Sons of the Utah Pioneers turning hearts of children to their grandfathers

from Don Anderson

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

Fourth graders study Utah history in school and this year 352 of them wrote an essay about a family member or a person in Utah history, and they were all excellent. They were also given about $700 in cash and prizes. Nine of the winners were recognized on July 24th at the Sons of Utah Pioneers traditional Town Meeting held at the Rock Church in Cedar City. Howard Thorley, the Chairman of the SUP Essay Writing Contest, reports that two of our winners have had very special experiences during the writing of their essays.

Kyle Tebbs won the prestigious First Place award for the school district for his essay on his late grandfather Richard Tebbs. When Howard called to remind Kyle about the SUP Town Meeting on July 24, his father Bruce shared how excited Kyle was about winning and being able to read his essay at the Town Meeting. Bruce said Kyle had shared his essay with many of his family members; one in particular was Kathryn Ipson, who passed away earlier this month.

When Kathryn (who is a sister to Kyle's grandmother Irene Tebbs) heard about Kyle winning the contest, she asked him to come visit and read his essay to her. When he did, she was so impressed she asked what his award had been. When Kyle reported he had received $75 and was the overall winner in the school district, she wrote him a check in the amount of $75 to match the amount of the SUP award and told him to put it in his mission fund. It was probably the last check she wrote because she passed away only days after that event.

Kaleb Lopez, who was the first-place winner for East Elementary, also had a meaningful experience with his essay. Kaleb and his family are in Hawaii at the funeral of the grandfather he wrote about in his essay. He was not back in time to attend our Town Meeting, but Kaleb shared his essay as part of his grandfather's funeral program. Imagine how close he has become to this grandfather who has now passed away.

The SUP sponsored Essay Writing Contest is an annual event, and all fourth-grade students are encouraged to participate.

IRON COUNTY WATER STEWARDS

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

KELLY CRANE

With southern Utah experiencing its worst drought in 127 years, leaders in the Cedar Valley community are looking to solutions for the future with elevated urgency. For 15 years the Central Iron County Water Conservancy District has been working on a project designed to help replenish Iron County's declining aquifer and to bring additional water to the region.

As the District progresses through the planning phase for the Pine Valley Water Supply Project, the expertise of District Engineer Kelly Crane is one of its biggest assets.

Crane, of Ensign Engineering, has been with the District since August 2004 and has been involved in major infrastructure work throughout the valley, aquifer recharge projects, and the PVWS project, which will import water from a valley about 60 miles northwest of Cedar City.

Over the years the District has been approached by various neighborhoods in the unincorporated county areas that were having problems with their water systems or that didn't have capacity for firefighting. The District has taken over those systems, providing water service throughout the valley, as far as the Three Peaks area to the west, Cedar Highlands east of Cedar City, and Chekshani Cliffs south of Kanarraville.

It has rehabilitated springs, built water tanks, and installed pipe to connect neighborhoods and ensure residents have a reliable water supply. Crane has been integral to those projects, and he said he is proud of the infrastructure that has been installed.

He is also proud of the recharge work that has been done, which has put more than 14,000 acre-feet of additional water into the aquifer since 2016.

"Really, I think the biggest, most important thing for people in the Cedar Valley to understand is that we have challenges with our water resources, and the Water Conservancy District has worked for many years to make sure that we have solutions for those challenges. We do have some of those solutions," Crane said.

"Some of that is recharge, some of that potentially could be reuse from the water treatment plant, some of that is conserving water, and some of that will be the Pine Valley Water Supply project, which will bring additional resources in," he added. "So, it's really a big undertaking, but we try to watch all the different aspects of where things are going and how they're being done so that we can meet the needs of the consumers here."

He said the PVWS project is necessary because of our overdrawn aquifer and limited water supply. He pointed out that every major community in the state that does not have a significant supply of water has imported water from other areas.

"It's happened throughout the whole state, from St. George to Logan to the Salt Lake Valley. All of them have done the same types of projects," Crane said. "This one's a little unique, but it's a fun project to work on."

District General Manager Paul Monroe said Crane has been the District Engineer for longer than he or any of the current staff members have been there, and his understanding and expertise are an irreplaceable asset for the District.

"Kelly has been a consistent and stable voice in helping direct the District," said Monroe. "He has a great understanding of water in our valley and has helped with many essential water projects throughout the years."

The Iron County Water Stewards program recognizes community members for contributing to the effort to optimize every drop of water in Iron County. The Central Iron County Water Conservancy District (CICWCD) is actively engaged in education, conservation, reuse and import projects to meet the growing demands on local water supply. For every effort you make to conserve, we consider you a water steward, too. For more of the story and to Get to Know Your H2O, visit www.cicwcd.org.

USU Extension Sponsors “Buy Produce for Your Neighbor” Food Drive

The Utah State University Extension Create Better Health (SNAP-Ed) program sponsors “Buy Produce for Your Neighbor,” a food drive designed to help those in need of fresh produce. Held at select farmers markets in Utah, participants are encouraged to purchase extra produce at the market, then drop it off at the Create Better Health booth there. The food will then be donated to the local food pantry.

“We are excited about this program that will allow those who may not have access to high-quality, fresh produce to enjoy the taste and health benefits of eating locally grown fruits and vegetables,” said LaCee Jimenez, social marketing and policy, systems, and environment coordinator for Create Better Health.

Food pantries often rely on donations to provide food to people in need. Jimenez explained that for people who depend on food pantries for their nutrition, it is critical that pantries offer healthy food options. The public has an opportunity to help people in need eat well when they donate nourishing food items, like fresh produce.

In 2020, working at four farmers markets, “Buy Produce for Your Neighbor” provided over 1,500 pounds of fresh produce to Utah food pantries, thanks to generous donors, including many of the farmers at the markets.

The food drive will be held at select farmers markets in Cache, Weber, Davis, Salt Lake, Utah, Duchesne, Uintah and Iron counties.

For further information, contact Jimenez at 435-797-3923 or lacee.jimenez@usu.edu.

Maverik — Adventure’s First Stop Launches “Round Up Your Change for Feeding America®” Campaign

Maverik — Adventure’s First Stop is supporting communities still impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic through an initiative with Feeding America®, the nation’s largest domestic hunger-relief organization. Maverik’s “Round Up Your Change for Feeding America” program invites customers to round up their transaction to the nearest dollar to help fight hunger and benefit the Feeding America network of food banks. The donations raised will stay local, benefitting food banks in nearby communities.

The program will run from July 20 through Sept. 6 across all Maverik stores in 11 western states.

“Our communities have supported us for more than 90 years, and it’s important to Maverik to give back,” said Chuck Maggelet, President and Chief Adventure Guide of Maverik. “Because of the pandemic, the demand for food remains at an all-time high. We’re proud to team up with Feeding America to help our neighbors with food resources that will fuel their favorite adventures.”

Maverik participated in its first “Round up Your Change for Feeding America” initiative in February at all stores in 11 states. Donations generated over $180,000 for local food banks in those communities.

This “Round Up Your Change for Feeding America” campaign will raise funds to align with Feeding America’s Hunger Action Month in September, an annual campaign dedicated to driving awareness and inspiring action to help end hunger in America.

Maverik decided to align with Feeding America given its breadth of food distribution services across the country. Through its food assistance network of 200 food banks and 60,000 food partners, the Feeding America network of food banks are working on the front lines to help bring food where it is needed most. Because of the coronavirus, more than 42 million people could face hunger, with an average increase of 55 percent across the country in the number of people seeking help from food banks. Feeding America expects there to be a supply gap of 8 billion meals needed to meet increased demand.

“The last year has brought numerous challenges for the communities we help serve due in large to the pandemic,” said Lauren Biedron, Vice President of Corporate Partnerships at Feeding America. “We are grateful to Maverik for its commitment to help end hunger and provide nourishing food to communities across the country.”

