Rescue Operation Successful After Fall

forty-nine-year-old male, was responsive but incoherent. Given the conditions, the Iron County Sheriff's Office technical Ropes rescue team was activated to assist with the extraction efforts. Due to concerns about air quality in the mine, the St. George Fire Department's Southwest Regional Confined Space Rescue team was also asked to assist.

Life Flight arrived on the scene first and made verbal contact with the victim. Unfortunately, Life Flight had to leave to refuel, but worsening weather conditions prevented them from providing further assistance after refueling. A Gold Cross ambulance was on site and requested support from Mercy Air, but they also declined to respond due to the bad weather.

Rescuers successfully lowered a team member into the mine to assist the injured man, who was suffering from a significant head injury. The team managed to secure the man onto a litter and began the ascent back to the surface. Upon reaching the surface, the victim's condition deteriorated, necessitating immediate medical attention. Emergency medical personnel quickly transported the man to St. George Hospital for further treatment, where he is currently being assessed. The cause of the fall remains under investigation. Preliminary information suggests that the man may have been preparing to descend into the mine when the edge gave way. An examination of the site revealed disturbed soil and no signs of anchor failure, indicating potentially hazardous conditions.

The community is reminded of the risks associated with abandoned mines and the importance of adhering to safety precautions

IRON COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE

On November 5, 2024, a rescue operation was initiated after a report indicated that a man had fallen approximately 50 feet down a vertical mine shaft in a remote area of Hamblin Valley. Dispatch received the call at 3:46 PM, leading to the immediate deployment of deputies from the Iron County Sheriff's Office, Gold Cross medical units, and a life flight helicopter to the scene.

Upon arrival, responders found that the victim, a

74-Year-Old Faces Charges After Fleeing Crash, Leading Police on High-Speed Pursuit

by Tracie Sullivan

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

A Cedar City man faces a series of charges after an early morning hit-and-run crash led to a high-speed chase through Iron County last Monday.

Edward Wadsworth, 74, was arrested following the pursuit, which authorities say reached speeds over 100 mph and endangered other drivers before it ended near Hamilton Fort.

Court documents filed in 5th District Court indicate that the incident began around 8:13 a.m., when Wadsworth rear-ended a vehicle on the northbound Interstate-15 off-ramp near Mile Marker 57.

The crash resulted in injuries and significant vehicle damage. Instead of stopping, Wadsworth allegedly fled southbound on Highway 91 as the driver he struck attempted to follow him and called for assistance.

An Iron County Sheriff's deputy found Wadsworth's vehicle near Rainbow Ranches. At that point, Wadsworth reportedly accelerated toward the deputy, narrowly avoiding a collision before veering off the road.

The deputy activated his lights and siren, initiating a pursuit. Wadsworth then attempted multiple evasive maneuvers on both paved and dirt roads, reaching speeds that reportedly exceeded 100 mph.

The chase ended when a Utah Highway Patrol trooper blocked Wadsworth's path on Graff Farm Road and forced him to stop.

Officers discovered that Wadsworth's vehicle was uninsured — a factor he later cited as his reason for fleeing the scene. He claimed, however, that he was unaware of the police pursuit.

"This subject stated to me under Miranda that he got scared when he hit the vehicle in front of him and knew that he had no insurance so he took off," the affidavit states. "He tells me that he didn't know that he was being chased by a police officer even though he continued running and evading the officer at speeds over 100 mph even on dirt roads."

Wadsworth now faces multiple charges, including felony evading, a third-degree felony, failure to remain at the scene of an accident involving injury and reckless driving.

Many Infallible Proofs

PART 1

by Edy Meredith

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

How can we know that Jesus Christ, the Jewish Messiah, is alive today and that He was bodily resurrected 2,000 years ago? It is important to know the meaning of the adjective "infallible" to understand the importance of this knowledge. Infallible means error-free, faultless, true, and incapable of error especially considering faith or morals. The resurrection is an important doctrine and belief of Christianity. In the Book of Acts chapter 1, verse 3, is stated referring to the resurrected Jesus Christ: "...He also presented Himself alive after His suffering by many infallible proofs, being seen by them for forty days and speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God." While in the next several articles, more proof will be mentioned, we will also ask the following question: What does it mean to see Jesus and who is known historically to have seen the resurrected Jesus? We will look at what might be called "indirect evidence" as well as direct evidence.

Jesus is estimated to have been crucified and then three days later resurrected around 33 A.D. according to scholarly consensus. We will assume that the evidence we look at points to His resurrection having occurred on a Sunday morning in Jerusalem in 33 A.D. In looking at the evidence we have the following information to enlighten us: 1) The Roman Guard of 16 men with four soldiers immediately in front of the tomb and the other 12 sleeping in a semicircle in front of the four alert guards (Remember that if Roman guards deserted their post, it would immediately qualify them for a death sentence); 2) The enormous stone weighing over 2 tons was a silent and infallible witness because it would have taken three or four men to move it but the Roman guards had run away; 3) The grave-clothes still in place in the tomb on the stone shelf with the spices and resins hardened leaving the appearance of a cocoon; 4) The Empty Tomb with no body; 5) The Resurrection Appearances; 6) The Initial Unbelief of the Messiah's followers; 5) Most importantly, His resurrection radically changed His male and female disciples from timid to confident; 6) Subsequent appearances of the Risen Christ during the approximately 40 days after His resurrection with as many as 14 appearances to His disciples and to larger groups of His followers in public appearances. Please note that His first appearance was to women near the tomb which was highly unlikely in the male-dominated Judean society. So, what has Jesus been doing since His ascension to Heaven?

At this point, we might ask ourselves another significant question: What does it mean to see Jesus and who through the last 2,000 years has seen Him? Are there any people who are documented with historical records to have seen Him in the last 2,000 years through today? Next week, we will look at documented reports of visionary encounters of Jesus from the first century to the present. If you are interested, one information source I will be using is the following book as well as current information on events occurring today in Israel and Gaza: "Seeing Jesus—Visionary Encounters from the First Century to the Present" by Robert Hudson. What would it take to persuade or influence you to explore these occurrences?

Man Arrested in Cedar City After Trespassing Incident Escalates into Violent Confrontation with Police

by Tracie Sullivan

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

A Cedar City man faces multiple charges after a trespassing call on Saturday escalated into a confrontation with police officers.

Police arrested 32-year-old Arturo Jose Borges last week after responding to reports of a trespass in progress at approximately 5:02 p.m.

