an income tax.

It is important to note that if neither of the boxes are checked off then by law the assessor's office is required to list you as primary resident and you will have to pay income tax.

In 2020 Iron County will also initiate online filing for citizens to pay taxes online.

According to Bleak, "If a business has been under the statutory limit for making a profit for five consecutive years no filing is requested or required but, that doesn't take away the possibility of an audit if you haven't reached those statutory limits. There is still not a provision if the business grows or expands. So, if you don't have personal property value 25-50.. you don't need to file that personal property but if your business grows... then that filings needs to be reinstated and reinitiated."

Cedar Council considers fiber-optics

by Kelsey KEENER

IRON COUNTY TODAY

Cedar City Council members considered a proposal for a telecommunications franchise agreement with GoFiber and InfoWest in order to bring fiber optics to the city.

InfoWest representative Randy Cosby explained that InfoWest is one of the companies partnering with GoFiber to bring fiber to southern Utah. GoFiber is a fiber optic company based in Saint George and has the opportunity to work in Iron County and Cedar City as well.

Managing Member of GoFiber Lynn Beecher also addressed the council and provided a brief summary of his experience in installing fiber optics in Saint George, Provo and American Fork.

"Fiber optics is the future; and everything is going to be on fiber -- all the new technology," he said. "The beautiful thing that we can do for InfoWest is to take fiber to their access points; thus, instead of wireless to the access points its fiber and its rock solid, to help improve the network."

Beecher added that he is a state-wide contractor for the Utah Department of Transportation, which provides unique opportunities for working with fiber. Although bringing fiber to the whole city will take time, Beecher said partnering with InfoWest will make things go more smoothly and quickly.

City Attorney Tyler Romeril briefly summarized the agreement, explaining that is a 10-year agreement with the option to renew for another 10 years. The city will receive a 3.5 percent commission that comes through the Utah State Tax Commission and there is language that addresses emergencies as well as requires any public amenities to be re-constructed to city standards with an 18-month guarantee following installations that may involve construction.

Cosby also added that InfoWest and GoFiber accepted the terms of the agreement and he hopes to move forward.

"The purpose of us being here is to enter into a telecommunications franchise agreement," he said. "That would allow us to work in right-of-ways and it outlines our responsibilities, our liabilities and how we work with the city."

Beecher explained that in Saint George, the city uses a Joint-Use Committee that meets once a week with representatives from public works and communications companies. When there is a trench that is accessible, those who wish to use it have to show their plans and have the opportunity to put a conduit in then.

Cosby said it helps things run smoothly.

"The JUC concept has been very helpful in St George," Cosby said. "And it's something I think, in the interim, could be looked at. It makes sense for everyone from gas to water to electric to fiber -- we're all on the table."

The City Council will vote on the agreement during tonight's meeting.

IMMIGRATION STATUS QUO

The opinions stated in this article are solely those of the author and not of Iron County Today

A recent newspaper headline and a comment from a foreign guide brings to mind America's challenge in the complex and often heated debate over immigration.

While touring Belgium and the Netherlands last week, our history guide was asked about the current population trend in the two countries. He responded that the population has remained fairly stable, but only due to immigration.

“Immigration is at times controversial in Europe,” he said. “But the Golden Age for Belgium and the Netherlands – when they colonized Africa, Asia, and South America and ruled the sea – was a direct result of immigrants. Religious wars in southern Europe created a steady influx of people and brainpower to the more tolerant Flemish nations, and it was these people fleeing violence who understood maps and sea lanes, commerce and innovation. We became rich because of immigration and today would be in trouble without it.”

Upon returning to the United States, I saw a newspaper headline: “U.S. Births Hit 32-Year Low”. The report examined the reasons: couples waiting longer to marry, higher education levels for women when they delay motherhood, higher use of contraceptives, and a decline in Hispanic birthrates.

And as in Europe, this has a major impact on us all.

Cyclops

by Bryan GRAY

COLUMNIST

The total “replacement rate” – basically the number of births minus the number of deaths – should be at least 2.0 to support a growing economy. We need workers to fill jobs, create companies, and contribute to Social Security.

And here's the news...We haven't seen a “replacement rate” of 2.0 since 1971. (Last year it fell to 1.7) The U.S. has been “bailed out” by immigrants, both legal and undocumented, a fact in direct opposition to Pres. Trump's recent claims that “America is full, we cannot accept any more people. We're too full!”

To his credit, Pres. Trump backtracked last week and offered a plan which could pave the way for trained and educated men and women to immigrate to the United States. (“We want the best and the brightest,” he said.) But his plan also reduces the pathway for other immigrants.

Yes, we need educated techies and engineers and scientists. But with our population decline we also need laborers, those who see little hope in their war torn and violent countries who wish to begin the process of climbing the economic ladder in the U.S. We need both if we want to sustain our economy and way of life.

Utahns understand the population decline. They might not know that the number of babies born in the U.S. last year fell 2%, but I often hear them talk about how their sons and daughters “hang out” rather than date and are putting off getting married. If they think about the implications, they won't have to travel to Belgium or Holland to have a travel guide give a hint of America's future.

Weird, wonderful weather

This morning I awoke to rain, drove to work in a hailstorm, ate lunch during a snowstorm and I am now writing this with the sun shining on my desk. If you told a stranger about today's weather, they would probably ask if you lived in Utah. The weather here is definitely weird.