Enjoy the summer with safety tips from the American Red Cross

It may be hot...but you’re not with these tips for HOT WEATHER safety:

- » Listen to local media or updates for the latest weather reports.
- » Never leave children or pets alone in enclosed vehicles.
- » Stay hydrated by drinking plenty of fluids even if you do not feel thirsty. Avoid drinks with caffeine or alcohol.
- » Eat small meals and eat more often.
- » Avoid extreme temperature changes.
- » Wear loose-fitting, lightweight, light-colored clothing. Avoid dark colors because they absorb the sun’s rays.
- » Slow down, stay indoors and avoid strenuous exercise during the hottest part of the day.
- » Postpone outdoor games and activities.
- » Use a buddy system when working in excessive heat.
- » Take frequent breaks if you must work outdoors.
- » Check on family, friends and neighbors who do not have air conditioning, who spend much of their time alone or who are more likely to be affected by the heat.
- » Check on your animals frequently to ensure that they are not suffering from the heat.

Summer safety is at your fingertips with the Free Red Cross Apps:

The Red Cross app “Emergency” puts vital information in your hand for more than 35 different severe weather and emergency alerts. The Red Cross Swim App promotes water safety education and helps parents and caregivers of young people learning how to swim. The Red Cross First Aid App puts instant access to information on handling the most common first aid emergencies at your fingertips. Senator Lee launches new website

WASHINGTON – Sen. Mike Lee (R-UT) launched his new website at Lee.Senate.gov. The new site features a Spanish version, a streamlined design, easier access to information, and an improved constituent comment system. For years, Sen. Lee’s website has helped constituents communicate with Sen. Lee, schedule meetings and tours, learn about his background and policy stances, and stay up-to-date on his efforts to serve the people of Utah.

Of the new website, Sen. Lee said, “I am excited to announce my new website which makes it even easier for Utahns to communicate with me. I have always worked to make my office as accessible and responsive as possible, and this next step is a continuation of that effort.”

FROM THE EDITOR

The real competition

COREY BAUMGARTNER
MANAGING EDITOR

Hi, it's your friendly, neighborhood managing editor with a punctual political public service announcement. As election season gets underway, I have both heard and spoken with several candidates running for election and/or re-election and I am proud of the respect and gratitude they are showing towards each other. They have the wisdom to realize and actualize respect for their co-candidates (as opposed to opponents) and to also recognize that focusing on showcasing their own competence, not shellacking the competition, is the key to earning the trust and votes of our respective communities.

Over the next few weeks and months, I hope you are looking forward to the informational, not confrontational, debates and discussions in our communities. We certainly know we need good leaders to help keep Iron County great and progressing (not just moving) forward.

Please remember to vote. I'm Corey Baumgartner and I approved this message.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear flower thief,

My husband, a decorated Korean War veteran and Purple Heart recipient, passed away July 6 of last year and is buried in the Parowan Cemetery. To commemorate his death, our children sent me a big, beautiful basket of blue, yellow, and white silk flowers to put on his grave. The colors had special meaning.

When I went over this morning the basket was gone. It wasn't even on the grave a month! I just can't imagine someone sinking so low as to steal flowers off of a grave. I'm heartbroken. It's hard enough to lose a spouse, but to have his grave desecrated takes the cake.

Is this what comes of our government removing God from everything? When you take God away, He stays away. Does no one adhere to "Thou Shalt Not Steal" anymore? I haven't cried in a week or so and now I can't stop! Thank you so much, thief.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

"When you get tired, learn to rest, not quit."

Banksy

2021: A Space Oddity

The opinions stated in this article are solely those of the author and not Iron Count Today.

The headline in a science journal shouldn't surprise us: "Today's Humans Carry Portions of Neanderthal DNA." In fact, a new study finds that some 93% of our genome is shared by our early ancestors. As one of the study's biologists explained, "We humans are not so vastly different from Neanderthals." I could have told you that. It's obvious when reviewing three of last week's news stories.

ITEM ONE – The top immunization official in Tennessee was fired and lawmakers shut down all publicity encouraging young people to protect themselves and their families by getting vaccinated. Here you have a Republican governor of an adjacent state begging young people to stop the disease spread with vaccinations while leader of his own party in Tennessee is making sure their residents are ignorant, and not just about COVID, but also vaccines for measles, mumps, tetanus, and hepatitis. As national columnist Leonard Pitts wrote, "If ignorance is really bliss, then Tennessee is the happiest place on earth."

Granted, children are less likely to be harmed by the COVID virus. But even in Utah, more than 81,000 under the age of 18 have tested positive and 729 were hospitalized with 45 in intensive care units. And as we know, cases are rising throughout the nation.

ITEM TWO – A Texas judge has stopped the federal government from giving DACA protection to young folks – mostly from Mexico and Central America – who have lived here most of their lives.

There are two issues here. One is fairness. We have a 20-year old man or woman whom we have educated and who has a clean record. He or she speaks English and may not even speak one word of Spanish. He or she has never been to Mexico or Honduras. They might not know the difference between Salvador or a salamander. They are as likely to eat sushi as they do tamales. They are Americans wanting to contribute to this

★ ★ ★ 2021 IRON COUNTY PRIMARY ★ ★ ★ Election Guide

Editor's note: Due to unforeseen circumstances, we were unable to run both Parowan mayoral candidates' profiles in last week's Iron County Primary Election Guide (July 21st issue). We are reprinting both candidate's profiles in this week's edition and apologize for any concern or confusion this may have caused. Thank you.

PAROWAN MAYOR

— ONE 4-YEAR SEAT —

Preston B. Griffiths

INCUMBENT

My name is Preston B. Griffiths. I am currently the Mayor of Parowan and I am running for reelection.

I am a lifelong resident of Parowan and my wife and I chose to raise our three children here because of our love for the community. I also served as a Peace Officer for over 21 years, 9 of those years as Chief of Police for Parowan City.

While I have been in office as the current Mayor of Parowan and working with our city council, non-essential spending has been reduced, and all departments have balanced budgets. Debt has been reduced, and we have created savings for future expenditures. We also have successfully funded the maintenance and upkeep of our city infrastructure without increasing taxes.

Parowan has faced fires, floods, and a pandemic in recent years – now, a severe drought. I am impressed with how our community has come together to solve problems and keep our city running efficiently.

Because future growth is an important issue, my goal is to maintain balanced growth without overtaxing our infrastructure or losing the sense of community and heritage that embodies the Mother Town.

I am seeking re-election to continue to serve this community I love to the best of my ability. I would appreciate your vote.

Vickie Hicks

I have been a resident of the Parowan/Paragonah area for over 22 years now. I spent four years on the City Council from 2015-2019. Prior to that I was the PTO president at the Elementary School for 4+ years and also a substitute teacher for approximately 7 years (teaching at both schools).

My husband and I owned a business in Parowan for 17 years known as Victoria's Bed and Breakfast. We were also business owners as 7-Eleven Franchisees owning 5 stores for 46 years.

I am currently the Treasurer for two HOA Associations up at Brian Head. I know fiscal responsibility. I know how to manage employees and I know how to run a business. I feel I have a lot to offer Parowan. I love this community and would love the opportunity to "Keep Parowan Great!" Parowan is growing in leaps and bounds and needs to focus on what the community needs to grow wisely, and I think I am that person. I would appreciate your support.

country. It wasn't their fault that their parents didn't have the "proper", hard-to-get papers. It is cruel to threaten to send them back to their "home country." America is their "home country" except in the eyes of Neanderthal legislators and judges who fear the demographic change occurring throughout the U.S.