When officers arrived on scene, they found Borges inside a trailer home, where he claimed that a man named "Christian" had threatened to kill him if he didn't stay there. Borges told police he had been given a key in a glove but later lost it.

Signs of forced entry were allegedly apparent on the trailer's front door, with the doorframe heavily damaged, indicating a possible break-in.

Inside the trailer, officers conducted a walkthrough with the property manager, noting over $3,500 in damage, including broken items and disturbances to walls, furniture, and fixtures, the affidavit states.

After investigating the scene, officers arrested Borges on several charges including burglary of a dwelling, criminal trespass, and criminal mischief.

After being placed in the patrol vehicle, Borges told officers he was suicidal, prompting them to take him to Cedar City Hospital for a medical evaluation.

Later cleared for transport, Borges was taken back into custody, but during the drive to the jail, he began forcefully banging his head against the vehicle's plexiglass divider. This behavior led officers to return him to the hospital for a second evaluation.

"I immediately stopped and pulled Arturo out of my cage, at which time he flopped on the ground attempting to hit his head again. I picked Arturo up and again he forcefully propelled his head into my patrol vehicle," court documents state.

To prevent further self-harm, officers deployed the WRAP, a restraint device designed to limit a person's movement by immobilizing their arms and legs. This tool, commonly used in law enforcement, prevents individuals from causing harm to themselves or others during transport.

During the process of securing Borges, he reportedly grabbed an officer's arm and resisted commands to release his grip. He also attempted to spit on the officers, leading them to place a spit hood over his head to prevent further incidents.

Due to his continued erratic behavior, Borges was transported back to the hospital for a second medical clearance.

"Multiple times throughout both medical clearances I asked for Arturo to cooperate and be quite (sp) and he wouldn't," the affidavit states.

After receiving clearance a second time, Borges was finally transported to the Iron County Correctional Facility.

He faces a range of charges, including burglary of a dwelling, criminal trespass of a dwelling, criminal mischief causing damage between $1,500 and $4,999, disorderly conduct, interfering with an officer, assault by a prisoner, and propelling a bodily substance.

In court documents, the arresting officer expressed serious concerns about Borges's behavior and potential threat to public safety.

Authorities have requested Borges be held without bail, citing the severity of the offenses and the potential risk he may pose if released.

PITU Cultural Resource Manager Autumn Gillard to present Day of Grace Tanner Center Talk

by The Grace A. Tanner Center for Human Values

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

Cedar City, UT — For the fourth annual Day of Grace celebration on Nov. 19, Paiute Indian Tribe of Utah Cultural Resource Manager Autumn Gillard will give a Tanner Center Talk on the Special Collections exhibit “Gifts of Tu’Veep: Plants of the Southern Paiute.” Her presentation, held in LIB 002 on the Garden Level of the Gerald R. Sherratt Library at 11:30 a.m., will be followed by a tour of the exhibit and a reception featuring a birthday cake.

The Day of Grace, hosted by the Grace A. Tanner Center for Human Values, commemorates Grace Adams Tanner’s birthday with speakers chosen specifically to honor the center’s student-focused mission of cultural understanding, empathy, and social responsibility.

Gillard is a maternal descendant from the Cedar Band of Paiutes of the Paiute Indian Tribe and an expert in Southern Paiute astronomy, ethnobotany, and culture. She was raised by her grandmother and mother in a traditional home and graduated from Southern Utah University magna cum laude with a Bachelor of Science, having majored in anthropology and minored in psychology. She has a master’s degree from New Mexico Highlands University in cultural resource management and currently resides on the Kaibab Paiute Reservation.

“This year the center is exploring the theme of Human Values and a Sense of Place,” said Grace A. Tanner Center Director Danielle Dubrasky. “Grace A. Tanner grew up in Parowan and had a love for this landscape. We are honored to have Autumn Gillard give a Tanner Center Talk on the idea of place, especially as it pertains to plants of the Southern Paiute.” The public is invited to explore the exhibit on their own after the presentation.

This Day of Grace comes days before the Paiute Indian Tribe of Utah’s third annual Southern Paiute Fall (Yoovun’) Gathering on Nov. 22, which honors the culture and language of Southern Paiutes.

More information on the Day of Grace can be found on the SUU Events Calendar.

Cedar City Council Meeting

by Iron County Today Staff
FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

The council discussed Cedar City's upcoming 173rd birthday celebration, featuring multiple events including family game night, statue unveiling, Veterans Day activities, and a celebration concert at the Heritage Theater. Minor city maintenance issues were addressed, including concerns about parking near Bristol Hall and street lighting problems.

The council reviewed a proposal to buy 15 acre-feet of water rights from KS Cedar Ridge for $24,750, with split closing costs. The water right (#73190) predates the groundwater management plan cut off, giving the city first refusal; if declined, it could be sold to Enoch City or Iron County.

Some council members were concerned about the acre-foot price. Some benefits of purchasing the water right are:

- The city charges developers $24,000 per acre-foot, making it profitable.
- The city's first refusal right on this water right makes it strategically important.
- Recent water bill increases cover previous water purchase debts.

The council clarified that previous bulk water purchases addressed existing deficits, while current purchases, like this one, are for new development, funded by developer fees. The council decided to vote on the proposal at the next meeting.

The city council discussed revisions to engineering standards, focusing on water infrastructure. They reviewed a change to Detail W1 to reduce blowoff assembly size from matching the main line to a standard 6-inch, saving costs while preserving function. For Detail W5, they proposed increasing the meter barrel size from 18 to 21 inches to ease installation, adding about $100 to costs and requiring a concrete pad increase from 30x30 to 36x36 inches.

A supplier suggested using 24-inch barrels due to potential sourcing issues with 21-inch ones, the council considered allowing flexibility in barrel sizes and colors. They also discussed updating PVC and ductile iron pipe specs, to be finalized in a resolution.

The council discussed bids for a wastewater treatment plant effluent reuse filtration project. The mayor recused himself due to a conflict of interest with Action Contracting, and a council member acted as mayor pro tem for this item.

Three bids were submitted: Action Contracting (local), and Nelson Brothers and Bodell from Salt Lake City, with Action Contracting being the lowest bidder. They considered two filter options: Aqua Aerobics (base bid) and Beacon (alternate bid with about $300,000 in savings).