Life is a lot like the weather in Utah. You can wake up to cloudy opposition, but see the sun shining later in the day. It takes patience to wait out the storms. However, dealing with opposition is about more than patience. Its about persistence. During the storms of life, you may not be able to accomplish all you want to, as efficiently and quickly as you'd like to, but don't hide from life until the storm passes. Learn to dance the rain. Learn to adjust your rudder and sails even as the dark clouds gather.

Someone once said that not all storms come to disrupt life, but to clear the path. And if we didn't have winter snows and April showers (or May snowstorms) we wouldn't have enough water to grow the beautiful and delicious things we enjoy and eat during the summer.

So, the next time you encounter storms in your life, don't just complain of the dark clouds and floods, keep your eyes open and look for the paths the storm is clearing and the beautiful things it will help you to grow in your life.

The courage to care

Dear Editor

I have cerebral palsy. It's unfortunate that some people don't know how to treat people with cerebral palsy. We are human too and we have feelings. For example, one time I witnessed a Russian man who treated a woman with cerebral palsy and downs-syndrome so badly, I wanted to beat that man up.

Going through school, normal kids treated me like I wasn't human. When I was eight years-old, math was my best (and still is my favorite) subject. One boy hated math and called me a retard for doing better at math than he did. I cried a long time. That day was my first of other worst days. Another day happened back in high school. I was seventeen years-old, another boy called me retard, I didn't cry, I threw a desk at him. I got suspended for that.

Now, I'm going to talk about two days that were good for me. On June 15th, 1994, I was handed my High School Diploma, by my dad. I still think that day was my best. Another good day was when a schoolmate came up to me about ten years later and said he was sorry for calling me a retard. That day made my life a whole lot better to live.

Now, I know both boys were mean to me. And throwing a desk at the second boy was wrong. But it sure felt good at the time. Handicap people have feeling too. So, treat every handicapped person the way you want to be treated. Life with a Down syndrome and/or cerebral palsy or being a person with mental difficulties can be rewarding for you and the handicap person is worthwhile.

Traffic concerns raised at Cedar City Council

by Kelsey KEENER

IRON COUNTY TODAY

Local resident Rex Dungan addressed the Cedar City Council to express his concerns over traffic safety issues that are occurring around the intersection of 700 South and 1850 West.

Dungan said 700 South has essentially become an egress street for drivers trying to avoid Royal Hunte Drive and Ridge Road, as has 1850 West. His concern comes from the lack of visibility due to plant overgrowth and additions to homes and driveways at the stop sign located at that intersection on 1850 West.

"They literally have to pull a good car length to two car lengths past the stop sign and intrude on the eastbound side of 700 (south)," he explained.

Another part of the problem is the speeding that occurs on 700 south. Dungan said he met with City Engineer Kit Wareham to discuss the problem and would like the city to look into solutions for making that intersection safer.

"Traffic and speeds have become more aggressive," Dungan said. "And the challenge of that intersection is becoming a bit more dangerous."

Dungan said he and many residents of the area are principally concerned with the pedestrians in the area, in particular, children who are dropped off at a bus stop near the intersection.

"I'm hoping that you guys might consider advocating some manner of influence on that intersection to slow down traffic," he said.

Following questions and discussion with council members, Wareham said the engineering department could place traffic counters in the area to begin looking into the issue and Cedar City Police Chief Darin Adams offered to place a speed trailer in the area temporarily.

SUU donates to National Museum of Brazil after fire

by Kelsey KEENER

IRON COUNTY TODAY

Southern Utah University's Collections Development Librarian Richard Saunders organized a large donation of materials to the National Museum of Brazil after a devastating fire.

Last year, a fire destroyed Brazil's museum overnight, including the collection of thousands of anthropological titles that the library housed along with millions of museum items. Shortly thereafter, a call for donations went out and Saunders wanted to find a way to help.

"It was the images of the fire -- there was no question that was a complete and total loss, there was nothing to rebuild, there's nothing to preserve out of that," he said. "And I thought, 'Well, I wonder what we've got, what can we do.' ... Within a very short time, there was the call for help and we could respond; it was just a good opportunity for us to work with what we already had."

Saunders said Brazil lost a great amount of history in the fire.

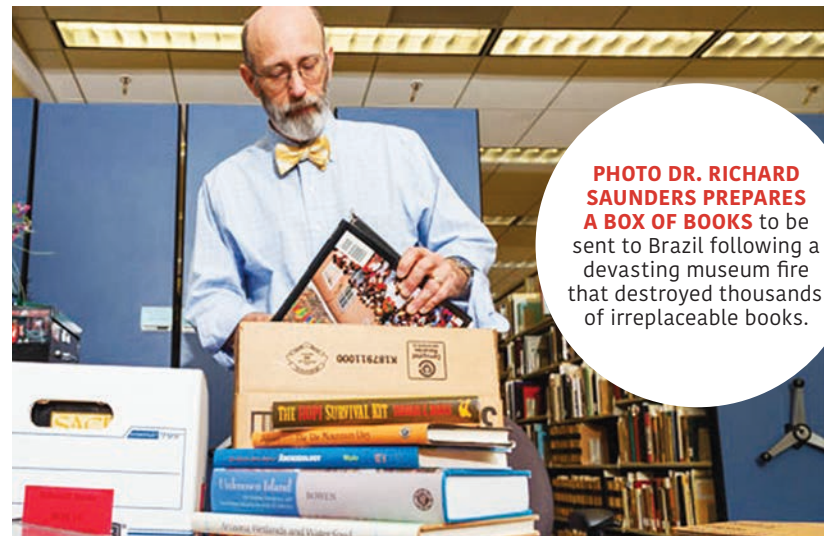

"It was the Brazilian record of what had been going on in Brazil for 200 years," he said. "They lost about 35,000 books, which was an entire library and all of their anthropological collections for the last 200 years."