Not only is it cruel, but it's also stupid. Even in Utah, the birthrate is lower than replacement rate. It's foolish for Sen. Mike Lee to complain that the agricultural sector needs workers when he has voted to cut off immigration, and we are not going to take down the "Now Hiring" signs by tossing out young workers and expecting an influx of Nebraskans to fill needed positions. If men and women are willing to work, get educated, and keep out of trouble, bring them in!

ITEM THREE – At a time when we are experiencing extreme drought, Donald Trump is still arguing that Americans deserve more water flow from their showerheads. Why? Because the pre-Trump regulation made it more difficult for him to take a long shower and adequately shampoo his hair. ("I don't know about you," he said, "but my hair has to be perfect. Perfect!")

Trump's policy was to let showerheads pump out four times the flow of water. Pres. Biden may share some Neanderthal genes, but has had enough sense to stop the rule change before more water could go down the drain.

If our caveman genes are still prominent, maybe we should replace some of our political leaders with Fred and Wilma Flintstone. They couldn't do any worse.

SUU Project Archaeology's "Voices of the Ancients" was the only program held in person this year and helps to enhance and strengthen humanities teaching at the K-12 level.

"This program was a success in large part due to the immense support from the National Endowment for the Humanities, SUU's College of Humanities and Social Sciences, and our meaningful collaborations with tribal elders, K-12 educators, and state, federal, and collegiate colleagues," said Samantha Kirkley, Utah coordinator for Project Archaeology.

"With so much uncertainty while planning last fall, I'm so glad that we were able to have this experience in person. There is no way to connect between Samantha Kirkley, Utah coordinator for Project Archaeology, and Jeanne Moe, EdD, founder and chair of the Institute for Heritage Education (IHE). Nearly three-hundred applicants vied for the chance to attend one of two week-long workshops held this summer at SUU.

The attending teachers studied the ancient inhabitants of the Great Basin region (Fremont), engaged in meaningful dialog with their living descendants, and discovered the importance of place-based learning strategies as part of their Participants experienced and received high-quality, inquiry-based curricular materials for use in their classrooms.

"It was an honor to work so closely with Goshute elder and SUU alumni, Virgil Johnson, and teachers from across the United States," said Kirkley. "We all took the Hero's journey and Virgil was our cultural guide every step of the way. Participants from both sessions claimed to have had life-changing experiences. One teacher from New York said, 'I came here with my head, but I am leaving

Good grief! I was only gone for ten days!

by Mary Anne Andersen

CEDAR CITY ARTS COUNCIL

Honestly! I was gone for just over a week—up north to stay with our daughter, nothing exotic or scary—and when I came back, the neighborhood had changed. In big ways. On my first early-morning walk back, I turned the corner at the end of my street and there was a new house! Of course when I left I knew they were building one—the footings had been poured, the very first few framing boards were in place—but here was a house, fully framed, two stories tall and towering over its neighbor. It changed the look of our entire block.

I kept walking, turned another corner, and there was a big dumpster in front of a neighbor's house. And it was full of what looked like boards and large pieces of structure of some sort. Unfortunately, I wasn't tall enough to see over the sides of the dumpster—I admit I tried, figuring that on the street it was no longer somebody's private business—but it seemed to portend a major renovation or some such. I am so curious—can't wait to ask.

Even more alarming, a few houses along was a U-Haul truck in front of another neighbor's home. Oh no! Are they moving? Is this just a family's stop in transit, maybe? There's another question to ask. Another turn, and there was a large new flag pole in a front yard. The flag was large and obviously new, not just one of those small ones we stick in the holes in the curb. It was beautiful! Thank you for that one, neighbor.

I ended up on Cove Drive, the street that passes by the Temple. I glanced at the green space frontage, contemplating a walk on the trail, and was appalled at the amount of trash in the bushes along the fence. Has it always been this bad? Did I just not pay attention before? I decided then and there to pursue a solo cleanup campaign over the next few days.

There was the usual stuff: cups and straws, soda cans, sandwich wrappers, a pizza box. I reached through the fence to pick up a plastic bag and had a nasty surprise. I thought plastic bags lived forever, but this one disintegrated into a million little bits of clingy plastic, spilling its contents on the ground. Farther on there were large sheets of cardboard and flyers, school papers, advertising brochures and masks. Yuk! Several masks, apparently ripped off in a fit of irritation and thrown out of the car window.

You are shaking your heads as I did, Gentle Readers. Who in our pretty little town thinks it's okay to throw trash on the ground? Not you. Or me. Do parents teach their kids that this is okay? But don't worry, I'm on it. Kept walking....

Oh, look. Someone is letting their lawn go brown to conserve water. Good idea, but it looks terrible. Oh, wait. That's our lawn; I'm home. I'm gone for just ten days and things go to pot.

Cedar City Arts Council's July Art Walk is Friday!

by Shaylene Baruffi-Jensen

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

The Cedar City Arts Council invites you to the three remaining Final Friday Art Walks on: July 30th, August 27th, and September 24th from 5 to 8 p.m. They are free events, and the exhibits are open throughout the summer. Everyone is encouraged to attend! Remember to save the dates and come celebrate our city's arts and culture this summer by bringing your family and friends to the Art Walk.

This Friday's Art Walk will feature various art forms, live jazz, contemporary and classical music, and art demonstrations. There will also be talented performing artists, including Joseph Marrow, Peter Buis, Jubilee Fiddle Camp, Drew Danburry with Icarus Phoenix, Bill & Loretta Westbrook with Jim Howells, Jon Yerby, Jay Jackson, Hey Clementine, and Sara Penny. There will also be displays by Amalia Wells, Hanna Dawson, Jonna Baruffi, Lydia Brescia, Frank & Marytliz Harris, Nawtee Native, Sara Shaw, Sagebrush Fiber Artisans, Southern Utah Watercolor Society, Larry Laskowski, Karen Russell, and several others.

A new location recently added will be the Johnson Center at 59 North 100 West. The Village Voices and a string quartet will be performing in this new arts center. The Johnson Center honors Blaine and Loa Johnson. Recitals, art classes, dance, and other events are now being scheduled. The Southern Utah Museum of Art, IG Winery, Bristlecone, and StonePath will also be hosting artist exhibits and performances in harmony with these Final Friday Art Walks.

For updates about featured artists and musicians visit the Cedar City Art Walk page at <https://www.facebook.com/Cedar-City-Art-Walk-488202448044670>. This will be a fun filled event for the entire family. We hope to see you there!

Jewish artist visits Pioneer Iron County, 1854

PART TWO: MEETING THE SORROWING HARRISON FAMILY

from Jay M. Jones

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

(Part One (Printed July 21, 2021) covered the arrival of the 1854 John C. Fremont expedition to Parowan. Solomon Nunes Carvalho, a Jewish artist and photographer, documented the near disastrous winter journey through the Rocky Mountains and the kindnesses received from the people of Parowan. Part Two covers Carvalho's return visit through Iron County.)

In May 1854, Carvalho returned to Iron County in a large caravan which included Governor Brigham Young and other officials on their annual tour of southern settlements, as well as Parley P. Pratt leading a group of 23 missionaries to Hawaii and other Pacific locations.

In Cedar City, Carvalho stayed at the home of Henry Lunt, who was making final preparations for a mission to England. While enroute to his mission, Lunt delivered a letter from Carvalho to his wife and children staying in New York.

Carvalho writes: "The morning after my arrival [in Cedar City], I arose very early, and taking my sketch-book along, I sauntered around the city; in the course of my peregrinations, I saw a man walking up and down before an adobe shanty, apparently much distressed; I approached him, and inquired the cause of his dejection; he told me that his only daughter, aged six years, had died suddenly in the night; he pointed to the door, and I entered the dwelling.