Concerns included Beacon's lack of a 5-year installation history in the U.S., preference for Aqua Aerobics due to its track record and local support, questions on filter interchangeability, and infrastructure compatibility.

The engineering firm A2S confirmed both systems met requirements but noted caution about Beacon's limited U.S. installations. The project remained under budget, aided by savings from using a local contractor.

The Council reviewed a contract to deploy a Flock Safety LPR (License Plate Reader) system. Police Chief Adams explained that it captures license plate images and vehicle details (not drivers' faces), retaining data for 30 days unless needed for investigations. The system, which integrates with other law enforcement databases, costs $157,450 the first year and $157,500 annually, including 32 solar-powered cameras around Cedar City and "Condor" cameras at key intersections.

The Council addressed privacy concerns and stressed transparent communication about the system's limits. They agreed the technology was necessary to keep Cedar City aligned with regional surveillance efforts. The meeting ended with a motion to move to a closed session.

FREE Prediabetes testing in November!

from David Heaton

SOUTHWEST UTAH PUBLIC HEALTH

SOUTHWEST UTAH – Did you know that your chances of getting struck by lightning are about 1 in a million, but your chances of having prediabetes as an adult in the United States is 1 in 3? Since prediabetes usually doesn't have symptoms, 80% of people with this condition don't know they have it. That's why the Southwest Utah Public Health Department is offering free testing for prediabetes during the month of November, 2024.

Prediabetes happens when blood sugar levels are higher than normal but not enough to be diagnosed with type 2 diabetes. With simple lifestyle changes, prediabetic people can reverse the path to type 2 diabetes, which is why getting screened and tested is so important.

The first step is to complete a short questionnaire (found online at swuhealth.gov/diabetes). If you score a 5 or above and have never been diagnosed with diabetes or prediabetes before, call your nearest health department office (see numbers below) and make an appointment to get a free A1C test. An A1C is a finger-prick blood test that shows if you're in the normal, prediabetic, or diabetic range. You'll be provided with information on what to do next, depending on your results. After November 30, A1C tests at the health department will return to their original cost of $25.

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

JOHN CURTIS WINS UTAH SENATE RACE, LAYS OUT VISION FOR TERM

Friends, family, Curtis team, tonight is not the end, it's just the end of the beginning. Together we're on a journey. We've been across the state, top to bottom, through the highs and lows of the campaign, and here we are tonight, at the beginning-line of a crucial journey for our country.

It has been said that the day the journey begins is not the day the journey begins. This journey emotionally, physically and spiritually, started many years ago, and so many of you were there at the beginning. Thank you. A few of you were there at the beginning of the beginning, and more. Tonight, earlier, I had a chance to meet with the Curtis team and the Curtis family, as you can see, that's no small group, and thank them. They know how they feel about that, all of them, and each of them, I'm a very, very blessed, man.

Let me repeat something that you've heard on the campaign from me, and I believe in my core: the founders saw our public service as something we did for a season. My season of service, the hallmark, will be service and stewardship. You elected me to legislate, to advocate and represent you. My agenda will be your agenda. My voice will lift your voice. My vote will reflect your values, and together, we'll make Washington more like Utah and America more like what our children and our grandchildren need it be.

My commitment has been to represent every Utahn. That is what I am committed to do. These are challenging times, and in challenging times, you don't need a show horse or show vote. In rural Utah, they like to say, in troubled times, the last thing you need is a cowboy that's "all hat, no cattle." So, don't look for me throwing gas on the social media fire or giving click bait to the cable news, but rather, look for me riding my Ford up and down, back and forth across this state, doing the hard work of legislating and getting things done for Utah.

And if you're not sure where to find me, don't look by the cameras or the microphones. I'll be on the Senate floor with my colleagues from both parties. I'll be meeting with Utahns, visiting our veterans, learning, listening and studying how to solve our difficult problems. And don't bother telling me that we can't fix immigration or the budget.

I believe we can. Because I believe in the greatness of this country. I believe the Constitution was an inspiring document, and I believe even on our worst day, everybody in the world wants to be us.

Working together, we will solve public lands here at home, we'll hold China accountable overseas, and we'll advocate for energy security around the world and energy dominance, and we'll put forward those values that make Utah extraordinary and great.

Let me close this end of the beginning with the principle, one that defined the important beginnings for the Curtis family, and a principle that will be first, last and always as I serve as your Senator. Long years ago, the Curtis family adopted as a coat of arms an artist picture of a bundle of sticks bound together with the motto, in unity, there is strength. Sticks left by themselves can easily be broken, but bound together, they provide the strength that cannot be broken. In unity, there is strength.

Walking the halls of Congress is a cherished gift. And if you listen carefully, you can hear the founders whisper, saying, "in unity, there is strength." If you look closely you will behold the symbol of sticks bound together on ceilings, around portraits and on statues, signaling to all who have eyes to see, "In Unity there is strength." Or as they say in the senate. In many there is one.

Unity is needed in our nation. You know that tonight, more than ever, and we should remember that oneness is not sameness, and compromise is not capitulation. I hope that you'll see in my actions the dignity of working together and of unity.

As Utah's Senator, I will make this motto my mandate in every situation and setting. It's been said that unity cannot be a slogan. We must make it a national imperative and together a shared project for "We the People."

Now I thank each of you. I'm grateful for you, and I invite you on this next journey. Together, we will make Washington more like Utah and America more like what our kids need it to be.

Thank you. God Bless you.

Utah DMV Announces Changes to License Plate Distribution and Design Starting January 1, 2025

from Jason Gardner

UTAH STATE TAX COMMISSION

Salt Lake City, UT – Beginning January 1, 2025, the Utah Motor Vehicle Division (DMV) will implement significant updates to its license plate distribution and design processes in response to recent legislation passed in the 2024 General Legislative Session. The enhancements aim to improve efficiency, reduce the need for in-person DMV visits, and align with modernized standards for license plate design and distribution.

The following updates will take effect in January:

- Centralized License Plate Distribution: License plates will now be distributed from a single central location and mailed directly to customers' home or business using the U.S. Postal Service (USPS). This change is expected to streamline operations, enhance production efficiencies, and increase customer convenience by reducing the need to visit a DMV office.
- Single License Plate Requirement: Most vehicles in Utah will require a single rear license plate. Apportioned commercial vehicles, however, will retain the option to request a set of two plates.
- Modernized License Plate Design: All plates will now feature flat-screen printing with an embossed edge, eliminating the traditional raised alpha-numeric characters for a sleeker, updated appearance. This change increases design flexibility and lowers production costs.