The SUU Gerald L. Sherratt Library had recently received a large collection of titles as a donation from retiring Utah anthropologist Alan Schroedi, a portion of which was focused on Brazil and the surrounding areas. Volunteers from the Friends of the Gerald L. Sherratt Library spent many hours cataloging the collection. The catalog was sent to representatives from the National Museum of Brazil and approximately 500 titles were selected to be donated to the museum.

appealing to scholars and professionals for studying.

"Anytime you lose something that is that focused, you're losing more than just the collection -- you're losing the opportunity for people to come together," he said. "So, part of what we're doing, I hope, will create a new place for people to come together, (for) scholars and those who deal and

"This is a way that we could see a real benefit out of something that had been given to SUU as a gift," Saunders said. "So, we're passing it forward."

The Library of Congress aided the effort by agreeing to help ship the donations to Brazil through their transfer process.

Saunders said many of the donated titles were not works that would typically exist in a public library, but would be more try to understand human kind and the way that we function."

He added that putting the effort in to make this donation possible is something he sees as representative of SUU.

"I think if it had been any other issue, we would have probably been just as supportive," he said. "It just so happened that we had a major gift that could be passed forward. I think it's typical of what folks at SUU would do."

Veteran benefits discussed at Elder Care Network meeting

by Trinity PAJÓN

IRON COUNTY TODAY

Last Tuesday May 14 the Elder Care Network held a meeting discussing the benefits offered by the Department of Veteran Affairs.

The guest speaker, Veteran Officer Jeneil Esplin commenced the meeting by sharing some of her background and reasons for her career endeavors.

"I volunteered to be a veteran representative because I have family members that served in the military and my dad in particular has had great experiences in the military. It's been really rewarding and I have enjoyed it a lot."

The Department of Veteran Affairs started because the disability center at the University of Utah realized that there wasn't enough outreach to older veterans. This allowed for veterans and their families to get the financial and medical benefits that they needed.

The VA is split up into three separate entities: Veterans Benefits Administration (VBA), Veterans Health Administration (VHA) and National Cemetery Administration (NCA).

Wareham nominated Jackson for the award due to his exemplary work as the city's building and zoning official.

"In (his) position he oversees the designs and construction of every building structure that is constructed in the City, ensuring that all such structures are constructed in compliance with the City's adopted

International Building Codes," Wareham said. (Jackson) has the perfect demeanor to resolve most of the issues to everyone's satisfaction. (Jackson's) knowledge of the building codes and his many positive attributes in dealing with the public are a valuable asset to the City."

Wareham said Jackson has made many improvements to the Building Division and made sure the division is properly staffed with qualified employees.

VETERANS

Esplin focused in on the benefits of VBA and VHA for veterans.

The VBA consists of financial benefits that comes to a veteran or surviving spouse of a veteran. These benefits are especially useful for circumstances such as when a veteran or surviving spouse are in assisted living facilities. Some of the VBA benefits includes providing tax free money that would come to a veteran every month along with disability assistance.

Esplin spoke about how service-connected disabilities are a big issue for many older veterans. If an injury or health issue occurred during training or active duty, then VBA can cover some of the costs to get it taken care of. This is most common with hearing loss. Esplin discussed further that many veterans think that their hearing loss is due to old age, but a VA agent will talk to them and help them to correlate their injuries to their service so that they are able to reap the benefits.

"Talk to VA about this hearing loss," said Esplin. "Because (with) a little bit of financial assistance it also brings entry into VA healthcare, which can bring a reduction to their property taxes and give them priority going into the VA nursing home, (as long as) they have a service-connected disability. So that's pretty profound to a veteran and it doesn't hurt them financially because it is tax free."

Esplin then spoke about the VHA which is a provider of health care services and a federal entitlement program. It funds healthcare research relevant to veterans as well as provides educational experiences for healthcare trainees. The VA funds which are granted by congress are limited and changes annually. Thus, the number of veterans that are able to be enrolled in the VHA program are determined by the funds. Due to this, the VA has set up priority groups to make sure that certain groups of vets with higher needs are enrolled before those with less needs.

The VHA program is only for those veterans who have served in combat or have service-connected injuries or health conditions. The eligibility and enrollment are determined by congress. And unlike the VBA program, the VHA program does not assist a surviving spouse of a veteran.

In order for a veteran to apply they must have their DD214 discharge papers. The application is three pages. They must also declare their income along with their spouse and include their medical expenses to bring down their cost of living.

Esplin also mentioned that the VA can act as a secondary to a veteran's medical health care or become a primary if they don't have a primary care doctor.

Furthermore, she mentioned that the VA can offer things that medicare and their private insurance doesn't. For instance, the VA offers high quality hearing aids for veterans.

"The big thing that a lot of veterans want are hearing aids," Esplin said. "VA has top of the line hearing aids, that on the market would cost 6,000 dollars. In the VA healthcare, once you're in, your copay would be around 200 dollars. So just that is super significant for a veteran."

Another benefit that the VA offers is longterm in-home services. If a veteran is having a hard time dressing and bathing, they can be evaluated by a VA social worker to see if they qualify for their in-home service program. If qualified, the VA will send aides and homemakers. Through the VA, the veteran could also hire someone they know and the VA will pay them the appropriate wages.