"Laid out upon a straw mattress, scrupulously clean, was one of the most angelic children I ever saw. On its face was a placid smile, and it looked more like the gentle repose of healthful sleep than the everlasting slumber of death.

"Beautiful curls clustered around a brow of snowy whiteness. It was easy to perceive that it was a child lately from England, from its peculiar conformation. I entered very softly, and did not disturb the afflicted mother, who reclined on the bed, her face buried in the pillow, sobbing as if her heart would break."

The deceased child was Mary Ann

HISTORICAL THREADS

Harrison, daughter of Richard and Mary Harrison of Cedar City. Richard had been superintendent of a large iron foundry in Liverpool, England, and had come to Cedar City to assist in the pioneer iron manufacturing efforts.

Carvalho writes:

"Without a second's reflection I commenced making a sketch of the inanimate being before me, and in the course of half-an-hour I had produced an excellent likeness.

"A slight movement in the room caused the mother to look around her. She perceived me, and I apologized for my intrusion; and telling her that I was one of the Governor's party who arrived last night, I tore the leaf out of my book and presented it to her, and it is impossible to describe the delight and joy she expressed at its possession. She said I was an angel sent from heaven to comfort her. She had no likeness of her child."

Carvalho evaluates this experience: "I continued my walk, contemplating the strange combination of events, which gave this poor woman a single ray of peace for her sorrowing heart.

"When I was about starting the next day [to California], I discovered in the wagon a basket filled with eggs, butter, and several loaves of bread, and a note to my address containing these words — 'From a grateful heart.'"

Carvalho continued his journey to California with Pratt and the missionaries, and then returned to his home on the east coast.

John C. Fremont, the leader of the 1853-54 winter expedition to locate a possible route for the transcontinental railroad, became the Republican nominee for president in the 1856 election, which was won by James Buchanan. With his political activities, the upheaval caused by the Civil War, and the decision to build the transcontinental railroad on a more northerly route, Fremont never did get around to publishing his account of his 5th expedition.

The small sketch of the Harrison child continues to be a local treasure. It was kept in the Harrison family until 1951 when it was donated to the Daughters of Utah Pioneers. It is now housed in the Old Rock Church Museum in Parowan.

A statue on Cedar City's Main Street represents Richard Harrison who lost his daughter Mary Ann, but not her memory thanks to a timely sketch by Carvalho.

“The Art Critic”

I've written about a lot of ruddy concepts in my career as both a writer and as the editor of this newspaper. Someday...I'll hang up my press badge and submit my last columns to pique your critique and/or to offer a final unique perspective and directive on how to live a better life. When that does happen, I'll be sure to have my website up, updated and running, so you won't miss any future furrows.

With that being said, anyone with a particular set of skills (yes, you!), and sacrifices their time (life) to refine those gifts and talents and then also has the courage to submit them for public perception and opinion, has my utmost respect. Because I know that whether it's words, lyrics, paintings, plays, counseling, consoling and a myriad of other miracle-workers out there, it's not easy balancing on that public pedestal. Even when the words flow, I know whatever made those channels of creativity in your life has not always (if ever) been easy to endure. Nevertheless, I believe we were each created to create and to those who feel that inspired pull to make a difference in this world, please don't ignore your special spark.

Yes, I know you may have also been putting that while it's great to give to others (we need those experiences as a foundation and muse for our craft), you've also got to make sure you don't let your own creations decay from delay inside your heart, mind and body.

Maybe you're saying you didn't have a choice and had to give-up on your dream(s).

I understand that pain also. I empathize and also hope to energize you by saying, dream another dream! Maybe you've had some unfair trials and tragedies in your life. I say to you, not only did (will) you survive your challenges, but you are going to allow your setbacks to become setups for comebacks and you will still create your magnum opus; hopefully, one of many!

Because no matter how long you've been sacrificing (or neglecting) your gifts and talents, it's never too late to dream and act. I believe that we each have many hidden your dreams and desires on hold to help others achieve theirs. Perhaps you believe it will bring you kudos and karma. Perhaps now it's time to believe in something even more important—yourself. I know you may not always feel creative, or that your talents aren't as useful as someone else's. I've been there. I know what I'm talking about when I say talents, even back-up talents, so that whether we are 1 or 101 years old, we can still make a difference.

So, no matter what critic finds jaded joy in jeering and jabbing you, or discounting and discrediting you, keep creating your art with all your heart. And though there will be those who cheer and champion you, make sure that your biggest believer and supporter of you is you!

Do you like dogs?

Up until COVID hit, I did not like dogs. In fact, as a kid I literally maneuvered my baby sister between myself and ANY dog. She was a dog lover from an early age and whether the dog was big or small, she never showed signs of fear. Unfortunately, baby sister wasn't always with me and my paper route days on the East side of town was full of dogs. However, I knew where they were and I avoided them if at all possible. Simply put, dogs terrified me.

As a mother of five, our children begged for a dog, but we dissuaded them with other pets – rabbits, fish, snakes, lizards, a turtle and even ducks (a story for another day). Admittedly, I found dog owners rather annoying especially those who treated their dogs like children. With a suburban full of kids, I couldn't imagine adding a dog to my load.

Now let me clear the air, I was not heartless. In fact, my family and I held a funeral for the dog of our dear neighbor—we'll call him Clyde—the neighbor, not the dog. Clyde loved his dog and when his dog passed, the entire neighborhood rallied to show our love for Clyde's best friend. My husband built a dog coffin and another neighbor lined it with satin. The funeral was in Clyde's backyard and it was complete with a eulogy, a talk, a musical number, and refreshments. It was very well attended, complete with dog lovers on the front row crying their eyes out, and Clyde lovers on the back row wondering exactly how they came to be at a dog funeral. It is an event still talked amongst neighbors to this day.

I thought we had cleared the "dog hurdle" until our son brought home a puppy just as COVID hit. Little did I know that this wild, happy, energetic, handsome, smart, athletic rambunctious Border Collie/Australian Shepherd would become our family's "COVID miracle."

GETTY IMAGES

Kobe immediately became an integral part of our family. He drew us together as we looked for activities which could include him. We spent a lot of time during those dreaded early pandemic months outdoors hiking, fishing, camping, and 4 wheeling. Everything was a novelty with the newest member of our family. Kobe even tried joining us in pickleball and basketball. I suppose he thought just because he was named after Kobe Bryant that he possessed his athleticism as a birthright...to be continued next week.

IF YOU BUILD IT, THE KIDS WILL COME

Indoor sports court

Splash Pad & Pavillion

Eight months ago, I put forth my own proposal – to build community parks with splash pads & multi-purpose indoor community gyms throughout Cedar City with a range of amenities:

- 4 Pickleball courts each
- Basketball courts
- Year-round use unconstrained by weather
- 24/7 access with reservation pin code
- Room for spectators
- Convenient locations near neighborhoods
- Adjacent parks with splash pads & other features

These community gyms can be built for a low cost, & private donors are already lined up to foot a significant part of the bill.

Most importantly, this investment will make a real difference in the lives of Cedar City children & families.

I'm proposing four gyms, near Fiddler's Canyon, the airport, Cross Hollows, & downtown.

Serves many sports, such as wrestling, volleyball, tennis, basketball & other activities, like dances & parties.

Dare to dream and build connections

BUILDING MAIN STREET, NOT WALL STREET

As I have visited communities and various businesses over the years, I have seen very few guilty of dreaming too big. In fact, unfortunately most communities, businesses, and their leaders are guilty of the exact opposite. Far too many dream and think far too small. Vic Johnson said it best when he said, “Big dreams drive us to do things we’d never do for lesser dreams — in many ways they almost pull us through the obstacles we’re likely to have on the way to reaching them.” Put another way, it is those seemingly big dreams that actually lead to our greatest successes.