- Month/Year Registration Decal:

A consolidated month/year registration decal will be introduced, to replace the separate month and year decals. This decal will be displayed in the upper right corner of each plate. For newly issued plates, the month/year decal will be digitally integrated into the plate itself, eliminating the need for a decal to be affixed upon initial issuance. The initial decal will feature a barcode rather than a serialized number for improved accuracy and tracking.

"We are committed to ensuring a smooth transition for citizens when ordering a new license plate. To avoid delays, please make sure your mailing address is correct when you purchase a vehicle or order a plate. If you need to update your address please visit us at mvp.tax.utah.gov."

said Monte Roberts, DMV Director

The statutory authorization for these updates was established in Senate Bill 45, passed during the 2024 General Legislative Session. For additional information or questions, please contact the Utah DMV at dmv@utah.gov.

GEORGE A. WOOD STATUE UNVEILING DEDICATION

by May Hunter

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

George A. Wood was a builder. From his earliest days in the sparsely populated frontier of the Southern Utah Territory in the late 1800s to his final days in Cedar City in the 1960s, Wood dedicated himself to making Southern Utah a place where his family and community could thrive.

The statue of George A. Wood was unveiled at the Historic Train Depot, located at 1 N. Main Street, Cedar City Utah, on November 9, 2024. He was truly 'The Man Who Helped Build Southern Utah'. His ingenuity, work ethic, and love of his family and community left a legacy that still shines in the mountains and valleys of George A. Wood's beloved desert home.

I want to thank the voters of UT-02 for the honor of representing you in Congress for a full term. I want to thank my family, friends, and my campaign team for their hard work. I also want to thank my opponents Nathaniel Woodward, Cassie Easley & Tyler Murset for running and I hope we can find issues to work together on.

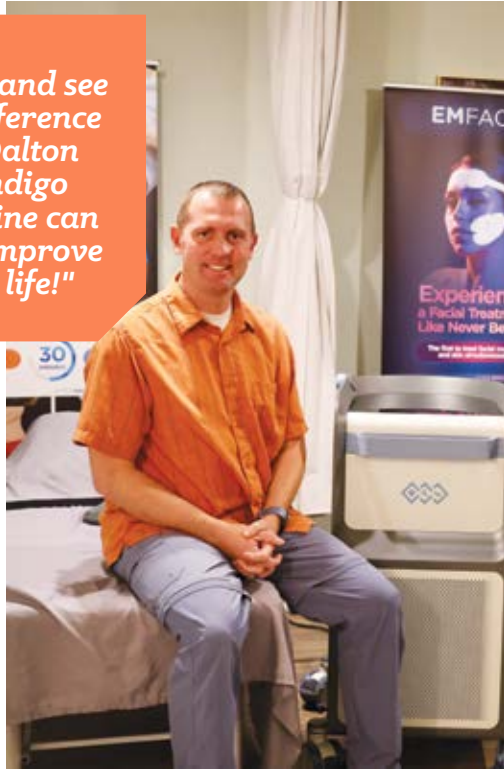

We have serious work to do for America, and I'm optimistic that we can roll up our sleeves and come together as citizens. I love this country and I have hope for our future.

SOUTHERN UTAH UNIVERSITY

Colder Weather Brings Hotter Music

by Marty Warburton

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

The recent sight of hundreds of Sheep literally marching down Main Street serves as a reminder of Cedar City's many historic traditions. Among these traditions, and perhaps slightly under the radar, is Cedar City Music Arts. For 95 years CCMA has been bringing world class talent from around the globe to perform in our little corner of the state. Second only to The Tabernacle Choir at Temple Square, CCMA is the oldest arts organization in Utah.

Season number ninety-five started with a bang on October 1st with The Utah Symphony's annual visit, the first of a total of six concerts slated for this season, all to take place at The Heritage Center Theater.

CCMA will present its second event, "An Evening of Double Duos," on Thursday, November 21st. The Tim May and Steve Smith Duo begin the evening with original, traditional and swing music with mandolinist/vocalist Steve Smith and Nashville guitarist/vocalist Tim May. Based out of New Mexico, their show includes tight vocal harmonies, dazzling guitar, mandolin, octave mandolin and twin mandolin works throughout a broad range of styles, and an array of vocal and instrumental selections.

After a short intermission, the duo of Rob Ickes and Trey Hensley will close out the evening in a most impressive fashion. Ickes grew up in a suburb of San Francisco and discovered the Dobro slide guitar as a teenager. It turned out that Rob and the instrument were made for each other. He later moved to Nashville to pursue recording session work, appearing on hundreds of releases and earning an unprecedented number of IBMA Dobro Player of the Year awards. Rob Ickes is a true master of the resonophonic acoustic guitar.

Trey Hensley grew up in East Tennessee and began singing when he was just 6 years old. A few years later, his parents took him to a bluegrass festival where the lineup included Jimmy Martin, the "King" of bluegrass. Hensley decided then and there that he wanted to play guitar. At age 11, he gave a life changing first performance on the Grand Ole Opry, playing guitar with Earl Scruggs and Marty Stuart. His capabilities on acoustic guitar are other-worldly.

GRAMMY nominees Ickes and Hensley have performed in places as close to their home as the Grand Ole Opry, and as far away as Denmark's Tonder Festival. Together, this duo is musically unstoppable. Pure fire.

"We want to keep doing the music that we love, no matter what the genre, and find audiences that get what we're mixing together" says Ickes. Hensley adds, "I love what we're doing." So will you.

The concert begins at 7:30pm on Thursday, November 21st (one week before Thanksgiving), at the Heritage Center Theater, doors will open at 6:30pm. Cedar City Music Arts wishes to thank the RAP tax commission, and the loyal season ticket holders, sponsors and volunteers that will help to make a cold winter night just a little bit warmer. For Tickets call 435-865-2882 or visit CedarCityMusicArts.org.

Importance of the Arts Illuminated at Youth Exhibit

by Sally Hunter Jensen

CCAC MEMBERSHIP DIRECTOR/EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT

As someone who has long called Iron County home, I've seen firsthand how this community values the arts. For me, it's the creative atmosphere (and those red mountains) that keep me here. Recently, a young artist reminded me of the beauty we might miss if we don't pause to see it – whether it's stopping for a sunset, attending a play, or exploring an art exhibit. And really, has there ever been a bad sunset here?