"The way it works is if there is a vet that does need help with ADLs; the bathing, dressing, transferring, toileting, and the vets are living at home, then they can apply into that program," said Esplin. "It's a really great program for veterans so they can still remain at home and they can identify someone to help take care of them."

MUCH ADO about Shakespeare Festival improvements

IRON COUNTY TODAY

Utah Shakespeare Festival Executive Producer Frank Mack addressed the Cedar City Council during last week's meeting to update the council on the festival and ongoing improvements.

"I'm really grateful that I get a chance to talk to you and just share some of the things that are happening at this festival because there's some big changes in the coming future," Mack said.

The actors are back!

by Mary Anne ANDERSEN

CEDAR CITY ARTS COUNCIL

On Monday, May 13, the population of Cedar City increased by about 300 in one fell swoop. That is the number of actors and technicians that will make up the Utah Shakespeare Festival company this summer. Things got off to a start, as they always do, with a welcoming barbecue sponsored by the Utah Shakespeare Guild, a picnic that I love way out of proportion to the food served. It has become my beginning-of-summer ritual, an event that signals the start of the activities for which we moved here from California 20 years ago.

On this day, actors arrive by private car, shuttle, plane, and motorcycle to begin rehearsing and building, sewing, wiring, and painting for the opening of the performance season in about six weeks. Many of them are new to the company—last year over half were also new, I believe. Others are actors and techies who have been coming for many years. They are the ones that make me swoon as I stalk them in the grocery store aisles.

On this first day, company members receive a packet with information on how to live and thrive in Cedar City for 3 months. One of the first things it says is, drink lots of water and prepare for altitude-sickness headaches for about 3 days. What?

Yes. We don't realize that living at almost 6,000 feet is not normal for most people, and they need to acclimate.

They receive phone numbers for medical resources, restaurant locations, and addresses for their living accommodations. They can get a start at moving in, but believe it or not, each of them will have things to do and places to be even on the first day. There is a general welcome meeting and then some of the actors might have appointments for their first costume measurements before dinner! Some techies might immediately meet with the head carpenter to get their construction assignments. The stitchers will receive their work stations from the costumer and the actors themselves may have rehearsal call that very first day!

I remember the first barbecue we attended where I was prepared to settle in for a couple of hours and gaze around with star-struck eyes. The food was being devoured at a brisk pace and welcome baskets were being awarded to lucky ticket holders and then everybody got up and left. They had their first read throughs that very first night!

So it was this year as I looked around for people I might recognize. I was glad to see some students from the University, like Ian Allred and Sarah Funk. I was waving when my husband said, "Here comes Hamlet." It was Quinn Mattfeld, seen two years ago as a love-struck Shakespeare—Hamlet this year. His wife Betsy Mugavero was Juliet two years ago, Desdemona last year. (She has done a lot of dying for us.) I hope to run into them in the produce section with their darling baby boy, the youngest member of the 2019 company, and welcome them back.

Cedar City's Red Rock Singers invites the community "across the pond" to a choral concert with songs from the British Isles, May 30, at 7:30 pm in the Southern Utah Museum of Art, 13 South 300 West.

The 35-member group is directed by Drs. Keith Bradshaw and Steven Meredith and is accompanied by Tracey Bradshaw. They will perform such English folk songs as "Skye Boat Song," "The Kerry Dance," "Barbara Allen," and "Danny Boy," as well as arrangements by the Beatles' and The King's Singers, among others. Lydia Feild is a guest percussionist and pianist. "So much of the music from the British Isles is familiar to us," says Bradshaw. "Whether it is traditional or more contemporary music, we feel a connection to these cultures and countries in such a fond way."

2019 season and commented on the construction project underway.

"Many of you may have noticed there's a pretty big construction project going on over there," he said. "Which is the result of some donations from festival supporters to build a clock tower, a new sweet shop, which is a concession stand, and a gift shop that (Southern Utah University) builds in collaboration with the festival so we can have a gift shop right there in the (Engelstad Shakespeare Theatre)."

Mack added the statue of Fred Adams has been moved to the courtyard and new trees and seating have been added as well.

"It should be a really beautiful, wonderful way to come and spend more time at the festival," he said.

He also commented on the option to extend the 2020 season of the Festival due to the recent adoption of the three-year bachelor's degree program by Southern Utah University and the resulting changes to the university's calendar year.

"This has a profound effect on the festival and it opens up lots of great opportunities for us," Mack said. "One of the things I've come to hear, from many members of the business community especially, is that it would be great if the festival were longer. With the change in the academic calendar and a long-held interest in producing during the month of the June, we're going to be able to do that in 2020."

GROUNDBREAKING CEREMONY held for Cedar Band Travel Plaza

COREY BAUMGARTNER

by Trinity PAJÓN

IRON COUNTY TODAY

On Monday May 13, the Cedar Band Corporation performed a groundbreaking ceremony for their upcoming Cedar Band Travel Plaza off of I-15 Exit 51.

This project has been planned for the past 20 years and is now being developed. The project was in process in 2009 but the plans didn't work out. Cedar Band Corporation Board of Directors Chair Gerald Van Iwaarden stated that the Cedar Band Corporation based their project on surveys and the success of the Cedar Band Trading Post.

Van Iwaarden further elaborated on the plans for the Cedar Band Travel Plaza. He stated that there will be electric automobile charging stations from Tesla, fast food restaurants and a restaurant on the south side of the project.

"We will have a great travel entity here," he said. "It will be a great place of employment, service and also for the benefits of the traveling public."