As I have visited with community and business leaders, I have often referred to and written about the communitywide thinking known as a poverty mindset. This isn’t the poverty mindset in the traditional sense of poverty, it is the mindset of allowing your previous experiences and letdowns determine your future dreams and aspirations. When it comes to vision and forward thinking, one of the greatest traits a leader and community can have is that of learning from past experiences and failures, utilizing them as steps in lieu of chains. I am unaware of any community growing to exceed its wildest expectations because they dreamed too small. To be big, one must think and believe big. There is no other way!

Today, we live in a world of rapid change, innovation and transformation. The world can be very unforgiving, even in the best of circumstances. In order for communities to achieve their ultimate destination, they must turn aside the poverty mindset and set their sights much higher. They must cast aside those failed initiatives from yesterday and use them as stair-steps to greater heights. They must take each and every resource at their disposal and find ways to utilize those resources for the greater good.

When a community is seeking to transform, they must look inside themselves to determine who or what they are. A great business leader, Simon Sinek said, “Our friends don’t love us for what we do. Our friends love us for who we are.” Communities are much the same way. People won’t travel to your community consistently for what you do, but rather because of what you are. What is the vibe that you give to those visiting your community? What is the feeling people get when they spend time with you? It is all about building connections between the community and the outside world. The greater the connection you can build, the more powerful the draw will be.

As we dream of where we are going as a community, we must dream of what our potential connections can be. As we dream of what our community can share with others, we must be thinking of how those dreams can be used as connections. As I have visited Eureka Springs, AR, we go there knowing the connection will be the arts. As we visit Branson, we expect the connections will be great entertainment of all types. As we visit communities in and around the Black Hills, we know we will come away with a new connection to the western culture and historical vibe. As we visit Tahlequah, OK, we leave with a greater understanding of the Native American lifestyle or culture and feel more connected.

All the above communities not only dared to dream big, but they found the emotional connections they could successfully share with others. When visitors come to their communities, they leave having had their expectations met. Of the thousands of communities across this great nation working to enhance their connections to travelers and residents alike, few fully capture the essence of what is possible. But for those communities daring to dream big and finding those vital emotional connecting points, success will never feel more rewarding because they dreamed beyond the poverty mindset. They captured the elusive dreams few dare to dream.

No will, no trust... what happens?

by Jeffery J. McKenna

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

Even if you have never signed a will or trust, you have an estate plan. Some of you may be asking, “How?” The answer is the state has a “default estate plan” for those without their own.

In Utah (as in many states), if you die without an estate plan, the law provides that your entire estate will be distributed to your spouse if he or she is alive unless you have children from a prior marriage. If you do not have a surviving spouse, the estate will be distributed to your children and if a child predeceases you, then to that child’s children. If you have no surviving children or children from a prior marriage. As previously stated, the state’s “default estate plan” provides that one-half of your estate will go to children from a prior marriage and the other one-half to your surviving spouse. Often, it may be desirable to allow the surviving spouse to have a lifetime interest in all or a part of your estate until his or her death and at that time the estate could be distributed to your children. Additionally, if you marry later in life, you may desire that all your assets be distributed to your children from a prior marriage because your surviving spouse has sufficient assets of his or her own.

Hopefully, you can see that although we may all have an estate grandchildren (commonly called your “issue”), then your estate will be distributed to other relatives. If you have a surviving spouse and children from a prior marriage, a certain amount is distributed to your surviving spouse and then one-half of the balance of your estate will be distributed to your surviving spouse and one-half to your children.

Although the state “default estate plan” attempts to represent what most people would want to do with their estate if they had done their own estate planning, it may not be what you want. There are many concerns about relying on the state’s “default estate plan.”

If you rely on the state’s “default estate plan,” your desires may not be met when you have plan, it is very beneficial and sometimes crucial that you take the time and effort to develop your own estate plan and not rely on the “default estate plan” established by the state legislature.

The Billionaire Space Race

DIFFICULT QUESTIONS
& TRUTH 101.29

by Edy Meredith

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

What does the Billionaire Space Race portend, point to, and mean? The fact that ultrarich citizens no longer need to depend on government financing and research to attempt to escape Earth's atmosphere ushers in a new age and space race. Of course, ordinary people like Sam and Samantha Citizen need not apply unless they know people in high places, like the teenager and aged astronaut who as a woman in the 1960's trained for space but didn't actually make it. Kudos and congratulations to them for escaping earthly problems at least for a small amount of time by flying high with Jeff Bezos.

This Billionaire Space Race and the current Washington Administration sending money to help us ordinary citizens may give us reason to ignore the domestic catastrophes that surround us, such as: 1) Multiple fires and drought in the western U.S., 2) Floods and storms in the Midwest and eastern U.S., 3) Illegal immigration possibly bringing more deadly illness unchecked into our country, 4) The crime upsurge and homicides in major cities and D.C., and 5) The wholesale releasing of convicted criminals from jail into communities despite the seriousness of their crimes such as murder. (Check out the early release of 2 brothers convicted of killing a West Valley officer in Salt Lake County, Deseret News, July 30, 2020, and their continued crime spree subsequent to their early release.) These events indeed are the times that trouble our souls.

The extremely wealthy such as those in the Billionaire Space Race and those investing their money in arcane pieces of artwork frequently are ignoring facts that demonstrate that the civilization that supports them is sinking because of faulty foundations built on sand. Jean-Michel Basquiat was Haitian-American and artist who died August 12, 1988, of a drug overdose. His artwork currently sells to the ultra-rich for up to $50 million dollars a painting, that is $50,000,000 dollars with 7 zeros behind the $5. Because he died, he cannot produce any more art so the price of his work will only increase. At least that is the theory behind the soaring prices his work receives. The money the ultra-rich invest in art is sold to them as ultra-safe from depreciation or loss of value.

Let us all wake up and call out to the true sovereign of the Universe. The Bible teaches that the just purposes of human government include: 1) The praise and commendation of good, 2) The punishment of evil, 3) The maintenance of peace, and 4) The protection of the oppressed. This is essentially rooted in the purposeful and gracious creation of humanity by God in His own image (Genesis 1:26-27). The psalmist says in Psalm 116:1-2: "I love the Lord because He has heard my voice and my supplications. Because He has inclined His ear to me. Therefore, I will call upon Him as long as I live." Psalm 118: 29: "Oh give thanks to the Lord, for He is good! His mercy endures forever." (Psalm 199:105) His word is a lamp to guide our feet and a light for our path."

Celebrating America: a patriotic program

from Pastor Nancy Pearson

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

More than 250 members of the Cedar City community enjoyed the July 4th weekend with a Patriotic Event on July 3 at Christ the King Catholic Church. Enoch Boy Scout Troop 1848 presided over the flag ceremony under the leadership of Scout Master Roy Tryon.

Prayers were given by Father Adrian Komar of Christ the King Catholic Church and Father Lee Montgomery of St. Jude's Episcopal Church. Cedar City Sheriff Ken Carpenter inspired the crowd with his words on gratitude. Sheriff Carpenter is a USMC retired Major.

Muriel Lee from Community Presbyterian Church presented a poem about the flag "Old Glory," Popular patriotic songs were enjoyed by all. Accompaniment and direction was provided by Christine Valletta and Chris Kadera of Christ the King Catholic Church. Following the program, all enjoyed ice cream treats!

This program was made possible through the financial support of the Cedar City Arts Council and hosted by the faithful volunteers of CAIFA (Cedar Area Interfaith Alliance).

Celebrating patriotism is a proud priority in Iron County and our local CAIFA group put on a patriotic program to remember.

