1 I originally sat in the Cedar City, Main Street Park until the day that I fell apart. I have been reconstructed and now I sit where the trails and rails all could have met. What is my name? The original plaque was cut into how many pieces?

2 On these grounds a statue stands tall with hands outstretched; he welcomes all. The words of the Bard he gladly shares: attend the theatre, let go of your cares. On a yellow notepad the plans were drawn, it was indeed the stuff that dreams are made on. Read the words at the statue's feet; discover the answer, write it on your sheet. In the spring of what year was the idea sprung?

3 At the Old Depot is where I can be found. With signs from the past hanging around. It's the railroad that everyone knows, it arrived in Cedar City over 100 years ago. To be specific, look for the Pacific.

4 This stately gentleman, Henry Lunt, keeps constant vigil today out front of this Main Street building. What was the building originally used for?

5 Refurbished like new, standing stately and tall, "Boots" can be read, on the outside north wall. The guests arrived from coast to coast, this was Cedar's earliest Hotel, of which we can boast. What is its name?

6 I can be found out front of the Old Train Depot. Looking tall and stately, I am ready to go. With my button-up shirt, big brimmed hat and suspenders look to be holding up my pants. What is my name? What am I carrying?

7 Find out front, men of carved wood. Not a Pawn from the past, but contractor George. A. Wood. No need to search the sky up high, in concrete and cement it's stamped for all time. What is it?

8 I once stood grand and showed Moving pictures for all to see. I now serve brownies and sweet treats for a fee. A Marker of my history is placed on the brick, it tells the story of many movies and flicks. What was my name?

9 I was once a mighty machine Moving and picking up the Iron Ore clean. I am at the Frontier Homestead Museum to learn about my past, then climb up inside and have a blast.

10 Traveling along Industrial Road, you could have seen where tracks were above and water below. What's special 'bout me.....I was constructed in 1923.

11 Starting in 1898, this OLD building is the MAIN place you would go if you wanted an advanced education. How many citizens of Cedar City participated in the "success of this enterprise?"

12 She was built for the railroad with rooms and porches so grand. With the passing of time she no longer stands. A marker was placed near Freedom and Main to tell the whole world what no longer remains. What was her name?

13 Over the Rainbow and down Main Street. I used to be a Bus Garage where all the drivers would meet. Now inside the building are creative minds. Look to them for all your decor and design. What were the drivers called?

14 Stop in for an old fashioned soda or other sweet treats all in a building once used by sheep. Which song would you hear if you selected Disc 59 Song 07? Be sure to read the plaque on the outside by the front door?

15 Where history stands and the stories brew, one of Cedar City's oldest buildings waits for you. This building has been home to Palace Drug and Hugh's Cafe. What year was it built?