Elders of the Paiute Indian Tribe of Utah and the Cedar Band Paiute Band Council were in attendance to officiate the ceremony. Earlier that morning, Band Councilman Robert Pete Senior blessed the land in all four directions to be a safe haven for those who are traveling. This particular blessing was conducted before the groundbreaking ceremony because recording via video and audio is prohibited due to the sacred significance.

Pete Sr. stated, "I prayed that

Celebrating life

I found out a few days ago that I have a new, interesting friend...David Keith, who lives somewhere close to my daughter, Diane, in southern California. Diane plays Pickle Ball with David, who recently retired from the Oxnard Police Department and is now writing novels based on some of his experiences over thirty years. Anyway, he has read some of my columns and liked them and now I feel like we are becoming friends. In fact, one character in Mr. Keith's new novel, Top Shelf, is going to be named LaNiece. (The "la" comes from my husband's name, Lawrence Albert and "niece" comes from me, Berniece.) I bet you figured that out all by yourself huh? I also just found out today that LaNiece will be a strong, African-American woman in the book. Now I wonder why that surprised me??? Anyway, I like detective stories and I imagine Mr. Keith has a lot of interesting background experiences to draw from. I wonder if he would mind being called Berniece's favorite Defective Detective author?

So much has happened since I submitted a column that I've forgotten how... Thanksgiving came and went without much ado...Christmas is just a blur and that little New Year baby slipped in without much splash at all. Valentine's day was delightful and full of nice gifts, candy and fun entertainment. There is always something interesting and entertaining going on here at Brookdale. The management staff, the CNA personnel and most all of the employees are especially courteous and kind, and work hard to make our time here pleasant...AND there seems to be no shortage of people from the City who come to entertain us. We thank them for this and look forward to the time they spend with us. All in all, it is a pretty nice place to be living at most of the time but, of course, there are always those who are dying to get out.

If any of you are wondering why I haven't written a column for a while, it's because I came down with Pneumonia in November. I really was sick and wondered if maybe I was going to die. I understand most old people usually do die from Pneumonia and there are still things I need and want to do before that happens. Now, if I could only remember what was so important, I'd get on with it!!

As a matter of fact, I celebrated my ninetieth birthday, that's ten years shy of a century, on May fifth which was also Cinco de Mayo. (We had tacos at my daughter, Lori's house.) However, my family surprised me with a birthday party the day before here at Brookdale. It was beautiful! There were purple satin table clothes and fresh cut lilacs from my very own bushes on Highland drive. Many friends and family showed up and crowned me queen for the day. Three of the cute CNA girls came by with a guitar and sang "Country Roads" and "Happy Birthday." It was great and I would like to thank all those who came by to celebrate with me.

I have loved writing these columns for the Iron County Today newspaper but lately I keep running out of time before I get one finished. The days seem to be getting shorter instead of longer for me. I read somewhere that old age is like a bank account. You withdraw from it what you've put in. I have a choice. I can spend the day in bed recounting the difficulty I have with the parts of my body that no longer work, or get out of bed and be thankful for the ones that do.

Wadsworth addressed guests and spoke briefly about the growth Canyon Creek Services has seen since its beginnings as the Canyon Creek Women's Crisis Center. He also spoke about CCS's dual program status in providing services and prevention for domestic violence and sexual assault and the organization's goals for the community.

"One of Canyon Creek's legacies is that it has been carried forward by highly capable, qualified, educated and experienced women throughout its 25-year history, including today," Wadsworth said.

He discussed the services CCS provides for residents of Iron, Beaver and Garfield Counties.

"As a community-based organization, we do not have to require burdens of proof or evidence, nor do we screen people to determine if they are qualified for our help," he said. "We simply start by

Wadsworth discussed the organization's name change, where funding comes from and a new Work for Men initiative.

Daughters of the American Revolution take on Wreaths Across America

by Trinity PAJÓN

IRON COUNTY TODAY

Last Wednesday May 15 the Daughters of the American Revolution held a meeting at the Cedar City public library with the topic of Wreaths Across America.

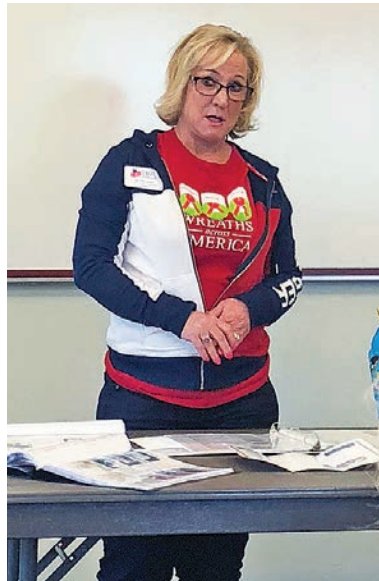

Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) is a women service group dedicated to the educational and historical preservation of national society. Members of this group are women who have traced their lineage back to an American Revolutionary war patriot. Much of their work consists of a variety of community service. Wreaths Across America is one event that many DAR chapters adopt.

Guest Speaker, Regent Valerie King of the Color Country Chapter in St. George, visited the local Cedar City Bald Eagle Chapter to get them involved with Wreaths Across America. She gave suggestions to the Bald Eagle Chapter on how to start their own program for Wreaths Across America as well as the fundraising to help make it happen.

December 14 is the National Wreaths Across America day which is driven by the goal to cover all veteran graves with Christmas wreaths.

Groups such as the DAR hold fundraisers every year to prepare for this event as well as gather volunteers to lay the wreaths on each grave. In addition to the laying of the wreaths, they also hold a ceremony on National Wreath Across America Day to honor the fallen heroes.