"The Lost Get Found" (Britt Nicole)

Every day we have the opportunity to influence and be influenced by others. We don't know how long we will be in someone's life, or how long they will be in ours. Nevertheless, God wants each of us to know that the worth of souls (including our own) is great! That is why you are created, called, qualified to do all things (Philippians 4:13) and provided all things (Philippians 4:19) so that, spiritually speaking, you can help be His planter, pruner, provider, protector and also a puller (of weeds) in your life and in the they're willing to listen and act (1 Peter 4:10).

If perfection were the required criteria to qualify us to be able to plant a seed of hope in someone's heart (Romans 15:1), or lift up the brokenhearted (Galatians 6:2), or share the fruits of faith and forgiveness, we are of all mankind most miserable (1 Corinthians 15:19). Also, many are miserable because they're so busy blindly seeking the kingdom of God, they don't realize that God is calling them to not just find it, but help Him build it, one seed, one soul at a time.

Where do we get such special seeds? What does it cost to plant/water them and help build God's kingdom (Isaiah 55:1-2)? The answer: our time. Whether it's a moment on a busy sidewalk, grocery store, gas station or graveside, don't be surprised if God uses such moments to prompt and provide you with a seed to influence and inspire (Luke 12:12). I know it's awkward sometimes, but plant in faith, God's got your back. (Isaiah 52:7).

As you're out planting seeds and pulling weeds this week, be bold and brave. Know that God, our Eternal Gardener, will help you know how/when to plant a seed and fulfill a need in someone's life, including your own. Because today there is someone who needs who you are and what you have. Watch for people purposely placed in your path for you to sow a seed of hope, encouragement, or love into the soil of their soul. Keep your eyes and heart open as you stand up and stand out for God. He will provide the right seeds at the right time. Let's get to planting, watering and building. It's time for the lost to get found.

lives of others, especially those who may be lost to the joys Jesus offers to everyone (Luke 15:7).

Sometimes, the lost don't get found as quickly because us planters may be distracted by earthly cares and worries and not hear or adhere to that still small voice prompting us to plant a seed. We also might think that we can't make a difference for God because we don't know enough vital verses, or we're not as spiritually in tune, or our once faithful feet aren't as firmly planted on the Covenant Path following Jesus (Matthew 4:19) as they once were. I believe anyone can make a difference anywhere if

Lehi Kerry Jones

Lehi Kerry Jones, husband, father, grandfather, friend, patriot, devoted disciple passed away July 19, 2021, at age 91. Kerry was a victim of the COVID-19 Delta Variant and Pneumonia. He was the third child and oldest son of Lehi Milton Jones and Bernella Elizabeth Gardner Jones. Kerry was born in Cedar City, Utah on October 29, 1929, also known as Black Tuesday. It was the same day as the infamous Wall Street crash that began the Great Depression. He liked to say his birth was the real cause of the crash. In truth, Kerry had a bright mind and a true gift for understanding economics and government.

After attending public schools in Cedar City, Kerry enrolled in the Branch Agricultural College (BAC) from which he graduated in 1949. He then continued his education at the University of Utah and received a Bachelor of Science degree in Marketing and Finance. His keen understanding of the subject lead one professor to ask that he drop out of the class. Kerry's grasp of material was greater than that of the instructor and had become an embarrassment to his teacher. Following his graduation from the U. of U. in 1951, he was inducted into the United States Army. He received training at Fort Lewis and Camp Roberts where he was placed in a Leadership Course before being sent to ChunChon, Korea. There he was made Company Clerk. Sergeant Kerry Jones was discharged in 1953 and returned home to Cedar City. The following year he purchased Jones Equipment Company from his father and expanded the business in 1961 with the purchase of Southwest Distributing. He operated the company under the name Jones Equipment and Southwestern Distributing until its sale in 1975.

Kerry married Carol Ann Parry in 1956. To this union were born three children: Julie Ann, Kirk Parry and Mark Lehi. He liked to relate stories of the kids' growing up years and he was a devoted father. The marriage ended in divorce. In 1973, Kerry was elected Mayor of Cedar City. At what he referred to as a raucous city animal control meeting in early 1974, Kerry met Mrs. Sue Jensen, a woman who had come to fight city hall over what she thought was unfair treatment of dogs. In 1979, Kerry became Chairman of the Iron County Republican Party with Sue Jensen as Vice-Chairman. By this time both Kerry and Sue were divorced and their personal relationship began. Lehi Kerry Jones and Barbara Sue Scalf were married in the St. George Temple on June 24, 1982, later sealed together in the Salt Lake Temple. In that same year, Kerry was installed as a member of the Board of Directors for State Bank of Southern Utah. Chosen by the Board to be bank president in 1984, he assumed that role at the time an FDIC/State audit with a Cease & Desist Order was impending. Through great effort and skill on the part of Kerry and the Board of Directors, the crisis was handled and State Bank of Southern Utah was back on a strong footing. Through the rest of his life, he felt a great sense of dedication to the welfare of the bank and its shareholders.

Kerry was a lifelong member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He served in many ward and stake capacities. He and Sue were Ordinance Workers in the St. George Temple for more than ten years. They also served in the Cedar City Temple until the COVID-19 pandemic required it to close. He served in the University First Stake with two Stake Presidencies. At the time of his death, he was giving devoted service as Stake Historian in the Cedar City West Stake. Kerry had a deep love and devotion for Jesus Christ. He was a man of great compassion. Although his hard work and ingenuity provided a comfortable life for himself and Sue, he was in many respects a simple, humble, good man who loved his family and devoted his life to making the world a better place. He was strongly conservative in his political and economic dealings yet he always treated others with fairness and respect. Somehow, ninety-one years seems too short a time for this special man.

Kerry is survived by his eternal sweetheart Sue and his children, Julie Ann Groo (Donny Cook) of Tacoma, WA; Kirk Parry (Becca) Jones of Cedar City, Mark Lehi (Lisa) Jones of Atlanta, GA and step-daughter Julie Jensen Hernandez (David Houchins) of Cedar City. Siblings, Joan Woodbury and Kenneth Jones also survive. He leaves 20 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his parents, Lehi and Bernella Jones, sisters Marolyn Siddoway and Cynthia Line, and brother Jackson Jones, stepsons Steven (Barbara) Jensen, and Daniel Jensen.

Kerry would not wish anyone else to endure what COVID-19 caused him to bear. In respect for him, those attending the visitations and funeral will be asked to wear masks. For the benefit of all who cannot or choose not to wear mouth and nose coverings, the service will be offered via Zoom. He would wish us to hear his last plea: "That all may live with integrity, honor this great nation as he did and love the Lord with all your heart."

Funeral services will be on Saturday, July 31, 2021, at 12:00 pm at Cedar 9th Ward (256 S. 900 W.). Visitations on Friday, July 30, 2021, from 6:00 - 8:00 pm, at Southern Utah Mortuary (190 N. 300 S.) and Saturday from 10:30 - 11:30 am, at the church. Dale Raymond Eichelberger Dale Raymond Eichelberger peacefully returned to the loving arms of our Father in Heaven on Friday, July 16, 2021, in Cedar City, Utah after a very difficult battle with Alzheimer's.

He was born April 14, 1936, to Milton and Elizabeth MacLaughlin Eichelberger in Allentown, Pennsylvania. He and his brother, Dean were raised by their mother. They spent their younger years in Pennsylvania and later moved to Miami, Florida. As a teenager, he dropped out of high school to help provide an income for the family. He worked as a caddy at the Miami Shores Country Club and would give his paychecks to his mother. After a year, he went back to Miami Edison High School to earn his high school diploma. He played basketball for the school team where he earned All-City honors. It was there at Edison High School that he first saw and met the love of his life. The first time he laid eyes on her, he leaned over to a friend, pointed at her and said, "See her? I'm going to marry her!" and they began their courtship.