Retirement has allowed me the time to immerse myself in the local arts scene as a proud member of the Cedar City Arts Council (CCAC). One of my favorite assignments is helping with the variety of events CCAC produces. Through these experiences, I get to see the creativity around me up close. The last weekend in October, I had the pleasure of helping our multi-talented local artist, CCAC board member, and teacher Randy Seely, set up for CCAC's annual exhibit at the Diamond Z Arena. This exhibit showcases the artwork of Iron County K-12 visual artists as part of our Art and Photography Contest, hosted in collaboration with the Cedar Heritage and Livestock Festival. The festival provides the prizes, and CCAC coordinates the contest and exhibit – a perfect win-win.

The submissions this year ranged from an intricate drawing and a sculpture of livestock, to family portraits, and even a ship with a whale. To qualify, each entry has to be inspired by either the Heritage Livestock Festival or the personal history of the artist. I really enjoyed the various ways the artists interpreted the contest theme.

While setting up the exhibit, I ran into my artist friend Hanna Dawson, who came to lend a hand. Hanna, the owner of Prussian Bleu Studio, drew my attention to Whale, one of her favorite submissions, created by the youngest artist in the show: five-year-old Leo DiAntonio from North Elementary Kindergarten. His detailed boat and the vibrant whale beneath it depicted the world his English, Scottish, Welsh, Irish, English and German ancestors might have seen upon arriving in America in the mid-1800s.

Reflecting on her initial reaction, Hanna shared, "Leo's artwork struck me immediately. The technicality of the ship was impressive... even more so after I learned that he was only five. His use of complementary blue and orange tones made this piece stand out. A kindergartner who understands color theory? It made my heart melt."

Hanna's enthusiasm was contagious! I paused and spent a moment "seeing" Leo's art. I'm so glad I did. It's opportunities like these that remind me why the arts are woven so deeply into our community. And judging by the number of people who stopped to admire the student exhibit, I know I'm not alone.

Another of CCAC's programs is handing out free art supplies to children at our events in hopes of igniting the artist in our community's children. Research shows that encouraging young children to draw builds fine motor skills, develops hand-eye coordination, creative expression, is the foundation of pre-writing skills and develops attention span... to name a few. It's not just about art; it's about fostering skills that last a lifetime.

Though some debate the value

of the arts in society, I don't need convincing. Making a point to visit the exhibit was a delightful reminder of the power of creative expression at any age. So, here's my thanks to Leo and all of the artists for the inspiration and reminder, to CCAC and the Livestock Festival for making it happen, and to Hanna for engaging me in artistic conversation and captivating me with her enthusiasm. There are so many artistic opportunities in our community and I'm very glad I didn't miss this one.

The Festival helpers with Randy Seely, who organizes the CCAC exhibit.

WE GO TOGETHER LIKE WINTER AND A SWEATER

Larger than life:
Winter in Southern Utah

To appreciate the beauty of a snowflake it is necessary to stand out in the cold.
-Aristotle

by May Hunter

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

As the winter season wraps our world in a chilly embrace, it brings charm and quiet beauty of snowy landscapes and crisp fresh air. Winding along the side of Coal Creek, the walking trail is a good way to go for a winter walk. A paved all-access trail is a great option for winter as the path stays clear and offers close-up views of the iconic red hill at the mouth of the canyon. Hiking in winter can be a beautiful thing. There is nothing like the hush that falls while snow blankets your surroundings.

Taking a walk in the winter can be beneficial for your physical and mental health, it can help you get some fresh air, sunlight, and exercise, which is important for overall well-being. Just make sure to dress warmly and stay safe in potentially icy or snowy conditions. Dress in layers: it's important to stay warm and comfortable during your walk. A brisk 5-10 minute daily walk provides many health benefits and adds towards your recommended 150 minutes of moderate exercise per week. Then, consider building up to 30 minutes of brisk walking at a time, five days a week.

If you are not able to get out and walk in the winter, go for a ride. Cedar Mountain is one of the most popular areas for a winter drive. It has amazing beauty in all directions. Cedar Mountain is one of the highest points in Dixie National Forest at 9,200 feet and is known for its vibrant winter colors against red canyon cliffs. A short but sweet drive, highway 148 is full of breathtaking overlooks. This scenic drive goes through Cedar City's red hill, then crosses through thick maple and scrub oak forests. The road then climbs through a narrow canyon where you can look into the Ashdown Gorge Wilderness Area with sheer cliffs on both sides. Cedar Breaks is open year-round. The stunning stillness of the mountains during winter is unique, beautiful and breathtaking. Winter is enchanted, a season less traveled with snow-capped peaks and endless canyons. The bold, maybe you, await the wonder that is winter in Southern Utah. Take A Walk-Take A Drive. Southern Utah scenery, especially in winter never cease to amaze! Be safe and check weather conditions.

Bailey Cole Bow

Bailey Cole Bow passed away on October 29th, 2024 at 1:36 a.m. while being in the care of the wonderful staff at Cedar Health & Rehabilitation in Cedar City, Utah. He was born on July 7th, 1998 in Cedar City, Utah to his mother, Edurine Shawnee Kanosh & his father, Luther William Bow Jr. He was raised in St. George, Utah by his aunt Jana Gayle Kanosh-John, who he called "Mother" as well, then moved back to Cedar City for the last part of his childhood and attended Cedar High School, where he met the love of his life & the mother of his children, Sienna Tom.

Bailey was a proud member of the Koosharem Band of Southern-Paiutes and was raised with traditional Native-American values. He frequently attended Pow-Wow's and other cultural events. He was a machine operator at GenPak. Music was a passion of his that would ignite his happiness & allowed him to vibe with friends and make new ones. He loved to hike and explore the outdoors & be one with nature. Most of all he loved to spend time with his family, whether that meant kicking it with his aunties or just being a dad and enjoying moments spent with his kids. He was truly loved by a large number of the community, which was seen in his last couple of days we had shared with him. Though he was naturally a shy person, once he allowed himself to be open with you, he'd show you that he was the most genuine, kind person you'd ever meet. He never liked to smile in pictures much, but when he did, it brought light to the darkest of times. He appeared to be intimidating at first, yet in reality he would show you that he is just a big giant teddy bear who would be your best friend and would never leave you feeling alone.