King stated that the purpose of this grand event is to “Remember and honor those who have served in a special way to keep the memory of them and what they did alive.”

Wreaths Across America started when a wreath company called Worcester Wreath Company in Harrington, Maine had an excess of 5,000 wreaths and owner Morrill Worcester decided to use the extra wreaths to cover veteran graves at Arlington cemetery.

It had started on the east coast and gradually made its way nationwide. King stated that the growth of this event is because, “It’s so emotionally gripping that it’s going to bring you back year after year because it’s such a unique way to honor those who have served--It’s because of those men and women who have served and preserved those freedoms for us.”

Your finest hours

The Rut
LESS TRAVELED

by Corey BAUMGARTNER

IRON COUNTY TODAY

Memorial Day is Monday. Whether we have the day off or not, I hope we will truly celebrate and appreciate our country’s fallen heroes and our freedoms. Their mettle is more valuable than any medal they could have ever received. As such we should always remember to be grateful for our freedoms, lives and for those who continue to fight for and defend us, including our dedicated first responders. They continue to give their all, too often without a vacation or recreation, to protect what matters most in our lives.

When was the last time you really thought about what matters most in your life? Maybe you feel like the wars in your life have taken away the precious and valuable people and places? Sadly, wars are designed to do just that, and the world is full of battlefields of broken hearts and fallen soldiers. Those battles and battlefields include fear, loneliness, abuse, abandonment, addictions, anger and countless other afflictions.

Whatever battles you face today, even those you have been fighting for a long time, you must keep fighting. I know it’s not easy, not even close. But all battles must come to an end and to those left standing, or even to those barely breathing, go the victor’s crown. Sometimes, not giving up is the truest victory and you are worth not giving up on. No matter who said you weren’t worth it or knocked you down. No matter who made you feel ugly, worthless, or unimportant, deep in your heart you know a different story. You know that there is much more to you than meets the brash and blind eyes of those who can no longer see your worth and beauty because they can no longer see their own. That’s not a rut, it’s a pitiful pit.

It’s time to remember who you are and who you can be. Stop scowling at your scars and start staring again at the stars. I’m not talking about wishful thinking, or forgetting that your past ever happened, but rather to realize that you are not your past. Life isn’t about where you’ve been as much as it is about where you’re going. Yes, you may have learned some lessons the hard way, but living a happy and fulfilling life is not about perfection, but the direction in which you’re now headed. Remember that you are still in control of your own destiny. Despite the delays and detours, you will see that what lies between you and the rest of your life is not your painful past, but your full-of-potential present.

Have the courage to set foot upon life’s battlefields one more time and raise your banner of new beginnings. You can even be a hero to someone else struggling and fighting the same battles you have learned and earned the victory over. There is still a hero inside of you, right now. Get back into the battles and may these be your finest hours.

ICSD News Nuggets

from Le Ann

IRON COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT

Three Peaks Elementary

Mrs. Cassie Walker's 4th grade class presented a robotic "book report" about Treasure Island. Class members programmed different characters from the book to portray the story line and at the same time learned about coding. What a great alternative to the paper-pencil book report! First, second, and third grade students were excited to visit the Cedar City Aquatic Center on May 16. They always have a tremendous time swimming, playing, and slipping down the slide. Thank you, Cedar City for providing this great facility for our community and school to use.

On May 17, Kindergarten classes presented a program for parents and the school. They did a wonderful job on their songs and speaking parts. Thank you to the Kindergarten teachers, Mrs. Kim Hardin, Mrs. Kellie Nowland, and Mrs. Shelly Barney, for teaching and preparing these students for their program and for entering the first grade. A reminder that Kindergarten will not be held on the last day of school which is May 22. All other grades will dismiss for the summer at 12:00 noon.

Enoch Elementary

Enoch Elementary 5th grade hiked Snow Canyon on May 16. They learned more about landforms and lava flows. They also visited the Canyon View Middle School on May 15 for an orientation to welcome them for next year.

Congratulations to all the winners of the Fun Run prizes and to the top readers of the year. Five lucky readers won kindles.

1st graders learned about plants at the Ladybug Nursery on May 15. Each student brought home a plant, and each class received a bag of ladybugs to interact with. They also enjoyed lunch at the park.

Kindergarten and 2nd grade performed for parents this week. Mrs. Kimmy Soper's 3rd grade class performed the play A Midsummer Night's Dream. Great job students and teachers!

We want to say thank you and a heartfelt goodbye to Mrs. Janet Thorley and Mrs. Hettie Gardner. These wonderful ladies have helped many students for over twenty years. We will miss them! Happy retirement!

A FOND FAREWELL to Mrs. Janet Thorley and Mrs. Hettie Gardner.

East Elementary

The last days of school have been an All-American celebration for our East Eagles! Students learned about the Fourth of July, and many participated in a poster contest. The contest participants each received an American flag lapel pin. We closed the end-of-the-year assembly by singing Happy Birthday to America and enjoying red, white, and blue cupcakes. We'd like to express our gratitude to our phenomenal kitchen staff who were willing to take on the making and frosting of 600 cupcakes during the last week of school! We would also like to thank Lin's for their donation, which covered the cost of all the cake mixes needed.

Our PTA has worked hard every day to support our students, and we are exceptionally grateful for their efforts. One of the many programs they've worked on has been our reading program. We had 284 students reach the top reading award of "Golden Eagle!" In addition to the awards they've received as they progressed through the levels, on Field Day they enjoyed a delicious ice cream treat after our annual school barbecue.