On April 10, 1961, he married that very girl, Brenda Ray Harris, in Oklahoma City after Dale returned from serving his country. Dale and Brenda's courtship had been temporarily interrupted while Dale served his country in the United States Army and was stationed in Germany during the Cold War. As a veteran, he was always grateful for his time in the army and loved serving our country. After his return from service, Dale and Brenda moved to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma where they were married. Dale worked in law enforcement as a police officer. It was in Oklahoma City where their two daughters, Lori and Dana, were born. The family then moved to Las Vegas, Nevada. Dale continued working in law enforcement as an officer for the Las Vegas Police Department. While in Vegas, they welcomed their third child, son, Danny.

Dale eventually changed careers and entered the gaming industry where he worked in various positions from slot technician to pit boss. He worked for 25 years at The Sands Hotel and then at The Desert Inn where he retired after seven years. Dale became accomplished at everything he did. He had a deep love for sports and the outdoors and loved and owned horses for many years. He loved golf and even achieved the almost impossible "Hole in One." He was an avid tennis player and played in many tournaments in Las Vegas. He loved to hunt and fish with friends and family.

In 1980 he and his family joined The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. A few years later, the family was sealed for eternity in the St. George, Utah Temple. Dale served in various church assignments throughout his life. One assignment he worked hard at and deeply loved was that of Sports Director for the Las Vegas East Stake. He spent countless hours serving the youth and adults of the church by organizing and coaching basketball and softball games and tournaments. He was an asset to the program and left a deep impact on the youth as he mentored and inspired them to behave well and work hard. He was also very involved in his son Danny's sports, where he offered his time and talent to coach his various basketball and baseball teams.

Dale always considered his greatest life accomplishment to be his family. He has a deep love for his family and was always proud of his children and grandchildren's accomplishments. He worked hard to provide a wonderful life for them. He made sure they spent quality time creating memories by going camping and on family road trips, boating, and snow skiing. Each summer he took time off from work for a week and sometimes two to take the family to Newport and Balboa Beach, California. Friends were always invited to come on all our family adventures.

After retiring, Dale and Brenda enjoyed traveling to many places on Brenda's bucket list. They went on cruises with dear friends and often traveled to be with family. Out of all the places they traveled, their favorite vacation spot was Cambria, California. After being retired for a short time, Dale got antsy to work again so he began working at Bass Pro Shop in Las Vegas. This became his dream job as it fed his love for shopping, for hunting, and fishing gear.

Dale will be greatly missed by his family and dear friends. We know he is with his sweetheart, Brenda and wife of 54 years. Dale is preceded in death by his parents, Milton Eichelberger and Elizabeth McIvor and his step father John McIvor, his brother Dean and his eternal sweetheart, Brenda Ray. He is survived by his daughter Lori Eichelberger (Jeff Starr) and granddaughter Tanner White (engaged to Jared Memmott); daughter Dana Cook (Brian, husband) and grandsons Michael Cook (McCall, wife, and great-granddaughter on the way), and Elijah Dale and granddaughters Jordan Nichole Wood (precious great-granddaughters Sloane and Greta) and Rachel; and his son, Danny Eichelberger (Emilee, wife), granddaughter Summer and grandsons, Keaton and Miles.

The family wishes to thank the staff, nurses, and care givers at Cedar Health and Rehab for taking care of their father while he was suffering from Alzheimer's. They also want to thank friends in Parowan, Utah who looked after him after Brenda passed away. Thank you for your love and support.

A viewing will be held on Saturday, July 31st, 2021, from 9:00 - 10:30 am at the Parowan First Ward Building, 59 N 100 W Parowan, UT 84761. A graveside service will begin at 11:00 am at the Parowan City Cemetery. Services under the direction of Heartlight Affordable Funeral Services. There will be an open microphone available for all to share sentiments or stories to help celebrate Dale's life.

Peter Maut Von Lutzow

Peter Maut Von Lutzow, 83 passed away on 07/14/2021 at Sunrise Hospital in Las Vegas, Nevada, surrounded by his closest friend Curtis and his loving wife Liana.

Peter was born on November 27, 1937, in Soerabaia, Indonesia to Frederik and Lucie Von Lutzow. He grew up in Pasuruan, Indonesia on a dairy farm. This dairy was owned and passed down for generations through his family. While growing up Peter enjoyed going on hunting trips with his father and his older brother. One of his most fond memories was with his father hunting for Russian Boar with a 30mm carbine rifle. He was very proud of his father, a captain and fighter pilot in the Dutch Indies military.

At age 18, Peter moved with his family to America. Peter attended college and studied engineering, gaining a master's degree in both electrical and mechanical engineering. Upon graduating from college, Peter took jobs working for GE and Parsons, and among others developing massive turbine engines that were used to pump oil. The fondness that he felt towards his father and his military service led Peter to join the USA Army. While in the military, Peter worked as part of the (Co D 24th Engr Bri (Armed Div) APO 696) division as an engineer and developed weapons systems capable of doing devastating things. Peter was proud of his military clearances often while telling stories he would stop and say, "That is all I can say about that." He was proud to have taken many of his proudest moments in the military with him to the grave.

Peter lived to go hunting, and loved to hunt the mountains of Southern Utah for Mule Deer, Elk, and Buffalo, and he was always willing and happy to share hunting stories with anyone who was willing to listen. Later in life, Peter met and married the love of his life Liana who cared for him passionately to the end of his life. He will be missed by many, but loved by all who knew him.

A graveside service will be held 07/31/2021 at 10:30 AM at the Cedar City Utah Cemetery (685 N Main St, Cedar City, UT 84721). A friends and family viewing will be held prior to the graveside service at Southern Utah Mortuary from 9:00-10:00 AM. Interment will be in the Cedar City Utah Cemetery, under the direction of Southern Utah Mortuary. Online Condolences can be sent at www.sumortuary.com.

Russell James Pope

Russell James Pope, age 57, passed away peacefully in his sleep after a courageous battle with cancer on July 22, 2021, in Cedar City, UT. He was born on June 23, 1964, in Riverside, CA to James and Sally Pope.

He graduated from Ramona High School (Riverside, CA). Russell worked as a mechanic early in his adulthood, then he began life in the construction industry. Some of his most memorable projects include: Toontown in Disneyland and The Aladdin in Las Vegas. He finished his career in Cedar City working for Alex Meisner construction until he could no longer work due to his battle with cancer. He stayed hardworking even through his sickness building a custom bassinet for his new grandson and a halfpipe with his son Troy Pope in their own backyard. He enjoyed working in the yard and going on drives with his best friend and partner Melinda Hernandez.

Russell is survived by two sons: Matthew and Troy Pope, and one daughter Jessica Gardner (Pope) and 7 grandchildren. He will be missed by so many others, as he made such an impact on relatives and our community at large. There will not be a funeral service, Russell's last wishes were to be cremated and in the months to follow a celebration of life. The date of this event is not yet determined. Invitations will be sent out on a personal basis.

Online condolences can be sent to his memorial page at www.affordablefuneralservices.com.

ROOT SPORTS TO AIR SOUTHERN UTAH'S TILT AT MONTANA

by Tyler Roper

SUU ASSISTANT AD, SPORTS INFORMATION & COMM.

SPOKANE, Wash. — ROOT Sports unveiled its 2021 Big Sky football lineup Monday, and the network announced it will air Southern Utah University's trip to Missoula to take on Montana.

The Thunderbirds and Grizzlies will do battle on October 30. All ROOT Sports game dates and times are subject to change. Kickoff time for the game will be announced at a later date.

SUU last played Montana in 2018 when the Grizzlies defeated the Thunderbirds in Cedar City. The T-Birds most recent victory against Montana occurred in 2012 in the form of a 30-20 decision.