He is survived by his common-law wife, Sienna Tom (26 years old), & their two beautiful boys, Isaac Hayes Bow, (5 years old.) & Tatum Tom (8 months old.) He leaves behind his siblings, Emilio Kanosh (28 yrs old), Mia Luisa Kanosh-Martinez (19 yrs old.), Felix Ceden Martinez-Kanosh (23 yrs old), & Santana Pheonix Kanosh-John (7 yrs old). Along with both his moms Edurine Shawnee Kanosh (50 yrs old) & Jana Gayle Kanosh-John (45 yrs old), and his dad, Luther William Bow Jr. (unknown)

He is preceded in death by his two younger brothers, Mikel Oscar Kanosh & Isaac Claymont Kanosh-Wright. The world will never again feel the warmth of his presence or be blessed with the purity of his heartwarming laughs. The Creator has plans for him to move onto a better place alongside his baby brothers in the Heavens. He will be forever missed & held dear to our hearts. There is truly no one in this world with as beautiful a soul as you, my little brother. I know he's standing over his friends & family making us all safe. We love him more than anything in this world. His name will forever live on, through his sons...

His Funeral services will be held on Thursday, November 7th, 2024 at 3 p.m.- 5 p.m. over at Southern Utah Mortuary (190 N. 300 W. Cedar City, Utah, 84720). There will be a viewing the same day, at that same location, but from 1 p.m. - 2:30 p.m. There will also be a Traditional Sing held in honor of Bailey's Life at the Cedar Band Building (600 N. 100 E. Cedar City, Utah, 84721). Final arrangements are under the direction of Southern Utah Mortuary. Online condolences can be left, and a live streaming of his service may be viewed at www.mortuary.org.

Kelly Dawn Rollo

This World grew a bit dimmer when Kelly Dawn Rollo, age 61, left us to join her mother and Heavenly Father while surrounded and comforted by her loved ones. That flame left this World after a long brave battle with cancer on October 31, 2024 in Enoch, Utah. She was born on April 4, 1963 in Cedar City, Utah to Drex and Martha (Roberts) Parry.

Kelly grew up with her best friend and big sister Lori (Culbertson) playing out west in the suburb of Monte Vista. Together, they rode horses and cared for various animals in or around the neighborhood while developing a personal relationship with God and His creation.

With the addition of their two little brothers, the girls now had their own real babies to play with and care for. Kelly married young and was blessed with her own four little baby boys. It was at the darkest hour of Kelly's early life that she fell into the arms and heart of Wally who became her new best friend and helped return that glow we all know so well. Together, they welcomed a new baby boy into this world who would grow up to only make both of his parents very proud of the man he would become. Kelly had a huge heart and a passion for helping everyone she had ever loved. This passion gave her the physical and spiritual strength to be at her mother's bedside to care for her when called to do so, regardless of her own struggles at the time. In her later years and starting with her little angel Alexis, her grandchildren were her life. She loved them all with every ounce of her heart and soul, and did her best to let them know as often as possible that they are indeed loved and cared for deeply.

Kelly was preceded in death by her mother Martha (Roberts) Parry. She is survived by her loving husband, Walter Ruel Rollo, and her five sons Jeffery C. Orton, Shawn G. Orton, Michael S. Orton (Michelle), Ivan B. Orton (Kimberly), Ryan K. Rollo (Shelby); and two step-sons, Alex James (Tialyn) Rollo, and Spencer Ruel Rollo. She is also survived by her father, Drex Parry; her sister, Lori (Jim) Culbertson; her brothers, Tom Parry and Cameron (Jamie) Parry; and 16 grandchildren and 1 great-grandchild.

Funeral Services will be held on Friday, November 15, 2024 at Cedar Valley Funeral 2086 North Main Street at 11:00 am with a graveside dedication at the Cedar City Cemetery following soon after.

The family wishes to express their deepest and warmest gratitude and appreciation to the Gibson family of Midvalley Enoch, Utah for welcoming Kelly and the entirety of her family into their loving home and hearts over the past month. This display of kindness and love is a real Testament of the strength, determination, and faith of their wonderful community.

IRON COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT NEWS NUGGETS

from Colby Leavitt

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

South Elementary

South Elementary kindergarten students had the opportunity to visit the Judd's family Pumpkin Patch and Farm this past month. Here they had the opportunity to enhance their study of plants and how change is something that happens to many things. They also had the opportunity to hike up and around Five Mile. Many acorns (as well as smiles) were gathered as these kindergartners looked for signs of fall.

North Elementary

North Elementary second grade students honored their ancestors in celebration of Día de los Muertos. Students researched interesting facts about them and invited other grade levels and district staff to present their reports.

Fifth grade students participated in Reaction Time, which is brought to us by Discovery Gateway. The program is a 50 minute, hands-on lab that covers some of our Utah SEEd standards, and has students see and create chemical reactions. The educators travel down to us from SLC, and we are thrilled to have this experience for our students!

We finished our week with our Title 1 Math Family Night! We had a wonderful turnout with our North families. They came to enjoy dinner, learn about our math program, and enter for a chance to win math prizes. Teachers provided math activities focused on grade level standards, and families were able to engage in take home activities to support their students with math at home.

Fidlers Canyon Elementary

We had such a good Halloween! Parents and others joined us for our Halloween Parade around the outside of the school. We loved seeing all the fun and creative costumes!

Don't miss STEAM Night on Thursday, November 14, starting at 6 pm at our school. There will be demonstrations and activities for the whole family!

The maturation program for 5th graders and their parents will be on Friday, November 22, at 1:45 pm at the school. They will be given age-appropriate health and human development information, and they will bring home a hygiene kit.

Mark your calendars for Thanksgiving Break on November 27-29. We hope you have a great holiday, spending time with the ones you are grateful for. Please make sure to follow the Fiddlers Canyon Elementary PTA Facebook page for more information, updates, and highlights.

Iron Springs Elementary

Iron Springs Elementary Red Ribbon week this year was the same week as Halloween.

The theme this year was Life is a Movie, Film Drug Free. Students started the week wearing their comfy pajamas and an assembly with some of the K-9 officers from the Iron County Sheriff's Office, Jail and Highway Patrol. Tuesday in honor of Mrs.

Clark, a fifth grade teacher who passed away unexpectedly, students and staff wore Broncos Football attire, blue, orange or their favorite football team. We had Wacky Wednesday donned with wacky socks, hair and clothes, Halloween Dress up and Fancy Friday where we were dressed to impress and let our sparkle shine.