Our students have worked so hard and achieved incredible growth this year. We want to keep that progress rolling forward. Please ensure that your child reads daily for a minimum of 20 minutes. Students can lose months of progress if they don't pick up a book all summer. We wish all East Eagles and their families a fun and safe summer! We'll see you next year!

Sons of Utah Pioneers award essay contest winner

from Howard THORLEY

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

Each year the Sons of Utah Pioneers hold a special ancestral essay contest. The contest is open to fourth graders in the elementary schools in Cedar City, Enoch, and Escalante Valley. This year more than 100 students submitted essays about their ancestors. Schools that participated were South Elementary, Iron Springs Elementary, Three Peaks Elementary, Fiddlers Elementary, Enoch Elementary, Gateway Preparatory Academy, and Escalante Valley Elementary. First, second, and third place winners were awarded in each school with one overall winner.

Oaklee Thorley, Iron Springs Elementary, was the overall winner and won $50 and a subscription to Pioneer Magazine. She will be sharing her essay at a town meeting at the Rock Church on July 24 and riding on a float sponsored by the SUP in the 24th of July parade.

everyone who comes from the four directions will come here and be safe, be happy and have a good time whatever it may be.”

The ceremony itself started with an invocation by Eleanor Tom in the Paiute language to bless the Cedar Band Travel Plaza. She explained the gratitude displayed in her blessing.

“I was really happy to pray for what’s coming here for our people because it’s been a long time, and a lot of promises are fulfilled,” she said. “I’m happy for our Creator to watch over us and bless us and to bless the people that are here, and the people that come from a long distance.”

CEO of the Cedar Band Corporation Paul Terry who launched the ceremony remarked on the significance of the occasion.

“We are indeed grateful for this opportunity to build what I think will be a tremendous physical and economic asset to Cedar City and the Band,” he said. “We have worked hard over the last 20 years to get to this point and we hope that you will all stop here as you travel up and down I-15 to get your gas, goodies and rest.”

TALENT SHOW

MATTHEW 25:14-30

The Bible is full of poignant parables. One that I both enjoy and cringe at the same time when I read it is the “Parable of the Talents”. I enjoy it because it reminds me that God gives everyone talents to make a difference in this world with. I cringe because I know how often I have “buried” my talents, or not used them as wisely and worthily as I could have. Still, I am thankful for every day and every opportunity that I have to use and improve them...if I’m willing to work to do so.

In the parable, the Master is leaving on a journey. Before He leaves, He entrusts three of his servants with different amounts of His money (talents), according to their ability and His wisdom. To one He gave five talents. To another He gave two talents and to the last He gave one talent. When He returned He asked for an accountability of what the servants did with His money. After all, He wasn’t just giving them His money to keep it safe. There was an expectation of investing and increasing.

As the servants give an account of their increase, the Master thanks and blesses them. He knows that because they were faithful over a few things, they can be trusted with many things. However, the 3rd servant was afraid and unwilling to invest and increase the single talent given to him. The Master not only took back the talent but spoke of casting the unprofitable servant into outer darkness.

What is your best talent(s)? Perhaps you sing, build, paint, write, speak, or grow. Perhaps you have a talent for organizing or designing. Perhaps your special gifts are inspiring, comforting or leading others. Maybe you don’t think you have any talents, or that the ones you’ve got aren’t good enough to make a difference in this world? I believe Jesus would disagree with you. Each one of us has been given a talent and no talent or gift is too small for the Savior to use to change the world.

If you’ve buried your talent, it’s time to get your shovel of faith and dig it up. Because we each have a responsibility and accountability to use and improve our talents—whether we have one or many—to bless our lives and the lives of others. While we may not have been given equal talents and opportunities, if we will turn to God and trust Him to help us, we can do equally great things with one talent as someone else can do with their ten talents. We should also remember that despite the fame and glory of the world, life is not about competition, but complementing each other’s unique and God-given abilities. So, if I will do my part, and you will do your part, then we can be confident that we will each make the difference we were sent to earth to make. Let’s get to work.

Wadsworth said. “We believe in our bones that someday Iron, Beaver, and Garfield Counties will have communities free of domestic and sexual assault. That is our legacy; we have inherited it and it is the one we intend to extend into the future.”

Lady Reds repeat as 4A track champs

by Tom ZULEWSKI

IRON COUNTY TODAY

With a slim lead heading into the final track event of the day at the BYU campus in Provo, the Cedar girls team knew they needed something that put them on the podium after the 4x400-meter relay was complete.

When all was counted, the Lady Reds finished just high enough to hold another championship trophy.

Thanks to a sixth-place finish in that relay with a time of 4 minutes, 4.36 seconds, Cedar overcame Desert Hills and claimed its second straight 4A title by a single point. The Thunder won the relay, but the Lady Reds won the big trophy by finishing with 107 points.

Among the other highlights for Cedar, Utah-bound Jasie York won the 400-meter dash in 56.50 and was second in the 200 (25.55) as well as the 800 (2:14.52). The field events saw Denim Henkel finish first in the shot put (35-8.25), Mayci Torgerson in the high jump

(5-5), and Logann Laws in the javelin (140-2) by more than 18 feet ahead of her nearest challenger.

The race among the rest of the 4A teams was for third place, and Canyon View came in 10th overall with 24 points. UVU-bound senior Larissa Dabb finished second in the 400 and was part of the relay team that finished fourth in the 4x400.