Southern Utah now has television plans set for three of its 11 games. The season opener at San Jose State will be aired on CBS Sports Network while the ensuing contest at Arizona State will be broadcast on the Pac-12 Network. Other broadcast plans, along with kickoff times, will be announced as they become available.

For all the latest on Southern Utah football, follow @SUUFB on Twitter and Instagram and like the Southern Utah Football Facebook page.

SUU Volleyball earns 2020-21 USMC/AVCA Team Academic Award

by Kyle Birnbrauer

SUU ATHLETICS STRATEGIC COMMUNICATION

LEXINGTON, Ky. — The United State Marine Corps (USMC) and the American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA) announced on Monday the 1,275 collegiate and high school teams that earned the USMC/AVCA Team Academic Award for the 2020-2021 season and the Southern Utah Thunderbirds were awarded the honor.

"Even though teams might not have played during their usual season or may not have competed at all during the past year, coaches still found ways to lead their players to academic excellence," said AVCA

Executive Director Kathy DeBoer. "This is a testament to the important role volleyball coaches play in their players' success both on and off the court."

The Thunderbirds were one of 10 Big Sky teams that earned the award. The award, initiated in the 1992-93 academic year, honors volleyball teams that maintain a year-long grade-point average of 3.30 on a 4.0 scale or 4.10 on a 5.0 scale.

Stay up to date during the 2021 Thunderbird Volleyball season by following @SUUVolleyball on Twitter and Instagram and liking the Southern Utah Volleyball page on Facebook.

As one of the 10 Big Sky teams to earn the award, the SUU Thunderbirds proved they not only excel on the volleyball court, but in the classroom as well.

RANDOM thoughts

Tom Zulewski
IRON COUNTY TODAY

We've all seen how COVID is on the march again among unvaccinated individuals. Cases are on the rise, masks are still an essential part of the wardrobe, and some sports types are taking notice that this pandemic thing is deadly serious once more.

While the Dallas Cowboys and Pittsburgh Steelers started their training camps last week, all of the other NFL teams reported to training camp Tuesday for the first day of workouts. Among the unvaccinated – players and coaches – the hesitancy to getting a jab in the arm is strong, and the league sent out a memo to the teams July 22 basically putting its collective foot down.

According to an NFL Network account, the bottom line is if a team can't play because of a spike in cases among non-vaccinated players or team personnel, the game will be considered a forfeit if it can't be rescheduled within the 18-week window that will make up the 17-game NFL season in 2021. That means play on time or don't get paid – and the rule applies to both teams.

From the NFL memo: "If a game is cancelled and cannot be rescheduled within the current 18-week schedule due to a COVID outbreak, neither team's players will receive their weekly paragraph 5 salary." Personal freedom may be one thing, but the league also makes this point abundantly clear.

Again, from the memo distributed to all 32 teams: "Every club is obligated under the Constitution and Bylaws to have its team ready to play at the scheduled time and place. A failure to do so is deemed conduct detrimental. There is no right to postpone a game."

It was bad enough to deal with all of last season's schedule alterations – some 2020 games were played as late as Wednesday due to COVID, some games were played in Monday night bonus double-headers, etc. – but now we have something that will be interesting to see how it gets enforced, especially with the added 17th game in the regular-season schedule.

The memo from the NFL also stated it "does not anticipate" adding an extra week to accommodate any games not rescheduled within the 18-week regular season. Buckle up, fans. Check your local listings to make sure your scheduled games for viewing won't be wiped out.

Necessary correction needed

As we noted in this space last week, the 2A classification was listed as starting to play baseball in the fall with tryouts officially under way. As sources later pointed out, this new development will not apply to the Parowan Rams.

Due to the large number of schools in the 2A ranks for all sports not named football (24), some will be playing baseball in the fall for the first time. As a result, 2A diamond champions will be crowned for both the fall and spring seasons. A list of 2A baseball schools making the change from spring to fall was not available as of this writing, but will be updated as soon as possible.

SUU Softball adds Utah transfer Calderon

by Kyle Birnbrauer

SUU ATHLETICS STRATEGIC COMM.

CEDAR CITY — The Southern Utah softball team and head coach Don Don Williams have announced the signing of Makenna Calderon ahead of the 2022 season.

Calderon is a 5' 9" catcher who played her first three seasons at the University of Utah. Calderon hit .333 in her three seasons with the Utes, scoring 10 runs and knocking in two runs.

Calderon is originally from Placentia, California where she attended El Dorado High School. She was an All-League selection at El Dorado where she hit .377 and slugged .637. Calderon also played club softball for Courage and helped them win a Premier Girls Fastpitch Platinum Championship.

One person is the hare and the other is the tortoise. Race against a family member to reach the finish line first.

Here's a Greek fable by a man named Aesop about a race between a tortoise and a hare. It may surprise you who wins!

THE TORTOISE AND THE HARE

The hare ran so fast some of the words flew out of the story. Can you find where each word belongs?

- BLINKED
- CROSSED
- SNOOZING
- SLOWEST
- EASY
- SPRANG
- FASTEST
- WIN
- MORNING
- TIED

There once was a hare who always bragged that he was the _____ animal in the forest.

"Not even the wind is as fast as me!" the hare would boast.

The tortoise got _____ of such bragging.

"We all have heard you talk and talk about how fast you are, but we have never seen you _____. I'll race you," said tortoise.

The hare laughed and laughed. "There's no way you can beat me! I am the fastest and you are the _____!"

The hare and the tortoise agreed to race the next _____. They would race to a big tree down the road and around a bend. Many other animals came out to _____.

GO! The hare zipped off the starting line in a blur, leaving the tortoise in a puff of dust.

The tortoise coughed, _____ her eyes, and took the first of her slow, steady steps.

The hare was soon way ahead, far down the road. The tortoise could hardly see the hare in the distance, but she wasn't worried.

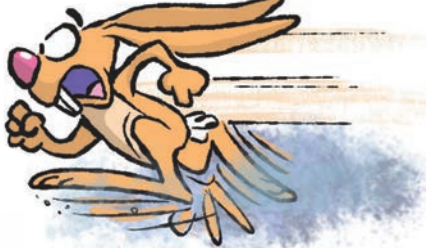

As the hare rounded the bend in the road, he laughed and thought, "This is too _____! I'm going to rest. That tortoise is so slow that I'll get up in time and still beat her to the finish line!"

The hare laid down on the warm, soft grass and fell asleep! Later, when the tortoise walked right by the _____ hare, he didn't wake up. The tortoise didn't stop. She just kept walking her slow and steady pace.

When the tortoise was nearly to the finish line, the hare woke up. Yawning and rubbing his eyes, he was shocked to see the tortoise nearing the _____ line.

The hare _____ to his feet and ran as fast as he could to try catching up to her to _____ the race.

But by then it was much too late. The slow little tortoise _____ the finish line first. All of the forest animals cheered loudly for her!

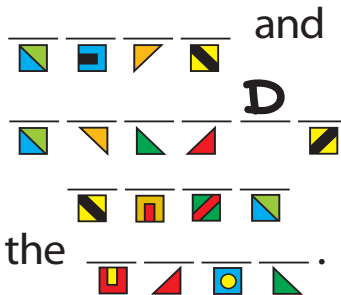

About Aesop

Aesop was a storyteller. He lived about 2,500 years ago in ancient Greece. His favorite story to tell was a fable. A fable is a very short story with a moral, or a lesson to teach.

Aesop's fable The Fox and the Grapes tells about a fox who tries and tries to reach grapes on a high branch. Embarrassed by being unable to jump high enough to reach them, the fox walks off angrily, saying loudly that the grapes are sour and not worth the effort anyway.

Use the code to discover the moral of Aesop's fable The Tortoise and the Hare.

- ▲ = A
- = C
- ▲ = E
- = I
- = L
- = N
- = O
- = R
- = S
- = T