On Election Day students and staff were able to learn about the importance of voting and participate in our own election. Mrs. Prisbrey's class made their own Voter Registration Cards and each class came to the cafeteria where there were booths set up with iPads. Students and staff were able to cast their vote for the President of the United States and Utah State Governor. After voting each person was awarded an I Voted Button. The results of the Iron Springs Elementary Election were shared at the end of the school day.

Gateway Academy Celebrates International Children's Day

by Joni O'Hanlon

GATEWAY ACADEMY

On November 1st, Gateway Academy celebrated International Children's Day! Students and staff dressed in costumes representing cultures from around the world, and the halls of the school came alive with a colorful parade. The school band played as families and friends gathered to watch the exciting procession.

After the parade, families joined students for a cultural assembly that showcased a variety of performances. One of the highlights was a performance by the Paiute Tribe of Southern Utah Youth Group, who shared traditional songs and dances. Andelin Mbaki, the current Iron County Cinderella Woman and Utah State Miss Beauty of America, took the stage with her family from South Africa. Their dance performance was a celebration of African culture, and it was heartwarming to see students and staff join in the fun and dance together. The assembly also featured Scott & Mary Ann Sharp, who played traditional Scottish bagpipe music and taught students some classic Scottish dances.

The celebration wrapped up with a food tasting event, where students and parents sampled dishes from around the world.

American Preparatory Academy Honors Cedar City's Veterans in Heartfelt Celebration

from American Preparatory Academy

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

American Preparatory Academy (APA) in Cedar City honored local veterans in a deeply moving Veterans Day assembly on Friday, November 8th, at the school's newly opened location at 782 N Main St. The ceremony was attended by many veterans from Cedar City and surrounding areas, who were welcomed warmly by students, staff, and the community, making it a memorable and emotional tribute.

The assembly featured students performing patriotic songs, reciting poems, and reading essays that shared their perspectives on the importance of service and sacrifice. Each essay, written by APA students, spoke to the veterans' commitment to their country and the lasting impact of their service. The students' words brought a sense of reverence and understanding to the assembly, showcasing the impact that such sacrifices have on their lives and on the nation's continued freedom.

"This is one of our biggest and most highly anticipated events of the year," said Casey Anderson, Chairman of the APA Cedar City governing board.

At APA, we believe it's essential for our students to honor our veterans and understand the sacrifices they made to protect our country and the freedoms enshrined in the Constitution. This assembly is our way of expressing gratitude and ensuring the legacy of their service is passed on to the next generation.

Veterans in attendance represented every branch of the United States military, including the Navy, Army, Air Force, Coast Guard, and Marines. Each veteran was individually announced, recognized, and honored. The applause that followed each name was a testament to the appreciation and respect felt by everyone in the room. The veterans were then presented with tokens of appreciation by the students: special pins reading "Honored Veteran - Legacy of Loyalty and Service. American Preparatory Academy 2024." Alongside the pins, students gave handwritten notes of gratitude, offering personal messages of thanks and respect.

The assembly concluded with students handing out these notes and sharing personal words of appreciation with the veterans, creating touching one-on-one moments. Many veterans were visibly moved, as the students expressed their admiration and thanks, demonstrating an understanding and respect for the sacrifices these men and women made for their country.

One of the central messages of the assembly was the importance of preserving the freedoms that these veterans fought to protect. Through the poems and essays, students reflected on the sacrifices made by service members and the significance of the Constitution. Teachers and administrators believe this message is vital for students to understand.

"We make it a priority for our students to learn about the sacrifices our service members have made," explained Anderson. "It's important for them to understand not only what our veterans have done to protect us but also the reasons behind their service—the desire to keep America and its people safe and to uphold our constitutional rights."

APA Cedar City's Veterans Day assembly provided the students with a tangible connection to the values they study and the freedom they enjoy. By bringing these values to life and allowing students to interact directly with veterans, APA hopes to instill a lasting respect for those who serve and a commitment to understanding and upholding the principles that guide the country.

APA's Veterans Day celebration is more than an assembly; it's an opportunity for students to recognize and appreciate the importance of loyalty, service, and sacrifice. It is one of the academy's many ways of connecting students to the values that shape American society, encouraging them to grow as citizens who honor and uphold the legacy of those who have served.

In closing, Anderson shared, "We are incredibly proud of our students for the way they honored our veterans. Their participation in this assembly reflects the heart of our school community. We are grateful to the veterans who joined us today and to all veterans who have served to protect our country. Their sacrifices make gatherings like this possible, and we are honored to express our thanks in this small way."

The public can watch the recording of the ceremony by scanning the QR code.

Farrow signs with Iowa Western

by Tom Zulewski

IRON COUNTY TODAY

With her high-school girls soccer career in the rear-view mirror, Canyon View senior Hadlee Farrow didn't have much of an interest to continue at the college level. With the help of assistant coach Javier Argueta, Farrow showed up at a camp in Salt Lake over the summer, showed out, and drew plenty of attention for her on-field performance.

The end result came through Nov. 6 when Farrow signed her letter of intent to play soccer for Iowa Western, a junior college located in Council Bluffs. The team known as the Reivers is a three-time national champion (2013, 2022, 2023) and is unbeaten in its last 52 matches (49-0-3).

Farrow was introduced to head coach Adam Sanchez at the Salt Lake camp, and she liked what she saw once she visited the campus.

"It was such a good experience," said Farrow, who scored 15 goals for a CV team that finished 15-4 with a fourth straight Region 12 championship. "It wasn't just the school, but the girls welcomed me with open arms, gave me hugs and asked me how my flight was. The place was OK, but the school was amazing."

The Reivers were ranked No. 2 nationally in the Oct. 28 poll from Division I of the NJCAA. Salt Lake CC was ranked sixth. CV head coach Steve Newman confirmed Farrow is the fifth player from the program to advance to play collegiately and he credited her growth from her junior and senior years for arriving at this point.

"After state and last year's semifinal, her maturity took off," Newman said of Farrow. "She was freaked out when Bethanee (Vargas) was injured and knew she had to step in. She said in her mind 'I'm gonna keep maturing or I'm gonna quit.' She chose to keep maturing.

“She went ahead and played with her comp team, and they really pushed her. She killed it at camp, scored eight goals in a game on Cedar, and her confidence just blossomed.”