In the 2A girls meet, Parowan was fourth overall with 52.5 points and Gabby Hasemeyer was the lone event champion, winning the long jump with a leap of 15-6.25.

The 4A boys race saw Canyon View finish in a tie for eighth with Bear River with 36 points. The Falcons topped the field in the 4x400 relay in a time of 3:24.60, just five-hundredths in front of runner-up Salem Hills. Brayden Cavalieri teamed with Jayden

Lady Reds fall twice at 4A softball

by Tom ZULEWSKI

IRON COUNTY TODAY

For all of the success enjoyed by the Cedar Lady Reds during its 2019 softball season, there was one major hurdle looming on the horizon when its run through the 4A state playoffs continued May 16.

With Tooele sophomore pitcher Attlyn Johnston throwing strikes, Cedar had no answer and fell in surprising fashion at the Spanish Fork Softball Complex.

A hit batter led to a four-run third inning, and the Buffaloes added a grand slam in the fifth to help put away a 10-0 shutout in six innings over Cedar, handing the Lady Reds just its third loss on the season. Cedar was held to two hits and Johnston struck out 12 in the win, while senior pitcher Kenzie Waters suffered her first loss.

Cedar's second game of the day was played about 30 minutes after the first in anticipation of weather issues, and the result ended up the same. The Ridgeline Riverhawks scored three runs in the bottom of the fifth inning, and it was good enough for a 5-3 win that eliminated the Lady Reds from the playoffs with a 22-4 record.

Brittanie Simcox and Japrix Weaver hit solo homers for Cedar in the loss, two of only four hits the team had in total. Tia Washington was the winning pitcher for the Riverhawks.

Ridgeline claimed its third Region 9 victim of the tournament when it opened the day with a 5-1 win over Canyon View in the first elimination game. The Riverhawks did their damage in the first three innings, including three runs in the second that helped build a 5-0 lead.

Canyon View scored a run off Washington in the bottom of the fifth, but three errors proved costly in the loss as the team finished the season with a 17-7 overall record.

Shatyl Denevan will be representing Utah in the U15 Girls Division in Detroit, Michigan, July 2019 at the Junior Gold Bowling Championships. The Junior Gold Bowling Championship is an annual national tournament for the top male and female youth bowlers in the United States. The tournament also awards scholarships and gives youth bowlers in the U20 and U15 divisions the opportunity to earn a spot on the Junior Team USA.

Shatyl earned her place in the tournament on April 28, 2019 while participating in the annual Pepsi Tournament at Valley Lanes in Kearns UT. Shatyl finished the first day of the tournament with a 428 series earning her spot to advance to day two. She bowled a 364 series the second day putting her total for both days at 792, advancing her to the step ladder finals. She started her stepladder finals bowling her first game against her local teammate winning by 4 pins. She won her second game by 18 pins. Her third game was against a fierce competitor whom Shaytl has competed against for the last 2 years as top 3 in their division at the Pepsi Tournament. The results of that 3rd game was a 1 pin win with Shatyl coming out ahead.

Shatyl has been bowling since she was 5 years old. She started bowling on a Saturday morning prep league in Lander, Wyoming, when her family relocated to Enoch in July of 2015. She continued bowling at the Cedar Bowling Center as part of the Tuesday Junior league.

Shatyl and her family will be hosting a variety of fundraisers to help offset costs to get her to Michigan. One of these fundraisers will be a bake sale held at the Cedar Bowling Center (421 E Hwy 91, Cedar City UT) during the Utah Summer Games Bowling on June 7th (youth bowlers) 10am-end of day and on June 8th (adult bowlers) 10am-end of day. # Redmen eliminated at 4A baseball playoffs

by Tom ZULEWSKI

IRON COUNTY TODAY

After a pair of one-run games at the opening weekend of the 4A state baseball tournament, the Cedar Redmen – Region 9's No. 4 seed – swung the momentum in the opposite direction May 15.

Needing a win to keep its season alive, Cedar broke a 2-2 tie with two runs in the fourth inning, and seven more in the fifth that put away an 11-2 victory over the Orem Tigers at Weber High. Catcher Trevor Brunson had two hits and drove in two runs as the Redmen advanced.

Kolby White and Bridger Bunnell added two hits apiece, and Tanner Eyre went the distance on the mound, allowing six hits and striking out five for Cedar. Orem committed five errors.

In the second game of the day played at Lindquist Field in Ogden, the Redmen couldn't build on an early two-run lead as Bear River got five RBIs from Wyatt Roholt to finish off a 12-2 victory that put an end to Cedar's season with a 15-14 overall record.

The Bears took advantage of five Cedar errors, scoring four runs in the bottom of the second, five in the third, then finishing the win early with three runs in the fifth. Roholt had three of Bear River's 12 hits in the victory, while winning pitcher Tyler Hinkle and Easton Lish added two hits apiece.

Region 9 favorites Dixie and Desert Hills were still remaining after the weekend, but weather delayed the tournament to Monday at Hurst Field in St. George. Dixie rallied from a 3-1 deficit and stayed alive with a 4-3 win in nine innings over Snow Canyon, then beat Tooele 11-2 on May 15 and followed up with a 4-0 shutout over Lehi on May 16.

The Flyers faced Spanish Fork in an elimination game in search of its third straight state title, while Desert Hills and Salem Hills played afterward for a berth in the championship game that was played May 21. Both matchups were too late for press deadline.

Japrix Weaver, Denim Henkel and Brittne Simcox were named to the first team, while sisters Kelsi and Kylie Oldroyd received second-team honors.