Farrow finished her career at Canyon View with 50 goals along with 17 assists and was a second-team Deseret News all-State honoree in her sophomore and junior seasons.

Canyon View's Hadlee Farrow signed her letter of intent to play college soccer for Iowa Western in front of teammates, coaches and friends on Nov. 6.

Iron County has its own hockey team

RANDOM thoughts

Tom Zulewski

IRON COUNTY TODAY

With the arrival of the Utah Hockey Club in the NHL this season, it was only a matter of time before the minor leagues and other paths to playing hockey at the collegiate level would find a way into this corner of our world. As of Sept. 20, the Iron County Yeti has arrived on the scene as one of the newest members of the USPHL – the United States Premier Hockey League. The Yeti are part of the Northwest Division that includes the undefeated Vernal Oilers (14-0) and the Seattle Totems (12-3). Players range in age from 16 to 20 years old, and home ice is located in Enoch at K.J.'s Ice Barn, 2550 E. Pinnacle Way.

Through Nov. 8, the Yeti are 5-9-0, tied for fourth in the Northwest Division of the USPHL. The regular season will feature games on the weekends through February, and the next home game at the Ice Barn happens Friday against the Henderson (NV) Force. The puck drops at 8:30 p.m.

Other teams in the Northwest Division include the Bellingham (WA) Blazers, Rogue Valley (OR) Royals, Colorado Fighting Elk and the Bremerton Sockeyes.

Single-game tickets are $12 for adults, $8 for students 11-19 years old, and kids 10 and under get in free wearing any hockey jersey or $5 without. Group tickets are also available at discounted prices. All Yeti games are also available for viewing on the FloHockey live streaming service. Go to flohockeytv, click on the Junior link and search USPHL. For more information on the team and the full roster of players, go

As has been my personal custom over the many years I've worked in Southern Utah, I was looking forward to the final day of eliminations at the NHRA Ford Performance Nationals at The Strip at Las Vegas Motor Speedway on Nov. 3.

It was a return to standard time – the extra hour of sleep was most welcome – but it played a part in how the race day would unfold. The pro classes – Top Fuel, Funny Car and Pro Stock (car and motorcycle) got as far as the start of the Top Fuel semifinals before a major crash happened in the showdown between Doug Kalitta and Shawn Langdon. Despite the best clean-up efforts from the NHRA safety crews, we ran out of daylight and the track temperature had cooled to a point where the racing couldn't continue.

When the event returned Nov. 4, the finals of the NHRA Ford Performance Nationals produced the following results:

In Top Fuel, Brittany Force (3.703 seconds, 332.59 mph) defeated Kalitta (6.147, 250.29) and broke a 39-race winless drought. Her last win before Monday came at the Las Vegas fall race in 2022.

Force's dad, 16-time Funny Car champion John Force, was on hand for the celebration, his first time at the track since his accident at Richmond in June. Justin Ashley has the points lead heading to Pomona this weekend by 44 over Antron Brown and 45 over Langdon. The Funny Car championship wasn't clinched at Las Vegas, but Austin Prock rolled to a second win for John Force Racing by beating Paul Lee in the final.

Prock has a 188-point lead heading into the season finale, and the margin is as close to insurmountable as you can get.

Pro Stock car has a new points leader after Aaron Stanfield beat Greg Anderson on a holeshot in the final at LVMS.

Stanfield leads Dallas Glenn by 32 points after Glenn lost in a first-round upset to Christian Cuadra.

In Pro Stock Motorcycle, Gaige Herrera set himself up for a solid shot at the gold championship Wally trophy when he cruised to a win over Angie Smith in the final at Las Vegas. Herrera has a 123-point lead over Matt Smith. It was clearly one of the weirder weekends I've had covering motor sports in 27 years, but now you're officially up to date.

Thunderbird football tops North Alabama

by Spencer Rodak

STADIUM SPORTZZ

Hosting the North Alabama Lions on Saturday afternoon, the SUU football team secured a 38-26 victory to move to 5-5.

First half

Southern Utah would take the lead in the first quarter, putting together a touchdown drive that took nearly half the period. Marching 64 yards in 18 plays, Targhee Lambson marched into the endzone with an 18-yard run with 4:01 on the clock.

The Thunderbirds would begin the second quarter with another score, thanks again to Lambson. Capping a 12-play, 72-yard drive, Lambson broke into the end zone from one yard out to make the score 14-0.

Southern Utah's defense kept North Alabama off the scoreboard on the next drive, and the offense would capitalize on its final drive of the half. With just under two minutes in the half, Targhee Lambson found paydirt from two yards away for a 21-0 lead.

The Lions answered quickly with their first touchdown of the game, needing just two plays to cut the deficit to 21-7 heading into the halftime break.

Second half

Both teams traded punts on their first drives of the half, but the T-birds would get the first points of the third quarter on their second drive. With just under eight minutes on the clock, kicker Jayden Rogers nailed a 50-yard field goal to give SUU a three-score advantage (24-7). North Alabama once again responded quickly, needing just two plays to find a touchdown on a 78-yard drive while making the score 24-13.

The offensive show continued on the next drive, as the Thunderbirds found a score through the air. With 5:33 on the clock, quarterback Jackson Berry delivered a 33-yard touchdown strike to Shane Carr to push the home team's lead back to three possessions (31-13).

UNA responded with two more touchdowns in the quarter, cutting the SUU lead down to 31-26.

The T-birds' defense would extend the lead early in the final frame, thanks to a 48-yard interception returned for a touchdown by Kameron Rocha with 10:51 to play to make it 38-26.

North Alabama attempted to come back late, but the SUU defense once again delivered. Raymon Crump ended any chance of late magic from the Lions, picking off a pass at the 4-yard line with just over two minutes remaining to seal the victory.

Targhee Lambson continued his historic season for the Thunderbirds, racking up 166 yards and 3 touchdowns on 31 carries.

Jackson Berry also added a solid game through the air, completing 21-of-31 passes for 230 yards, a touchdown, and no turnovers.

While Southern Utah dominated on the ground, the T-birds' defense held UNA to a mere 35 rushing yards, also forcing the only two turnovers of the game.

With the win, the T-birds improved to 5-5 on the season, including 4-2 in United Athletic Conference action.

Up next

The T-birds (5-5, 4-2 UAC) will battle No. 16/19 Central Arkansas on the road next. SUU and UCA will face off on Saturday, Nov. 16 at 3 p.m. MT. The game can be seen on ESPN+.
